NEW VIOLENCE IN MINNEAPOLIS STRIKE FEARED

Stop Trucks, Union's Latest Edict.

BY PERCY WOOD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Minneapolis, Minn., July 31.—[Special.]—New signs of impending violence in the truck drivers' walkout became apparent tonight. As employers remained silent on the new peace proposal made by the federal conciliators, officials of the rioting drivers' union declared that in spite of the militia and martial law they would picket trucks tomorrow.

About 7,000 trucks—perhaps half the normal flow—have been trundling through the streets the last few days under guard by the militia. They were supposed to move without molestation because of the presence of military motor patrols.

Actually, there have been several occurrences of pickets stopping trucks, beating drivers, and otherwise slowing traffic, but these have taken place in isolated sections not often visited by the patrols.

Bloodshed Sure to Follow.

If the union summons its 4,000 members on walkout and directs them to stop trucks, even in the face of the guard, more bloodshed is inevitable.

In open defiance of the military orders against assembly, some 6,000 strikers and sympathizers gathered tonight in an open air mass meeting. They had no permit.

Adj. Gen. Walsh said he knew of the meeting, but had sent no soldiers to disperse it. "I would not be so foolish as to do a thing like that," he said.

Col. Elmer McDevitt, provost marshal of the troops now on strike duty here, completed a mobilization of additional forces late tonight. About 2,500 guardsmen are within the county limits. At Camp Ripley, 100 miles away, another 1,100 were held in readiness for a quick trip to Minneapolis. Several St. Paul companies also were placed under arms.

Gen. Walsh said, however, he would investigate the violation.

Strikers Defy Gov. Olson.

Today the union openly defied Gov. Olson. The workers charged that whereas he was addressing harsh words to the employers, he was directing harsher action at them by permitting trucks to operate in the face of their strike edict. All pickets were ordered to report at strike headquarters at 4 a. m. tomorrow. William Brown, president, declared that trucking would be stopped.

In the background of this picture—although perhaps not near enough to prevent any violence which might occur early tomorrow—is the figure of Secretary of Labor Perkins. She has been in communication today with Father Francis J. Haas and E. H. Dunnigan, federal conciliators, and Washington reported that a new plan was evolved to settle the controversy.

Two Already Scorned.

Two plans have already been turned down by the employers. A third was tendered them last night, but they did not answer with a definite expression of their attitude. They did say, however, that they still regarded the union as led by communists, with whom they refuse to deal.

The mediators would not reveal details of the latest proposal. They remained equally uncommunicative on their next moves.

Unless they make another compromise offer, the most likely action by the mediators would be the ordering of a settlement, an action within their powers. They could demand that employers hold an election of employes in 166 firms represented in the walkout, the result of which would decide whether the union was to represent their workers.

Cold to Olson Advance.

Gov. Olson made a peace proposal today which was met with singular apathy by each side. His declaration of martial law drew similar disfavor, the employers regarding it as an attempt to force a settlement and the strikers as a muzzle on their picketing.

The governor suggested that both sides retire from the field for the moment, the strikers be rehired, normal truck movements restored and, the guardsmen, presumably, then would be withdrawn. In that fashion Minneapolis would be taken from the national spotlight and mediation could continue without the light of full publicity following each move.

Olson's proposal came a few hours after the fourth death of the disorders. A National Guard squad car, rushing to stop a reported dumping of a farm-

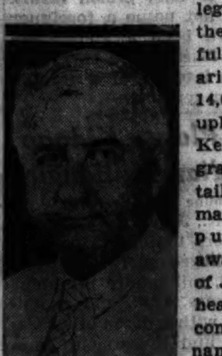
COURT ASSURES 25 MILLION PAY FOR TEACHERS

Mayor Kelly's Loan Plan Upheld.

The Illinois Supreme court in a ruling yesterday removed the last legal obstacle to the payment in full of back salaries to Chicago's 14,000 teachers by upholding Mayor Kelly's school program in every detail. Today the mayor and other public officials await the arrival of Jesse H. Jones, head of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, for final negotiations on an advance of $25,447,240 in federal funds to the Chicago schools.



JESSE H. JONES.

The Supreme court in a vacation decision held that the school bonds, which it is intended to offer the RFC, are legal and that the board of education has the right to sell the bonds to the federal government with a pledge of $30,000,000 worth of property unused for school purposes as additional security. The court's opinion was written by Chief Justice Norman L. Jones and was also signed by Justices Clyde E. Stone, Warren H. Orr, Lott R. Herrick, and Elwyn R. Shaw.

Mayor Happy Over Ruling.

News of the ruling had just reached Mayor Kelly when reporters assembled for the morning press conference in his office.

"This means the end of four years of payless pay days for Chicago teachers," said Mayor Kelly, smiling broadly.

The mayor expressed his gratitude to the Supreme court for a speedy ruling on the legality of the school bonds and also his appreciation of the efforts of every one who has helped to carry out his plan since its inception more than six months ago. The program was carried through without "shouting or ballyhoo," he declared.

The $25,447,240 of RFC money will pay the teachers and other school employés their back salaries for the seven months from Nov. 1, 1933, to June 1, 1934. The school board now has on hand money from the state distributive fund which will enable it to meet salary obligations from June 1 until the opening of the schools in the fall. From that point on, said James B. McCahey, president of the school board, all pay rolls can be met as they fall due from current revenues.

Jones Cruising on Superior.

Other developments of the day in the program to pay the teachers were these:

1. Word reached Chicago that Chairman Jones of the RFC is cruising on Lake Superior and plans to come to Chicago as soon as government appraisers are ready with the school board's loan application in final form.

2. F. D. Gallagher, Chicago manager of the RFC, announced that his appraisers would wind up their survey of school property this week for presentation to Jones.

3. Mr. McCahey disclosed that 252,000 checks for teachers and other school employés have already been prepared and signed, ready for release when the government cash arrives.

Hope for Early Payment.

There were some predictions that the money would be paid within a week or ten days, but school officials were unwilling to speculate on this.

"We are going full speed ahead in urging the federal authorities to make funds available at the earliest opportunity," said Mr. McCahey, "and the spirit of coöperation shown by them would indicate that the back salaries will be paid at an early date."

The ruling of the Supreme court was handed down in connection with a petition for a writ of mandamus brought by the school board to compel City Controler Upham to sign the bonds. This the court ordered Upham to do.

Ruling of Supreme Court.

"If it can be granted," said the opinion, "that school lands may be sold and the proceeds used for school purposes, no good reason can be given for denying the power to mortgage lands to obtain money to use for the same purpose.

"The board, under legislative sanction, may authorize the sale, lease, or incumbrance of any school lands not used or necessary for school buildings or playground purposes."

The court also held that the city of Chicago and the board of education are separate corporations and

PRINCETON MEN BOW TODAY AT 'ST. PETER'S' BIER

Princeton, N. J., July 31.—(AP)—They will be burying "St. Peter" tomorrow and thousands of Princeton men throughout the world will be mourning him.

Vital statistics may list his name as Charles Kirkpatrick, and give his age as 72, but he's "St. Peter" to every Princeton man since 1902.

Thirty odd years ago Kirkpatrick was appointed janitor of the university chapel. In those days chapel attendance was compulsory and Kirkpatrick was entrusted with the duty of locking the chapel door on late comers as soon as the bell stopped tolling.

So they called him "St. Peter," and forgot he had another name. Tall, thin, impressive in his dignity, "St. Peter" delivered his pronouncements with a touch of an Irish brogue. Students knew better than to argue with the white haired, white mustached keeper-of-the-gate.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 31.—[Special.]—There is one big, bad stickup man in the nation's capital who is $600 richer tonight because he was not impressed with the dignity of the house of representatives.

The $600 which nestles in his jeans tonight he took at the point of a pistol from the postoffice substation in the house of representatives office building.

Late today as the huge white marble office building drowsed through a summer afternoon, Donald Stucky, postal clerk in charge of the substation, felt the hard muzzle of a revolver jam into his ribs.

Takes Federal Cash.

In a voice heavy with a foreign accent the robber of the station ordered Stucky to turn over to him the coins which were in the cash drawer and which until recently had been safe in the august pockets of congressmen or congressional attachés.

Stucky told police that about $600 was in the cash drawer and that all of it traveled by a short, swift route into the pockets of the stickup man. Coins which a few minutes before had slid reluctantly through the portly fingers of solons tumbled pell-mell into the hands of the robber.

Clerk Reaches for Ceiling.

While the congressmen who are not out stumping the country wandered about the halls or gossiped in their offices, oblivious to the drama going on in their own building, the bandit kept Stucky reaching for the ceiling and calmly surveyed the stamp emporium created for the congressmen. Not a congressmen rose to the occasion by feeling the urge to buy a 3 cent wafer at the critical moment. The bandit completed his survey undisturbed by the booming of any congressional voice.

"He asked me if there was any money in the safe," Stucky told the police. "I said, 'None.' He then ordered me to get behind a screen and stay there five minutes.

"I made for the phone, however, as soon as I heard the door slam, but the wires apparently had been cut."

Cuts Telephone Wires.

So drowsy had the solons and their attendants been on the sunny summer afternoon that the robber had had time to walk into their workshop and cut the lines of both telephone extensions into the substation before entering and poking his revolver into Stucky's ribs. But Stucky's glib tongue had kept the robber from getting $1,000 that was in the safe.

BULLET UPSETS DEMONSTRATION OF STEEL VEST

A demonstration of a bulletproof vest such as is supposed to have been worn by the desperado, John Dillinger, was staged at a luncheon meeting of the Rotary club of Chicago in the Hotel Sherman yesterday. The demonstration was made by William H. Crow, midwest manager of the William J. Burns International Detective agency.

Mr. Crow drew the black vest over his head, explaining that it contained overlapping steel ribs. He stood at one end of the speakers' platform. From the other end Julius Frankenburg aimed a .38 caliber pistol at Crow's body.

"Crack!" went the pistol. Mr. Crow staggered backward and struggled to get out of the vest.

"Something has happened," he gasped. "It's the second time in my knowledge that the bullet has penetrated the steel."

A minute later, after examining the vest, he explained that the bullet had lodged between two of the steel ribs before slipping down into the lining. The bullet raised a red welt on Crow's body, but the injury was not serious.

This was Crow's sixth demonstration with the bulletproof vest, and, he said, his last one.

FIVE BALLOONS OFF IN NATIONAL RACE; ARMY 1ST

Birmingham, Ala., July 31.—(AP)—Rising slowly into the darkness, five balloons inflated to capacity floated away on a northeasterly wind tonight in the national balloon races.

The Stars and Stripes, fluttering from its silver sides, U. S. Army No. 1, under the command of Capt. William F. Flood, with Lieut. R. R. Gillespie as aid, was first away.

The ship was released at 9:55 p. m., central standard time. The big bag climbed slowly as ballast was cast off and, once above the stadium walls, drifted off into the night in quest of the Litchfield trophy and a place on the United States team in the international races for the Gordon Bennett trophy at Warsaw, Poland, on Sept. 23.

The Thirty of Buffalo was released second, when delay was experienced by the Goodyear Eight. The balloon rose quickly. It was released at 10:06.

Piloted by Lieut. Karl L. Lange, with Verney L. Smith as aid, the Goodyear entry was cast adrift by the ground crew at 10:17 p. m.

Assassins Hail Hitler as They Die on Gallows

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIENNA, July 31.—Austria's melodrama of horror continued today.

Into the narrow courtyard of the Gray House Hangman Johann Lang dragged his gallows and strung his noose this afternoon and at 4:35 p. m. military justice had exacted the supreme penalty from Otto Planetta and Franz Holzweber for the slaying last Wednesday of Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss.

The military court had found Planetta guilty of high treason and the murder of Dollfuss, and Holzweber of high treason at 1:35 p. m. Exactly three hours later Holzweber swung limply from the gallows and 15 minutes after him Planetta also was dead.

Cry "Heil Hitler" on Gallows.

It cannot be confirmed, for few were present, but Vienna tonight whispered that both men cried "Heil Hitler" from the gallows.

Thus was vengeance taken for last Wednesday's putsch, which removed from life and from power the head of the Austrian government, started several days' civil war in which hundreds lost their lives, and filled Austria's already teeming jails and concentration camps with more prisoners.

There will be no need to take down the gallows from the Gray House courtyard, for at 9 a. m. tomorrow the same military court will begin the trial of another of the putsch leaders, a wood dealer named Hudl. He, too, may be turned over to Hangman Lang tomorrow evening.

Only a few hours after the hangings the government broadcast a charge that it had come into possession of documents proving that the putsch had been hatched on German soil.

Witness Blasts Defense Story.

The court made short work of today's trial. Police Inspector Steinberger exploded Planetta's plea that it was dark in the room when he shot Dollfuss and that the gun went off by accident. Steinberger testified that the room was as light as day when Planetta shot.

Then Dr. Szekely testified that even if Dollfuss had obtained medical attention and an operation had been performed, his life could not have been prolonged for many days.

Planetta and Holzweber began to wear hunted looks and from time to time made nervous gestures, but still held themselves with control. They appeared to realize, however, that their doom was certain.

Base Defense on Two Facts.

The pleas of the three defense lawyers in behalf of their clients were a forlorn hope. They sought to convince the court of two things:

First, that since the rebels had received a promise of safe conduct to the frontier from government ministers, the legal proceedings against them should be quashed.

Second, that Planetta and Holzweber and their gang were acting in the dark, merely taking orders from a man named Kunze and other higher ups and, since they were merely tools, mild sentences, if any, should be given them.

This line of defense was demolished by the state prosecutor, Dr. Tupy, who maintained that the promises of safe conduct obtained from Maj. Emil Fey, minister without portfolio, and Karl Karwinsky, then undersecretary of security, were under duress and as such had no binding or judical value.

The court retired, decided this point and returned with the ruling

AGED PRESIDENT GROWS WEAKER; MIND IS CLEAR

BULLETIN.

BULLETIN.

NEUDECK, Germany, Aug. 1 (Wednesday).—(AP)—President Paul von Hindenburg grew weaker during the night, said the first bulletin issued today by his physicians.

The bulletin, issued at 8:30 a. m., said: "The president had a quiet night. There is no fever but his weakness increased. The president is fully conscious."

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

BERLIN, July 31.—President Paul von Hindenburg, the last great conservative force in Germany, is under greatly extended medical care at his Neudeck estate and the public has been told that it may "fear the worst."

The 86 year old field marshal has been ill before with prostate and bladder trouble and the advancing infirmities of age, but now for the first time four physicians are in attendance and frequent bulletins are being issued. It is emphasized that the president is fully aware of happenings.

It is expected that the crisis will come at dawn tomorrow.

Eats "Outside His Bed."

The first bulletin from Neudeck said:

"In view of the advanced age of the field marshal general, serious apprehension is well founded. Physicians in charge are all present in Neudeck. A continuous bulletin service will be maintained."

The next said the president had breakfast "outside his bed."

A later one added that "he showed a complete understanding of what was going on about him. After returning to bed he fell into a quiet sleep. His pulse was strong, although numerically higher."

The 5:15 p. m. bulletin said: "There is no change in the president's condition—at least, no deterioration. He took a little nourishment at noon. No fever. Pulse satisfactory."

"Resting Satisfactorily."

At 9 o'clock tonight Von Hindenburg was "resting satisfactorily," according to the Berlin propaganda office. It was said his condition had improved so much that no more bulletins would be issued in the course of the night.

A representative of THE TRIBUNE who succeeded in reaching one of Hindenburg's doctors was told that the president had suffered only a slight weakening of the heart, probably owing to his recent emotions on learning that relatives of his personal friends were among the victims in Chancellor Hitler's suppression of the Roehm revolt on June 30. The doctor said Von Hindenburg's illness was not uremia, which the physicians had feared.

Reports from Freystadt, East Prussia, said the president suffered a heart attack as a result of a visit paid to him by Dr. Lammers, secretary of state to Chancellor Hitler's office. These reports said Dr. Lammers tried to get Von Hindenburg to sign a document which the president resented and which led to the heart attack.

Nation Fearful of Future.

Meanwhile the nation is fearful of the future should death take the 86 year old president.

"Von Hindenburg's life is too great for anybody in this hour of anxiety to attempt to do justice to his importance in the life of his nation," says the National Zeitung. It is one voice in the chorus of praises to the president.

"Twenty years ago Von Hindenburg appeared in Germany as the right man at the right hour," the article says, referring to the time when he defeated the Russian invaders at Tannenberg in his ancestral East Prussia.

"He has become a symbol of fidelity, endurance and unshakable fulfilment of duty. He withdrew at the end of the great war when faith and loyalty seemed to disappear, but he remained with us and because he was with us, fidelity and faith could not die."

The formerly royalist Deutsche Zeitung, now the organ of Chancellor Hitler's minister of agriculture, Dr. Walter Darre, was prohibited because it ignored the orders of the propaganda ministry, which had forbidden discussion of the possible successor of Von Hindenburg.

The Deutsche Zeitung touched the question only lightly, saying:

"The fate of the German nation and every decision is in a single hand, that of der führer [Chancellor Hitler]."

The paper was prohibited as being tactless.

In forbidding speculation on Von Hindenburg's successor the propaganda ministry said "all that has been taken care of." It refused to amplify this cryptic statement. Many took it to mean that Hitler had decided to succeed to sole leadership of the nation, whatever be his title.

The propaganda ministry said that in case of Von Hindenburg's death amendments to the constitution and the law passed at the time of the late President Friedrich Ebert's death call for the president of the Supreme court [Dr. Edwin Bumke] to act as president and prepare for a presidential election within 60 days.

There is little doubt in the minds of the bulk of Germans, however, that Hitler will be Germany's new president, although he repeatedly has told friends that he did not wish this post but preferred to remain chancellor.

Regency Is Discussed.

The question of a regency by a man of Hitler's choice has been frequently discussed. But the best informed circles see Hitler as Hindenburg's logical successor.

These circles fail to agree on who will be chancellor, opinion being divided between Gen. Hermann Wilhelm Goering, premier of Prussia, and Hitler's strong arm man, and Hitler's deputy leader of the Nazi party, Rudolf Hess.

In the days of the republic Hindenburg treasured a much talked of "political will" which was to be read to the German people after his death. His relatives whispered that in this will he reiterated his personal loyalty to the Hohenzollern dynasty and his personal conviction that Germany would be happier under the Hohenzollerns and recommended the appointment of a Hohenzollern as regent. This regent was to be picked with the approval of the former kaiser.

Since then the former kaiser has announced that he would allow no other Hohenzollern to accept a regency and that if anybody were to return, he would. This attitude cooled off Von Hindenburg's ardor, because he realized that only a small section of the royalists was behind the former kaiser, whereas a regent from the house of Hohenzollern would have many followers. Thereupon he was supposed to have abandoned his "political will."

Hitler and Aids Meet.

While the country was trembling over the health of Von Hindenburg, Chancellor Hitler and his aids sat in conclave in the Wilhelmstrasse to prepare Germany for all eventualities.

Tomorrow close to 2,000,000 Storm Troopers will return to duty after a month's vacation. Many of their chiefs have been executed, dismissed, or compromised since their vacation began.

Also, should the president die, the voice of the reichswehr [regular army] chiefs must be heard about their wishes for his successor. The president of Germany is automatically the chief of the army, and the reichswehr wants to be heard in the problem.

Guard Hindenburg Home.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

FREYSTADT, East Prussia, July 31.—Guards were reinforced today around Neudeck, a short distance from here, and big groups of secret police arrived in the vicinity to prepare for the possible arrival from Berlin of Chancellor Hitler. "Der fuehrer" was expected by the whole countryside to fly to Neudeck in veiw of President von Hindenburg's serious illness.

The burghers of Freystadt were strolling in their spick and span little city tonight looking over foreigners who arrived to watch the progress of their famous neighbor. The natives were glowing with local pride because the president had said that if he must have doctors, he wanted his old Freystadt friend, Dr. Reitz. Dr. Reitz was away on vacation, but was immediately called back to do duty by the president's side in addition to the specialists already there.

Freystadters do not think so highly of the big doctors who come from Berlin. Dr. Ferdinand Sauerbruch had prepared to leave Neudeck last night when at the last minute he noticed the president's heart was weakening. The doctors present were said to have given up hope for von Hindenburg's life at 9 o'clock this morning, only to be amazed by his recovery this afternoon.

The natives are confident the president will recover.

"He is as strong as an old German oak and will emerge from the crisis," they boast. "He is of our own stock and we know how strong our old men are."

France Is Alarmed.

PARIS, July 31.—(AP)—The illness of President von Hindenburg today alarmed the French government. Spokesmen said his death would create "a very difficult situation."

Britain Also Anxious.

LONDON, July 31.—(AP)—Official Britain speculated today with unconcealed anxiety on the possible outcome of the illness of President von Hindenburg of Germany.

"He is to Germany what King George is to England, and King Victor Emmanuel is to Italy," was the comment of a high authoritative source, who said Von Hindenburg's death would be a severe blow to Germany and to the whole world.

Rome Fears Death.

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

ROME, July 31.—Reports were printed in all the newspapers today on the grave condition of President von Hindenburg's health. It is held that his death at the present time would be a severe blow not only for Germany but for the rest of Europe.

Riot Against Turks

ROME, July 31.—(AP)—Newspaper reports from the Island of Rhodes said today students demonstrated in front of the Turkish consulate there Tuesday in protest against the shooting by Turkish customs guards on the Anatolian coast July 21 of two Italian fishermen. The demonstrators first paraded the streets. Police disbanded them in front of the consulate. Italian authorities recently ordered an investigation of the shooting.

that the promise of safe conduct was irrelevant to the hearing.

After another recess the state prosecutor began a withering arraignment of the two prisoners, for whom he maintained no extenuating circumstances could be adduced. He ridiculed the defense lawyers' plea and declared that Planetta deliberately sought out Dollfuss and killed him in the hope that in case the government was overthrown, he would become a hero for his act.

"They cannot expect us to believe their naïve tale," the prosecutor said. "Both these men are of our blood and our race. That makes it worse. What sorrow have they brought on their country! In our provinces civil war flared up as a result of their action and many are dead. These sorrowful events will long remain engraved on our memory.

Deliberate 20 Minutes.

"Into what a situation did these two criminals plunge our poor country. But one more spark would have sufficed to bring in foreign soldiers and we would have had foreign occupation of our country. These terrible things the men before us would have caused."

The hearing was completed shortly after midday. The members of the court went out for 20 minutes. At the end of this short interval they returned. Gen. Oberweger and the two other officers put on their hats and Oberweger read the death sentences.

Planetta and Holzweber blanched and gripped their hands, but held themselves with composure until they were marched to the death cell to write their last letters and be offered religious comfort if they should want it. Holzweber was a Protestant and Planetta a Catholic.

Waiting outside in the hallway and hoping the sentence would be life imprisonment was Planetta's wife, who late last night had sought to make an appeal to Frau Dollfuss to intervene in behalf of Planetta. When she heard the verdict Frau Planetta swooned.

Planetta Asks Forgiveness.

After the sentence had been passed the court asked the condemned men if they had anything to say. Planetta got up and said:

"I do not know how many hours I am going to live, but I want to say I am no cowardly murderer. I really did not intend to kill. As a human being I am sorry for what I did and I ask the wife of the chancellor to forgive me for killing her husband."

Then Holzweber stood at attention and said he had been promised by the uncaught managers of the coup that there would be no bloodshed. He said he had been told that Dr. Anton Rintelen, then minister to Rome, would be present in the chancellery when the raid was made and transference of the government would be easy.

Took Over Responsibility.

"I did not find Rintelen," Holzweber continued, "and then I went to Maj. Fey and said to him, 'Here I am and I do not know what to do.' I took over voluntarily responsibility for the men because no one else would do it."

Then the judges walked out of the tiny court and the two men were led away.

At the close of the drama, just before the curtain fell on the scene of the death pronouncement, Judge Guntram Wenger, a member of the Vienna bar, who was in the corridor as a spectator awaiting the verdict, made remarks which were overheard and judged treasonable in character. He was arrested and thrown into prison.

Col. Walter Adam, minister of propaganda, in a broadcast tonight revealed how the Austrian government had captured a Nazi courier traveling from Passau, Germany, to Vienna carrying orders to Austrian Nazis with details for carrying out last week's putsch.

Crossed Border at Night.

The courier crossed the border at night, Adam said. He had papers identifying himself as one Hehrl, secretary of a hotel in Munich. The documents contained advice to Nazi leaders in Austria that the Dollfuss government shortly would come to an end. The code word for the beginning of the uprising was to have been "sommer fest."

Upon this signal the rebels were to throw out the Vienna government and the Nazi Storm Troop leaders in the nine provinces were immediately to become governors there.

Gen. Winterthur was ordered by the council of ministers today to make an inquiry into the uprising and publish his findings.

Severe sentences and the government's threats of even more drastic action have not stopped bomb throwings. In the 5th, 6th and 8th districts of Vienna several boxes of explosives were found. Bombs and explosives also were found at Alkoven, in Styria. Several persons were wounded by the explosion of a bomb in the Tyrol.

It was reported today that recommendations have been made to the minister of justice to release Burgomaster Karl Seitz, Dr. Robert Danneberg, and Gen. Koerner, three obdurate Socialist leaders still in jail.

BRITISH SCIENTIST CALLS NAZI'S ARYAN DOCTRINE A DELUSION

LONDON, July 31. — Germany's "Aryan fallacy" was ridiculed today by Sir Grafton Elliott Smith, one of the foremost British anthropologists, in an address to the congress of anthropological and ethnological sciences.

Before an audience which included many German scientists, Sir Grafton described the racial doctrine of the Nazis as a delusion that "comes into flagrant conflict with the generally recognized teachings of anthropological science."

Most of his hearers applauded, but the Germans sat in stony silence, either because they disapproved or because they did not understand what was being said.

SERBIA CHARGES ITALY STIRRED UP AUSTRIAN 'MESS'

Says Mussolini Risks War by His Actions.

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, July 31.—(AP)—Annoyance over the Italian threat of armed intervention in Austria grew here today until it could be seen even in the carefully muzzled official press.

The newspaper Novosti, one of the official papers, said Premier Mussolini's concentration of troops on the Austrian border was designed especially to increase the prestige of the government at home. In doing so, the paper said, the Italian leader risked plunging Europe into war.

The opinion was expressed in official quarters that Italy was largely responsible for the mess in Austria which it now is so anxious to clean up. Had it not been for Italian encouragement and advice, say those of this viewpoint, Austrian Fascism never would have crushed the Socialist movement so brutally.

Then, these persons argue, Nazism would have had to fight a majority of the Austrian population. In other words, the steps taken to crush the Socialists last February made the Nazi revolt in July possible.

Italy Welcomes "Help."

ROME, July 31.—(AP)—A government spokesman today said that it has not been Italy's idea to play a lone hand in the Austrian situation.

This was in answer to a statement from Belgrade indicating that the Jugo-Slavian government opposes intervention by a single country.

Italy's only interest is in maintaining the independence of Austria, and if other nations help it, such action would be welcome, the spokesman said.

He also denied a report that Premier Mussolini had told Chancellor Hitler by telephone that Nazi activity in Austria must cease.

The Austrian situation is regarded with complete calm, the spokesman said, but there is constant watchfulness.

Vatican Denies Meddling.

VATICAN CITY, July 31.—(AP)—Prelates of the Holy See denied today that Austrian bishops had expressed interest in Vienna concerning the appointment of Franz von Papen as Germany's special envoy to Austria.

The prelates said the bishops who gathered under Cardinal Innitzer for the Dollfuss funeral undoubtedly had examined the situation and visited the chancellery, but that they had not meddled in questions purely political.

Widow Tells Children.

RICCIONE, Italy, July 31.—(AP)—Frau Dollfuss, widow of Chancellor Dollfuss of Austria, today performed the duty of telling her children, Rudolf, 9, and Eva, 10, something about the assassination of their father at Vienna.

The widow returned to the villa of Premier Mussolini of Italy, where the premier's wife, Donna Rachele, had cared for the Dollfuss children during the absence of their mother.

NAZI PRESS FEATURES 'MANLY STAND' OF TWO EXECUTED IN AUSTRIA

BERLIN, July 31.—The trial of Chancellor Dollfuss' murderers is featured in the German press under banner headlines that overshadow even the news of President Von Hindenburg's illness.

As far as the press takes sides at all, its sympathies seem to be for the executed rebels. Nachtausgabe, for instance, puts emphasis on the "manly stand" of both Planetta and Holzweber.

However, the papers lay stress on the alleged contradiction between the official Austrian report and the actual evidence submitted in court regarding Dollfuss' last words.

The official Austrian report, it is stated, cited Maj. Fey as testifying Chancellor Dollfuss' last words were, "Let there be peace and no further bloodshed."

Russia Condemns 5 to Die for Burning of Factory

MOSCOW, July 31.—(AP)—Five Russian technicians were sentenced to death by shooting at Sverdlóv yesterday for burning the forging plant of a machine building factory. Six others were sentenced to long prison terms. The verdict did not name a foreigner alledged to have been a go-between who bribed the Russians to carry out the plot in the interest of a foreign machine building syndicate.

REVEALS PLAN OF HEIMWEHR TO OUST DOLLFUSS

[Copyright: 1934: By the Associated Press.]

VIENNA, July 31.—Franz Winkler, former vice chancellor under the late Engelbert Dollfuss, revealed to an interviewer tonight that a radical plan to overthrow Dollfuss' dictatorship had already been worked out by the Fascist heimwehr when the Nazi putsch Wednesday upset all reckonings.

Winkler at present is remaining outside Austria "somewhere in Czechoslovakia," keeping his exact whereabouts secret pending further developments. He was mentioned on the Nazi putsch cabinet list as possible minister of agriculture under Dr. Anton Rintelen, who was to have been chancellor.

"I knew of course that plans were being made by Nazis in various sections of the country to overthrow the government, but any one who had his eyes open could see that," he said.

"However, I also knew that a much more radical plan to overthrow the Dollfuss dictatorship had been worked out by the heimwehr [Austrian Fascist home guard]. I knew very well that heimwehr leaders had submitted plans to Nazi leaders to this effect. As a matter of fact they had many secret meetings together."

Asks Severance in Mail Fraud Case.

Samuel Insull Sr., yesterday petitioned the federal court for a separate trial on the mail fraud indictment which has been standing against him and fifteen others since February, 1933. The indictment charges use of the mails to defraud in connection with the sale of stock in the Corporation Securities company, an Insull investment concern now defunct.

In his petition for the severance of his case from that of the other defendants Insull expressed readiness to reveal all the facts pertaining to his business operations "as soon as I am given the opportunity to testify at my trial."

Chief among the reasons cited by Insull for a separate trial were his physical inability to stand the strain of a long hearing and the fear that his identification with the other fifteen defendants will complicate and prejudice his position.

Physician Files Affidavit.

The 19 page petition was filed by Attorney Floyd E. Thompson. It was accompanied by an affidavit from Dr. Arthur R. Elliott stating that Insull's endurance is "very limited," and that his heart ailment might cause death with little warning.

United States Attorney Dwight H. Green said he had not yet received a copy of the petition, but declared he would oppose Insull's move for a separate trial. The trial of all the defendants is scheduled for Sept. 18.

Insull pointed out in the petition that only eight of his co-defendants were closely allied with him in business. They are Samuel Insull Jr., Edward J. Doyle, Philip J. McEnroe, John F. O'Keefe, Fred H. Scheel, Robert W. Waite, Frank R. Evers, and George A. Kemp.

The remaining seven defendants were only incidentally identified with Insull, the petition said. These are Stanley Field, Harold L. Stuart, Charles B. Stuart, Clarence T. MacNeile, Waldo F. Tobey, Clarence R. Whitworth, and Frank K. Shrader.

Seeks to Avert Confusion.

"I accept full responsibility for my acts and doings and for the acts and doings of my associates, who acted upon my advice," the petition went on, "but I ask that the acts and doings in connection with the business of Corporation Securities company of Chicago and of other corporations with which I was connected be presented to this honorable court and a jury and judged free of the confusion of issues which are certain to arise if I am tried with other men whose relations to me were exceedingly diverse."

Insull also expressed the fear that if he is tried with the others evidence admissible against some of the defendants might be produced which, in a separate trial, would not be admissible against Insull. The confusion created in jurors' minds by a large mass of evidence might prejudice Insull's case, the petition said.

Another point made in the petition is that in selection of a jury the defense is allowed only ten peremptory challenges, whether there be one defendent or sixteen. If tried alone Insull would have the whole benefit of the ten challenges, it was pointed out.

Expresses His Confidence.

"If given the opportunity to present my defense alone," Insull said in his petition, "I am confident of my ability to meet and disprove all charges of wrongdoing now against me."

Estimating that five and perhaps six months might be required to present the case if all defendants are tried together, Insull said: "I am anxious to prove my innocence, but I am not physically able to stand the strain of six months of constant attendance to a matter of this importance."

The petition also pointed out that the positions of the other defendants might be in jeopardy by the "unfavorable atmosphere" created by "misinterpretation" of Insull's departure from the United States in June, 1932, and his contesting of the efforts to extradite him from Greece.

RESUME POLICE SHOWUPS; CROWD HAS A GOOD TIME

The tri-weekly showups at the detective bureau have once more become a feature of Chicago's night life. Chief of Detectives William H. Schoemaker ordered spectators banned a year and a half ago, when the showups became burlesque with wise-cracking burglars and heavy-witted policemen exchanging quips.

Chief Schoemaker ordered that the prisoners be led across the illuminated stage silently, and turned from side to side so that the police audience and victims could see them from all angles. Last night, however, he reverted to the old system of questioning the suspects.

"The young policemen will be able to learn more about these suspects if they hear them talk and learn their names and a few other facts about them," the detective chief said. Although a crowd of 200, several of them women, were on hand, the chief said he would insist that only victims of crimes be admitted to the showups. Last night's audience laughed at pleasanteries exchanged by Lieut. Charles Grattan, the interrogator, and the prisoners.

2,400 SALOONS DELINQUENT ON LICENSE FEES

A drive to collect license fees from saloon owners was launched by Police Commissioner Allman yesterday at the request of Mayor Kelly. The mayor received a report from Edward J. Kaindl, city collector, that 2,400 saloons have failed to file applications for licenses.

"These license fees must be paid or the taverns will be closed," asserted the mayor.

During the first six months of the year when the license fee was $250 there were 7,852 saloons in operation, but since July 1 when the fee was raised to $300 for the last six months of the year, only 5,368 applications have been filed.

JAPAN'S PREMIER URGES POWERS TO SLASH NAVIES

Voices His Discontent with Ratio System.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, July 31.—Voicing the most earnest plea for naval reduction uttered by any Japanese statesman in a long while, and declaring that Japan does not expect naval parity through curtailment of the American and British fleets to Japan's level, Keisuke Okada, new Japanese premier, in his first interview with foreign correspondents today assured the world that Japan favors slashing naval armaments to the smallest possible extent.

Expressing a strong conviction that the 1935 naval conference will succeed, he said:

"I refuse to think, I cannot think, that it will fail. In order to reduce the burdens borne by all peoples, naval armaments must be reduced."

May Demand End of Ratios.

After pledging that Japan will strive for success of the conference he hinted that the Tokio government may demand giving up the ratio system, explaining that he is convinced a better method can be found.

In one of the frankest interviews ever granted by a Japanese premier, Okada outlined Japan's position on international questions. Speaking specifically of relations with the United States, he said:

"The United States and Japan are bound to live in intimate friendship. There is no difficult question between the countries and there is no reason why the two countries should not always be at peace."

Asked whether Japan will give notice of abrogation of the Washington naval pact late this year, he explained that he is still examining the matter.

Discusses 5—5—3 Ratio.

Discussing the naval ratio of 5—5—3 with Great Britain and the United States, he said Japan cannot approve the present ratio, which hurts the self-respect of the nation. However, he added, this does not mean that Japan is expecting parity, but only that it is convinced limitation must come from the most powerful nations and those most highly armed. This, he said, does not mean that the United States and Britain should reduce to Japan's level. He declared such an extreme change cannot be expected.

In a two page typewritten statement, the premier then declared that his basic foreign policy is to promote friendly relations with the powers in the interest of world peace. Pointing out that the world is seething with unrest, with the situation in Europe more alarming than before the world war, the premier said it is necessary to exert every effort to restore international relations to a normal condition.

OPERATE ON LEG OF BOY DESPITE DAD'S PROTESTS

Philadelphia, Pa., July 31.—(AP)—John Hoffman, 16, whose father objected for religious reasons to surgical aid for his boy's injured leg, was operated on today under a court order.

Dr. J. R. Moore removed three and a half inches of bone from the leg and the operation was said to be "entirely satisfactory."

John's father waited in an anteroom, unrelenting in his objection.

Dr. Moore said the operation was not dangerous and might result in the boy becoming normal.

The lad broke his leg at play two years ago and the father refused to permit treatment.

SLOT MACHINES AND SALOON MEN SEIZED IN RAIDS

Eight suburban saloon owners were arrested and fifteen slot machines were confiscated in raids last night by seven squads of deputies under the command of Deputy Sherifs Arthur Manning and Jack O'Keefe. The owners were charged with the possession of gambling equipment and the machines were taken to Sherif Meyering's office.

Those held are George Bliss, Roy Van Ansdall, Joseph Hoeudek, and I. Bowers, owners of saloons in Lyons township; Jack Arseneau and Alex Zasadzinski, owners of saloons in Golfmoor; Peter Novan of Worth township, and Fred Uptadel of Wheeling.

Avoids Collisions

Eureka, Cal., July 31.—(AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt narrowly escaped involvement in two collisions, each time with the same driver, as she entered this city at noon today, it was disclosed tonight. The First Lady took the experiences calmly, however, and with smiles.

As Mrs. Roosevelt's blue roadster, driven by her companion, Lorena A. Hickok, approached the city limits, another car driven by Mrs. Frank Brennan, wife of this port's collector of customs, pulled into the highway from a side street. Miss Hickok swerved the roadster from the highway in time to avoid a crash.

A few minutes later, as Miss Hickok was negotiating a right hand turn into the business district, Mrs. Brennan's car came between Mrs. Roosevelt's car and another. Again quick action on Miss Hickok's part avoided a collision.

NRA POWER OVER STATE TRADE CUT BY COURT RULING

U. S. Judge Grants Hat Company Injunction.

Federal Judge John P. Barnes held NRA code authorities are without power to regulate commerce within states in a ruling handed down yesterday in the United States District court. He said such regulation is wholly beyond the power of the federal government.

The court's views were expressed in an opinion granting a temporary injunction restraining the Local Retail Code Authority for Chicago, Inc., and Chicago members of the National Retail Code Authority from enforcing code provisions against the Irma Hat company, a Chicago corporation. The company, which operates six stores in Chicago and one in Oak Park, charged the code authorities were acting without authority under the constitution.

In his eight page opinion Judge Barnes reiterated doubts expressed on the constitutionality of the National Industrial Recovery act in a previous decision involving the NRA.

"Unlawful Grant of Power."

He declared that, while the court is strongly inclined to the opinion the act is not constitutional and is an invalid delegation of power to the President the court refrained from so holding "because of lack of precedent and opportunity for conference."

The court found that the hat company, which operates its retail stores under the name of Charm Hat Shops, purchased threee-quarters of its merchandise outside Illinois, but sold exclusively within the state. He also found that the hat company does not come under the millinery code because it does not manufacture its merchandise, and is not, therefore, governed by the section of that code on NRA Blue Eagle labels.

"The only constitutional provision, which has seriously been said to authorize the enactment of the NRA and the promulgation of codes is the commerce clauses thereof," Judge Barnes ruled. "That clause authorizes said act and codes only to the extent they regulate interstate and foreign commerce. To the extent they attempt to regulate intrastate commerce they are unauthorized and void.

Retail Regulation Is Goal.

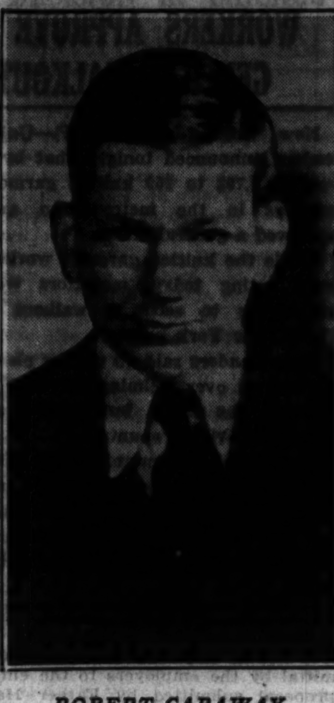
"It may be observed that the principal purpose of the retail code is to regulate 'retail trade' which, in the case of the company, is wholly intrastate commerce. It may also be observed that the principal purpose of the millinery code is to regulate 'the manufacture of millinery,' which is not commerce of any kind.

"If all the provisions of these two codes are held constitutional and valid, and if they are held to apply to all activities of the plaintiff [the hat company] and to all of the manufacturers of millinery from whom the plaintiff buys its hats, the result will be that the federal government will be regulating retail activities of the plaintiff and wholesale activities of the plaintiff which are wholly intrastate commerce—if they are commerce at all—and, furthermore, will be regulating manufacture, which has never been held to be commerce of any kind.

"The court's ruling in this case may be stated somewhat as follows: The plaintiff is entitled to carry on its intrastate activities without interference by the defendants, and to carry on its interstate activities with others without regard to whether those others do or do not carry on their intrastate activities in accordance with some code."

Judge Barnes further held the hat company may sell hats without NRA labels if such hats are purchased within the state, because such purchases would be intrastate commerce. The millinery code provides a fine of $500 each day for manufacture of hats without such label or six months imprisonment, or both.

KILLED IN FALL



ROBERT CARAWAY.

Dyersburg, Tenn., July 31.—(AP)—Bobbie Caraway, 18 year old son of Senator Hattie W. Caraway of Arkansas, died here tonight of injuries suffered when he fell from a horse near Newbern, Tenn., late yesterday.

Senator Caraway was at her son's bedside when death came. She had hurried here today from her home at Jonesboro, Ark.

COURT AWAITS LATEST RULING ON MOTHER'S JOB

U. S. Attorney General Looks Into Budd Case.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 31.—[Special.]—The right of a mother to work in her home to support her children was about to be considered by Federal Judge John M. Woolsey today when word was delivered in the courtroom that the attorney general of the United States had been directed by the White House to render an opinion on the question.

In deference to the Roosevelt administration's desire to probe more thoroughly into the constitutionality of the President's executive order of last May which banned mothers with dependent children from home work, Judge Woolsey continued the case before him until Aug. 14.

Regarded Case as Closed.

The President yesterday, through his secretary, Marvin H. McIntyre, had refused to reconsider his order in the case of Mrs. Kathryn Budd of Brooklyn. By order of Nathan Straus Jr., NRA enforcer, Mrs. Budd had been barred from making artificial flowers in her home. She had supported herself and two small children by this occupation since she was deserted three years ago by her husband.

Put Code Success First.

The President's secretary had asserted that permitting Mrs. Budd and other mothers to do home work would destroy the purposes of the National Recovery act. Today he surrendered to the extent of notifying the court that the attorney general had been asked to examine the President's order with a view to determining its validity.

A powerful combination of labor unions and of factory owners using machine labor produced the pressure here which caused the "cracking down" on Mrs. Budd and other mothers who worked in their homes, it was learned. The labor unions could not collect weekly dues from home workers and sought to force them into factories where the unions could deduct the dues from their wages, it was revealed.

Little Machinery Used.

There are approximately 250 firms engaged in the artificial flower business here. Of these only about 50 use machine labor in factories, the remainder employing home workers who bring the finished product to the headquarters of the business. The factories are in bitter competition with the firms using home workers and were powerful enough to have introduced into the NRA code for the business a clause forbidding home work. Later, this clause was modified to permit the aged or crippled to do home work.

COMMISSION MEN ACT TO SETTLE STRIKE AT YARDS

Promised New Action on Arbitration Award.

Livestock commission merchants at the Union stockyards, who have been among the heaviest losers due to the strike of 800 stock handlers which has tied up the yards for the last week, took measures yesterday seeking to bring the strike to an end.

A committee from their organization, the Chicago Live Stock exchange, conferred with union leaders during the day. They urged that the union ask Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan to construe the award which he made May 31, as a result of arbitration hearings he held after he had been chosen arbitrator at the close of a previous strike last November. They were hopeful that a full explanation of the award might help to speed a settlement of existing differences.

The commission men were promised an answer to the proposal when the exchange meets today. In the present strike the stock handlers' union has charged the Union Stock Yards and Transit company, employer of its members, with violating Judge Sullivan's award. Company proposals that the matter again be taken before Judge Sullivan were declined by the union at the opening of the present strike.

Threaten to Revive Buying.

While no official statement was made on the matter by the Live Stock exchange, individual members were reported to have told union leaders that if the strike is not ended by tomorrow, commission firms will wire their country clients to start shipments of commercial cattle to them for sale.

The commission men have refused to accept shipments of stock since the strike started. Their attitude, which has restricted movement of stock into the yards to drouth cattle purchased by the Federal Surplus Relief corporation and direct shipments of purchases made by packing companies in the country, has been given credit for the almost total absence of violence during the strike.

But this stand, commission men asserted yesterday, has made them the chief sufferers from the strike. The stockyards company has employed nonunion men and is getting revenue from handling the government drouth cattle. The packing companies have had enough drouth cattle and direct shipments for slaughter to give their killing crews their minimum time at work. The strikers are receiving union benefits.

Fear Permanent Loss of Clients.

But the commission men not only have lost their commissions on the sales of cattle but many of them have expressed fear that with the Chicago market closed some of their clients who have been selling stock in other markets will continue to ship there after the strike is ended, causing Chicago commission men permanent loss of clients.

Officials of the striking stock handlers' union and their attorney, Redmond S. Brennan, held a long conference last evening with federal department of labor conciliators who are seeking to end the strike. They drafted a revised statement on behalf of the union which will be presented today to O. T. Henkle, general manager of the stockyards company.

The most important point at issue is the guarantee of enough work each week to so-called extra men on the company lists to give them $20 a week. Company officials assert that they can not do this, because the fluctuations in the supply of live stock at the yards make it essential that they have a reserve labor supply for peak periods which they can not afford to carry during the slack periods.

In reply to this Mr. Brennan asserted that the extra men are such in name only, and that the majority of them are given several days' work each week by the company. The $20 guarantee, at their present rates of pay, would mean that they would have to have a little less than 40 hours employment weekly.

Expectations that Gen. Hugh. S. Johnson, NRA administrator, might take a hand in attempts to settle the strike were dampened yesterday when it was learned that he will not leave Okmulgee, Okla., where he is visiting his mother, until this evening. That would give him just time enough for his scheduled appearance at the World's Fair tomorrow.

"I don't intend to get mixed up in the strike if I can help it," Gen Johnson commented at Okmulgee.

Stirs Up More Strike Talk.

Observers commented that the general had already been somewhat mixed up regarding the strike, when he threatened at Agua Caliente, Mexico, last Saturday "to crack down on the packers." The packing companies have not been concerned in the strike, which has been directed only against the stockyards company.

However, Johnson's statement was followed by considerable strike talk among member of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workers of America, most of whom are employed in the smaller packing houses. International officers of that organization have had a hard time this week, they report, restraining these men from striking in sympathy with the stock handlers.

Employés of the C. A. Burnette & Co. packing plant, 944 West 38th place, who are members of the union, went on strike last night. Their's was not so much a sympathetic strike, however, as a dispute with the packing company which employs them over seniority rights.

William Collins, organizer of the union, said that members in other packing houses would be called out, but no further strike materialized, and it was surmised that Collins' orders had been countermanded by superior officers in the international organization.

FORMER HEADS OF SHOE WORKERS PAY FINES AND COSTS

Lynn, Mass., July 31.—(AP)—Litigation costs of $1,000 and fines of $300 have been paid by three former officials of the now merged National Shoe Workers' union in contempt proceedings brought by the Gregory & Read Shoe company, the filing of final papers in the case revealed today.

The case is regarded as of primary importance in organized labor and legal circles.

The three union officials were John Van Sciver, general president, William B. Mahan, general organizer, and Mrs. Mary Magee, business agent of the stitchers' local.

The Gregory-Read company, one of the larger firms in the city, has maintained an open shop for years in the face of union organization in most of the other shoe companies in this vicinity.

MORE VIOLENCE IN MINNEAPOLIS STRIKE FEARED

Stop Trucks Today, Is Union's Edict.

er's truck, killed a citizen when it ran through a stop sign.

Two men were killed in the May riots. Another died of wounds sustained ten days ago in a battle between police and pickets. Carl Wallin, driver of the car smashed in today's crash, is the fourth. Another man was perhaps fatally injured and three troopers were hurt.

Employers issued a statement today which may have been in response to the latest peace plan put forward by the mediators.

"A deliberate effort is being made in certain quarters," the business men said, "to spotlight a wage increase and to ignore or conceal that we are being asked to grant an increase before negotiation, which would enable these communist leaders to claim a victory and to appear thereby to deserve the confidence and following of union labor.

"The employers know both their obligations and their rights under Section 7 A of the National Récovery Act. They have stood willingly and consistently on these obligations and rights.

"The employers are fighting for a principle that for the time outweighs the wage issue. For them to settle terms without first settling the fundamental issue would be to sell the city to the communists."

Demands Higher Wages.

"In order to place responsibility," the governor declared, "and to give the public a chance to deal with the 'chiselers,' I shall expect every employer in Minneapolis who moves merchandise by truck to pay the wage scale determined by Father Haas and Commissioner Dunnigan to be a fair wage scale for those affected by the proposal.

"To carry out their many public statements, I shall also expect such employers to reinstate such employés as of the date of the strike, union and nonunion men alike, on the basis of seniority. If any union man desires to return to work it should be his option.

"The acceptance of this proposal will not in any way involve a committal by the employers to the entire proposal submitted by Father Haas and Commissioner Dunnigan, nor will it involve an abandonment by union of the position taken by it with reference to the Haas-Dunnigan proposal. It will enable Father Haas and Commissioner Dunnigan to continue their conciliatory efforts and it will substantially aid the national guard in keeping peace in the city.

"Gen. Walsh advises me that because of numerous violations of permits issued, evidencing a lack of good faith and lack of coöperation with the guard, he will temporarily cease the issuance of permits, except in emergency cases."

N. Y. KNIT GARMENT WORKERS APPROVE GENERAL WALKOUT

New York, July 31.—(AP)—Union leaders announced tonight that by a vote of 4,792 to 259 knitted garment workers in the metropolitan area approved a general strike.

While the knitted garment workers were voting today, mediators were attempting to settle a walkout of 12,000 New York painters.

Union leaders said all polling places showed an overwhelming majority in favor of the strike, but did not announce individual counts.

A so-called "communist" left wing of the workers used a special red ballot deposited in a special box beside the box used by the other workers. They voted 102 for and 21 against the strike.

Woman Uses Safety Pin to Ward Off Angry Bull

6,000 PARADE AT KOHLER STRIKE RIOTER'S RITES

Three Pastors Take Part in Services.

Kohler, Wis., July 31.—[Special.]—Climaxing a parade of 6,000 idle union men and Kohler strike sympathizers, labor today paid tribute to Lee Wakefield, one of the strike riot victims, at a public funeral ceremony held in Moose park, Sheboygan. Rites for Henry Englemann, the other man killed during the riot last week, were held yesterday and also were well attended.

Today's public funeral gathering, however, was the largest in the history of Sheboygan. A large crowd that had gathered at the park early in the morning was swelled when the paraders arrived. Some observers estimated the total at near 10,000 persons.

Henry Ohl, president of the state federation of labor, paid a tribute to both Wakefield and Engelmann during the services, saying that they "had not died in vain but for the advancement of a worthy cause." He said now is the time when labor must keep a clear and cool head, and that it must march on with hope, rather than with vengeance in its heart.

Two Other Pastors Aid.

The Rev. G. Leroy White of the Sheboygan First Methodist church, A. L. Smith of the Church of Jehovah Witnesses, Milwaukee, and Ed Tompkins, president of the unemployed council also participated in the services.

It had been planned originally to march the funeral cortège through the village of Kohler, but although permission to do so had been given by the troops here, it was decided to go direct to the Sheboygan cemetery after the services in the park. All was conducted in an orderly manner and the only reminder of strike violence was the appearance of injured and wounded rioters who marched at the head of the parade.

Meantime all was quiet here. Three hundred infantrymen were withdrawn from the village today, but 250 cavalrymen are remaining to preserve peace and order. Maintaining at least part of the troops at Kohler was recommended by the strike mediation board Monday, and orders that they remain were received this morning.

Halt Attempts to Settle.

Attempts to settle the strike temporarily were halted today. The arbiters for the Chicago Regional Labor board left the village last night, saying the time is not ripe for negotiations. They promised a new effort, probably later in the week, at a settlement.

The Kohler Workers' union today denounced criticism by communists and labor councils of the action of the governor in ordering out troops, asserting that "the conduct of the military is satisfactory to the union."

DOCKERS RETURN AT PORTS ALONG PACIFIC COAST

Sailors' Vote Ends Costly, Riotous Tieup.

San Francisco, Cal., July 31.—[Special.]—The bitterness of the past appeared forgotten today. Thousands of longshoremen and other maritime workers smilingly returned to their jobs here and in other Pacific coast ports after a three months' strike.

The policemen who still were on duty in the waterfront district exchanged good natured nods with the workers. Until the recent cessation of hostilities their meetings were the signals for riots, sometimes marked by gunfire and the explosion of bombs.

17,000 Resume Work.

The return to work of 12,000 union longshoremen and about 5,000 union seamen brought an end to the trouble which had crippled Pacific coast water commerce since May 9. The walkout, which later became a general strike in San Francisco, exacted a toll of at least eight lives and resulted in losses of approximately $200,000,000 to business.

Great activity attended the workers' return to their jobs. At an early hour large gangs of longshoremen were seen hurrying to the scenes of their former employment. A little later the long delayed cargoes began to move along the five and one-half mile waterfront here.

Box cars were shunted along the waterfront by chugging engines and backed up to the piers for loading with foods. Great clouds of steam shot up from numerous piers as merchandise was hoisted from the holds of dozens of ships and set on the docks.

Lockout Is Charged.

A discordant note broke in on the harmony when a group of 400 members of the International Longshoremen's association appeared before the federal mediation board and complained they had been locked out and refused employment.

The board promised to investigate and sent out a call for a meeting to begin arbitration between those employers and union representatives.

Violence marked the widespread labor dispute up until the very last. Even after the International Seamen's union announced last night its members would go back to work pending arbitration of their demands, fighting broke out at Bellingham, Wash., between 35 nonunion longshoremen and a like number of strikers and sympathizers. Several heads were cracked before police restored order.

The vote of the seamen made unanimous the decision of the waterfront groups to return to work. The stevedores consented to have their disputes settled by arbitration while the maritime unions will attempt to settle their differences through collective bargaining.

End Omaha Car Strike.

Omaha, Neb., July 31.—[Special.]—A five day strike of street car men ended here today. Service on the Omaha and Council Bluffs Street railway was resumed this morning.

The strikers voted to end the walkout after the company granted two of their three demands. They won the right to choose arbitration agencies and also settled a dispute between a union man and a company union worker.

The company rejected a demand that 1 cent of a 3 cent pay increase, granted to tram and bus operators during a walkout last April, also be given to shop men.

Tear Gas Routs Pickets.

Auto Manufacturer and His Bride

Sum Is Between $100,000 and $7,650,000.

Miami, Fla., July 31.—(AP)—Placed at $7,650,000 by one source and "less than $100,000" by another, the actual pre-divorce settlement made by John N. Willys, automobile manufacturer, upon his first wife was an open question tonight.

An authoritative source close to the manufacturer fixed the settlement at $7,650,000 and indicated this included cash and property assigned to the former Isabel Van Wie of Canandaigua, N. Y., since the Willys separated last year.

Fixes Sum Under $100,000.

Mrs. Willy's local attorney, John P. Stokes, however, tonight said the final settlement—made immediately preceding yesterday's issuance of a final divorce decree here—was "less than $100,000." He said he did not know of any prior payments by Willys.

Willys, who served from 1930 to 1932 as United States ambassador to Poland, and Mrs. Florence E. Dolan of Fieldston, N. Y., were married by County Judge W. Frank Blanton here yesterday after the handing down of the decree in the divorce action brought by the first Mrs. Willys.

To Honeymoon Abroad.

The newlyweds tonight were on their way to New York by train. They are to sail Monday or Tuesday of next week for a European honeymoon.

The source relating the large cash and property settlement said the arrangements were made in New York last week at a conference at which the manufacturer was represented by Owen W. Pittman Jr., Miami attorney. Pittman declined comment tonight.

LABOR BOARD DELAYS DECISION IN CHICAGO COACH COMPANY CASE

Washington, D. C., July 31.—[Special.]—The national labor relations board today postponed handing down a decision in the Chicago Motor Coach company case. A full examination and report on the case will be ordered before the decision is handed down, members of the board said today. After the case was heard yesterday it was reported that the board hoped to decide it within the following 24 hours.

The Chicago coach company flatly challenged the authority of the board, and the case is one of the first in which the legal power of the board is at question. For this reason, it was learned, it will be handled very carefully by the board.

Although it proposes to study the case carefully, the board is understood to have rejected the suggestion by the company that a special investigator be selected to go into the case in Chicago. The case involves the discharge of 25 men, who the company declares were dismissed for inefficiency. The old Wagner labor board, predecessor of the present board, held that the 25 men were fired for union activity and that their dismissal was in violation of the NRA.

TWO REPORTERS FINED $3; JAIL TERM OMITTED

Danville, Ky., July 31.—[Special.]—Danville's "jail-a-thon" newspaper reporters were at liberty after their eighth hearing today—but were fined $3 apiece, bringing their fines to a total of $18.75. They have spent a total of thirty-three hours in jail.

"I want you to understand that the court is not weakening in omitting the jail sentence," Police Judge Jay W. Harlan remarked.

"Yes, sir," replied the reporters, Jack Durham and Wesley Carty, rushing from the courtroom to file their stories to news agencies and newspapers throughout the country.

Victor Bodner, a grocery clerk, will be given a hearing tomorrow on his refusal to answer questions propounded yesterday afternoon, the first time he was called before the court. Asked whether he had a part in making or hanging the effigy of State Representative J. Sterling Towles, Bodner's reply was, "I refuse to answer."

The case arose when the reporters declined to reveal how they had obtained advance information of the "hanging." Their fines and jail sentences were given when they were adjudged in contempt of court.

Zion Voters Spurn Voliva Partisan for Third Time

Theodore Forby was reëlected city judge of Zion city for a six year term yesterday, defeating Joseph L. Bishop, whose candidacy had the support of Wilbur Glenn Voliva. It was the third defeat suffered by Voliva and his organization in elections this year. Judge Forby polled 1,375 votes, 189 more than Bishop, who is secretary of the Zion public school board.

DUBLIN BUSMEN HALT STRIKE.

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, July 31.—(AP)—Bus and street car workers tonight accepted arbitration and called off a threatened strike.

Police Hold Three Boys for Stripping Locomotive

Three boys were arrested by Cragin police last night for stripping an old locomotive in the Galewood yards of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad in the 6800 block on Grand avenue. Sergt. Edward McBride and his squad seized a number of valves and gauges which the boys had torn from the engine. The loot was valued at between $150 and $200. The boys were Frank Varisco, 13 years old, 2250 North Mango avenue; Edward Hudock, 14 years old, 5635 Fullerton avenue, and Ralph Angilero, 14 years old, 2133 North Mason avenue.

COURT ASSURES 25 MILLION PAY FOR TEACHERS

Mayor's Plan Surmounts Last Obstacle.

hence have separate bonding powers, one of the major points involved in Mayor Kelly's plan. Approval was given by the court for the definite purpose of using the school bond receipts to pay the back salaries of Chicago teachers.

In discussing the points involved in the school board's application for the federal funds, Mr. McCahey declared that if it had not been for the economies put into effect by the school trustees a year ago the RFC could not now be shown that the schools were living within their income and that the loan was a sound one.

"In addition, if the board had not economized we would not be able to meet the pay rolls for the rest of the year," said Mr. McCahey. "We can do this now because our economy program and the federal loan will remove the handicap of the school debt which was built up in the past and has always been hanging over us."

Mayor Devises Program.

Authority to issue the bonds was obtained from the legislature a year ago, shortly before the economy program was adopted. The bond program was suggested by Mayor Kelly.

Then last fall the mayor devised the program of selling the bonds to the federal government, with the pledge of the school lands as additional security.

The mayor's plan was first broached publicly on Dec. 8, 1933, in a front page article in THE TRIBUNE. Before publication of the article the entire plan had been surveyed for several weeks to determine its workability and the difficulties that would have to be surmounted. The interview in which the mayor outlined his program, which has been followed step by step, launched the drive that is now on the threshold of success.

Legislative Campaign Won.

Legislation permitting the school board to pledge its property completed its passage through the Illinois general assembly on Feb. 15. The campaign then turned to Washington. United States Senators James Hamilton Lewis and William H. Dieterich, Congressman A. J. Sabath and other members of the Illinois delegation to congress promised their support to a bill that would grant the RFC power to make loans to school districts along the lines suggested by Mayor Kelly.

Richard S. Folsom, who had been Senator Lewis' law partner for twenty years, was made school board attorney and went to Washington to direct the drive there. Mayor Kelly was in constant touch by long distance telephone.

After a battle in the house and senate conference committee federal loans to school districts up to $75,000,000 were approved by congress on the night of June 16, shortly before adjournment.

Frank Righeimer, special attorney for the school board, then started the action for state Supreme court approval of the program to pay Chicago's teachers.

DIVISION OF FEDERAL LOAN AMONG SCHOOL WORKERS ESTIMATED

Chicago teachers and other school employés will receive substantial amounts when the $25,447,240 loan from the Reconstruction Finance corporation is finally approved by RFC officials. In each classification the back pay which the school workers are expected to receive in federal cash follows:

Class.	Maximum salary.	Minimum salary.
High school principal	$3,391	$2,558
High school teacher	2,261	1,071
Elementary principal	2,856	1,785
Elementary teacher	1,487	892
Engineers	2,796	1,785
Janitors and firemen	862	862

The full amount in the board's application for the RFC loan consists of $21,443,670 for teachers and $4,003,568 for civil service workers. The numbers of school board employés in the major classifications are roughly as follows: High school principals, 32; high school teachers, 4,000; elementary principals, 175; elementary teachers, 10,000; engineers, 400; janitors and firemen, 2,400.

MILITARY RULE TO HALT ESCAPES AT ST. CHARLES

Harmon Takes Charge of School Today.

William T. Harmon of Jacksonville arrived at St. Charles last night to take over the management of the St. Charles state school for boys this morning, and announced installation of a system of military discipline by which he expects to reduce the numerous escapes from that institution. He arrived at St. Charles shortly after two young automobile thieves who had escaped from the school earlier in the day, had been captured in Chicago after a police chase.

Mr. Harmon, a world war veteran and former athletic director of Illinois college in Jacksonville, was appointed by Gov. Horner to succeed Robert F. Havlik, who has been director of the institution since Feb. 1, 1932. The appointment was made after residents of Fox river valley towns complained they feared to go about the streets at night for fear of being attacked by young hoodlums who had escaped from the school.

Too Much Idle Time.

Mr. Harmon's plan calls for a balanced program of recreation as well as military discipline. He blames too much idle time for some of the escapes.

The new director plans to ask for coöperation from the Juvenile court and other courts which send boys of 17 years and under to the state school.

"Each judge, of course, has a different idea of what a delinquent is," Mr. Harmon declared last night, after he arrived with his wife from their home in Jacksonville. "Frequently judges send boys to the school and who should go to the reformatory at Pontiac.

A System of Rewards.

"I know the value of military discipline in building character in boys. Also, as a director of athletics and a teacher, I know the value of recreation."

The two youths who were captured yesterday after their escape were William Truskey, 17 years old, 1113 Lincoln street, North Chicago, and Anthony Maskal, 16, of 831 North Ashland avenue. They were arrested after a car they had stolen crashed in Evanston after a long chase. Both were severely cut and bruised.

LAFAYETTE RELIC EXHIBIT OPENED BY DESCENDANT

Count Praises General's Love of Liberty.

Count Rene de Chambrun, fourth generation descendant of Lafayette, the French and American revolutionary hero, in an address yesterday opening the Lafayette centenary exhibition in the Chicago Historical society, pointed to the ideals of liberty for which his ancestor fought as a means of preserving peace.

Count de Chambrun took part in the colorful opening ceremony which began with the parade of Lafayette's coach from A Century of Progress to the Historical society building where it was placed on exhibition with other rare historical articles associated with Lafayette's life. The coach was escorted by the Black Horse troop.

In his address, Count de Chambrun said that with the problem of peace as serious as it is today, it is the sacred duty of both France and America to preserve their ideals of liberty, equality, permanent justice and peace.

Liberty Lafayette's Goal.

He discussed Lafayette's championship of liberty for America adding that it was his grandsire's greatest inner tragedy that France did not [at once] follow America's example in adoption of a democracy.

Other speakers were Rene Weiller, French consul general, Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank, Quin O'Brien, who represented Mayor Kelly, and Henry J. Patten, who presided.

Attending the ceremony were Maj. Gen. Preston Brown, commander of the Sixth corps area, and Admiral Wat T. Cluverius, commandant of the Great Lakes Naval training station. There was a detachment of marines, soldiers and sailors who are stationed at A Century of Progress, Boy Scouts, the French Blue Devils, American Legion, and representatives of patriotic organizations.

Relics Fill Two Rooms.

Two rooms have been filled with Lafayette relics which were viewed with interest by the many guests. In a conspicuous spot had been placed the gold bronze bust of Lafayette by Jean Antoine Houdon loaned by Mr. Weiller. Another was a cannon used in the battle of Yorktown in 1781, many famous portraits of Lafayette and articles used by him or presented as gifts to his American friends.

Among those attending the opening were Mr. and Mrs. Rufus C. Dawes, Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Logan, Joseph M. Cudahy, I. Newton Perry, Mrs. Charles S. Dewey, Mrs. William McCormick Blair, Senator James Hamilton Lewis, John C. Davis, and Mrs. William H. Bush, lender of the portrait of Lafayette by Rembrandt Peal.

WALL TO MASK SKOKIE SCHOOL'S MOOTED MURAL

The Winnetka school board disclosed yesterday its plan to erect a partition to hide the new mural on the east library wall of the Skokie Junior High school at 520 Glendale avenue in the suburb. Officials of the discontinued public works art project, an agency of the federal public works administration, which financed the huge painting, said they had no funds for its removal.

The Winnetka school board refused last Friday to accept the mural, stating it was unsuitable for pupils to view, and offered the PWAP the alternatives of removing it or having it hidden. The mural was painted by Raymond Breinin. It is entitled "The Two Economic Means of Existence" and is a medley of laborers, wheels, farms, and machinery.

When artists and members of the school board viewed the painting again yesterday they admitted they still were not certain whether the coloring was accurate or the machinery depicted accurately.

MORE MILITIA OUT IN HUEY'S POLITICAL ROW

BULLETIN.

New Orleans, La., July 31.—(AP)—Shortly before midnight Mayor Walmsley ordered 400 armed policemen on duty at police headquarters to resist a reported attempt by Senator Long and his state administration followers to seize the police department with some 500 National Guardsmen at Jackson barracks.

New Orleans, La., July 31.—[Special.]—The bitter political fight between the forces of U. S. Senator Huey P. Long and the city administration threw New Orleans into turmoil today when all companies of the National Guard in New Orleans were mobilized under orders of the "Kingfish's" ally, Gov. O. K. Allen. Protest has been made to Washington.

The city is already under partial martial law. The guardsmen called out by the new proclamation will supplement a detachment which last night seized the city voters' registration office and forcibly took registration records being prepared for use in the September primary.

Appeal to Washington.

Though no information was forthcoming from the Louisiana political dictator nor members of his corps of state officials as to what use would be made of the militia, their enemies branded it an attempt to "steal two seats in the United States congress by the misuse of the troops."

Almost simultaneously with the order for a general mobilization of the New Orleans militia, Mayor T. Semmes Walmsley, bitter political foe of the "Kingfish" and Gov. Allen, announced that city administration leaders had appealed to Washington for aid in lifting the iron hand of Louisiana's "bad boy."

The mayor termed the governor's declaration of partial martial law illegal, charging that "it is apparent they want to scratch names from the registration books under the protection of the militia."

Brands Long Coward.

He declared tonight that, "while some may drop in the defense" of New Orleans, "we will never surrender to this madman (Senator Long)."

"I warn you, Huey Long, you cringing coward, that if a life is spent in the defense of this city and its right of local self-government, you shall pay the penalty as other carpetbaggers have done before you," the mayor said.

He compared the Louisiana "Kingfish" to "Caligula, Nero, Attila, Henry VIII., Louis XI., and dozens of other madmen who have risen to almost unlimited power."

He described the calling out of the militia as a "disgrace" and said the guardsmen were doing Senator Long's bidding "like lackeys" with the help of "that characterless, spineless, and marionette governor, O. K. Allen."

Claims Long Lied.

Walmsley branded the recent legislature which sat in Baton Rouge as filled with "bribery and corruption" and charged Long "lied" when he referred to New Orleans as a "cesspool of corruption" in which vice and debauchery are rampant.

"Senator Long is attempting to wreck the south's largest city so that he may enjoy a Roman holiday," he said.

A second appeal for federal aid was made by two Walmsley endorsed candidates for the two New Orleans congressional seats at stake in the September primary. They requested Speaker of the House Rainey to make an inquiry into conditions attending the campaign, charging the Long machine with trying to steal the congressional seats.

Allen Issues Warning.

From Long's headquarters in the Roosevelt hotel, where the senator remained surrounded by his heavily armed bodyguards, Gov. Allen sent out a warning statement. It read:

"Tell the world that New Orleans is now to be known as the center of learning and science; the gateway to all continents; the center of the greatest highway, railway and waterway development in the world; and that the reich of vice and crime is a thing of the past. Let no one try to flaunt the warning I have given."

FINDS FARMERS REDUCE A CROP TO BOOST SECOND

Grow Feed Grains Now in Cotton States.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

Memphis, Tenn., July 31.—[Special.]—A 3,000 mile journey through the grain, live stock, and cotton belts has revealed how the radical changes in the production of agricultural products adds to the worries of farmers who raise feed and food crops for sale to other states. Renting land to Uncle Sam did not take it entirely out of production.

Growers of corn, cotton, wheat, and tobacco have rented to the federal government this year more than 40 million acres, but under certain regulations farmers are permitted to grow food and feed crops for use on their own farms. Under the acreage reduction plan the government has rented approximately 15 million acres of cotton land, 20 million acres of corn land, and 8 million acres of wheat land. But other crops—for feed and food—are being grown on most of these rented acres, and that is what causes the trouble.

Depended on Others.

Many farmers in the cotton states and the wheat states have concentrated in the past on the growing of these two cash crops and depended upon growers in other sections to furnish much of their food and feed supplies. This year thousands of new gardens and truck patches have sprung up on the rented acres where farm families are producing their own fruits and vegetables. It is all a part of the plan to put more and more farmers on a self-sustaining basis and aid in reducing the surplus of cotton, wheat, corn, tobacco, and hogs.

Under the government's plan of adjustment where only certain crops are regulated, the reduction of crops in one section is offset to some extent by the growing of the same kind of crops in another state. For example, Mississippi farmers planted 358,000 more acres of corn this year than they grew last year, while farmers in Missouri, Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska, and other regular corn states reduced their acreage. Corn is corn whether grown in Mississippi or Missouri.

Reduces the Market.

Growing food and feed crops on the rented acres formerly utilized in the growing of cotton is the southern planters' way of reducing his production costs. On the other hand, it means the elimination of a market for the trainload of products that are grown in the middle west and other sections and shipped into the south each year. It will be just as necessary to make adjustments in production to take care of these losses in the domestic market as it was to make changes when American farmers lost markets abroad after foreign nations began to develop a self-sustaining agriculture following the world war.

Washington officials now realize that something must be done to prevent adjustment contract signers from shifting to nonbasis crops in such large numbers as to injure regular growers of these commodities.

New Laws Complicate It.

The growing and marketing of cotton has been further complicated by legislation passed at the last session of congress, to supplement the rental and benefit payment plan. This is the Bankhead cotton control act, which limits the number of bales to be ginned tax free. This act limits to 10,460,251 bales, 478 pounds net weight, the amount of cotton which may be ginned tax free this year. All cotton ginned above this fixed amount is to be taxed at 50 per cent of the central average market price per pound of lint cotton.

Drouth has injured the crop, particularly in Oklahoma and Texas, and many unofficial estimators believe that the cotton crop picked this year will not exceed 10 million bales. This would be about a half a million bales less than the limit placed by the Bankhead act.

CUTS THIRD SET OF TEETH ON HIS 77TH BIRTHDAY

G. B. Hart of Joliet celebrated his 77th birthday yesterday by cutting the first of his third set of teeth. Mr. Hart lives with his daughter, Mrs. Robert Heggie, 813 Raynor avenue, Joliet.

"I've been wearing false teeth for 27 years," said Mr. Hart yesterday. "Ten days ago I felt a couple of sore spots in my mouth. Today the first of the teeth pushed through and four or five others are nearly through, so I can't wear my false ones.

"I'm not surprised, though. My grandfather cut his third set of teeth after his 70th birthday."

By Bob Becker

Rameses Turns Thief.

RAMESES, the Corriedale ram on the auxiliary farm, has developed a pretty clever trick in order to pick up an occasional delicious mouthful of food. He commits petty larceny to get this food, but day after day he watches for the chance to "break the law."

After having the run of the barnyard for part of the day and being allowed to wander around and play with Way, the Southdown ram, Rameses one day strolled into the poultry yard at a time when the gate happened to be open. It was a new, inviting world. He made the most of it by snooping around the whole inclosure. In the course of this exploration he came upon some ground feed that had been put out for the chickens, turkeys, and guinea hens.

Rameses must have thought that it was extremely thoughtful of somebody to provide this delicious handout and he proceeded to clean up the dish. This "dessert" from the poultry yard apparently made a deep impression on the ram, because now he watches his chance to make a return trip and rob the chickens of their meals. If Rameses is in the barnyard and anybody goes into the chicken yard and leaves the gate open, it's a safe bet that the crafty ram will rush into the place.

The spring pigs on the experimental farm have just been given a dandy present. It's the third crop of alfalfa in a field on the north side of the road opposite the test plots of corn and cowpeas. Two cuttings of alfalfa have been taken from this field and now Clarence Thurow, manager of the farm, has turned it over to the porkers so they can "harvest" the third crop. I walked over to this field the other evening to look at the pigs. All the young grunters were so busy working their jaws on the alfalfa that they didn't notice me at all.

The big race between the blackeyed cowpeas and the whippoorwill variety isn't much of a race any more. The blackeyed variety is just running away from its slower growing partner. Ever since these two types of cowpeas were planted side by side, in soil that had received the same treatment and the same amount of moisture, we have been sort of putting our money on the "bird variety," because this certainly is whippoorwill country here along the Fox. However, the blackeyed cowpeas are way up and now shooting out long runners, being far ahead in their growth as compared to the whippoorwill variety. [Visitors to the farm will see these cowpea test plots close to the road, well marked by signs.]

Night before last when Clarence Thurow, manager of the farm, was sitting on his porch a good sized bird suddenly crashed headlong into the screen on the front of the porch. It was killed instantly. Clarence kept the bird so identification could be made when all of us got together. It proved to be a yellow billed cuckoo, a species that is a great insect eater and a real help to the farmer. This is the same bird known to many farmers as the "rain crow," because of the erroneous belief that it always sings before a rain. If this were true the experimental farm would have had a downpour the other night, because we heard these birds uttering their peculiar calls for a considerable length of time.

TUGWELL CALLS CRITICS OF FARM PROGRAM WICKED

Condemns Use of Drouth by New Deal Foes.

Washington, D. C., July 31.—(AP)—Rexford G. Tugwell, undersecretary of agriculture, asserted tonight there is "something both infantile, obscene and wicked in the eagerness with which reactionary obscurantists" have seized upon the drouth in attacking the administration's farm program.

Tugwell said that without the New Deal millions to aid agriculture and drouth victims and its measures to provide against future catastrophes, "we should face famine and political revolution in the farm states and food riots in the cities."

Describes Efforts.

Describing the farm administration's efforts to adjust production and consumption, Tugwell, whose address was given under the auspices of the Democratic national committee, said:

"I know that I am speaking for the department of agriculture when I say that it was only with the greatest reluctance that we temporarily called a halt to that unchecked, gigantic and uneconomic abundance which is the first law of nature, but we felt that with industrial America controling its production in order to maintain profitable prices with absolute indifference to the fate of the millions who depend on industry for a livelihood, agricultural America could not survive without corresponding measures of readjustment and self-control.

"While there are undoubtedly many who believed that not the farmer but the business system itself is at fault, that not the farmer, but the business system itself should be changed, the production control methods which we adopted for the farmer in self defense were essentially temporary methods of adjustment which could be modified or abandoned as industry attuned itself to an economy of abundance."

Admits No Mandate Given.

Tugwell added that "despite the lamentations of the tory obscurantists," the administration knew the American people had "given no mandate for the final abandonment of our traditional business system."

"When the American people," he said, "give this administration authority—and the tories seem to forget that the American people by a record vote did confer very wide authority—it was to readjust relationships among our old institutions, to overhaul them, to repair them, to make them work if they could be made to work, to modify them when they failed to function and to demonstrate by the old method of trial and error which of those institutions could be readjusted to the new economic environment of the post-war world. . . ."

Hits at "Tories."

Hitting at those who have "seized on the great natural calamity of a drouth" as a means of "destroying or discrediting the will of the American people, as expressed in congress, for the betterment of agriculture," Tugwell asserted:

"These same tories fought for years to maintain unlimited immigration into the United States, in order that they might have a constant supply of cheap labor and of what really amounted to a reservoir of strike breakers with which to combat the efforts of American labor to win decent wages and working conditions; they are now fighting for an agricultural production subject only to the uncertain control of nature with which to lessen the costs of raw materials and to increase by speculation their unnecessary profits.

"And they are trying to array labor against the farmers, with the sole, if unconfessed, object of perpetuating the speculative conditions which make exploitation a part of our business system.

"Under their rule they would let the farmer starve, they would let the drouth ravage the prairies, and they would tell the farmer that it was just too bad that he was being destroyed."

ANSWERS POLICE PAY SUIT.

Rockford, Ill., July 31.—[Special.]—In an answer filed in Circuit court today the city of Rockford denied liability for $20,000 which Rockford policemen claimed the city owes them in back pay. The city contends the patrolmen took "payless vacations" and are not entitled to pay for a period in which they did not work.

HOOVER WRITES BOOK SURVEYING 'HUMAN LIBERTY'

Palo Alto, Cal., July 31.—(AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover has turned author, it was announced today, and his book, "The Challenge to Liberty," will be issued in September.

The book will not discuss partisan political issues, Paul Sexson, secretary to the former president, said.

Mr. Hoover, who has been at his writing task for about a year, will survey the situation of human liberty throughout the world. He will discuss fascism, socialism, communism, regimentation and other systems in the world.

CROP SHORTAGE WON'T HALT AAA REDUCTION PLAN

New Dealers Disregard Nature's Warning.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 31.—[Special.]—With the wheat crop cut by the drouth to a 40 year low and retail food prices at the highest level in 30 months, officials of the department of agriculture maintained today that the crop reduction program must be carried on another year.

Nature has taken the war on abundance out of the hands of the agricultural administration and accomplished within a few weeks what the administration could not do—the elimination of the surplus in all basic farm commodities but cotton. But the drouth, in the words of George E. Farrell, chief of the wheat section of the AAA, "is an abnormality, and no man can hope to base a program on an abnormality."

Estimate 484,000,000 Bushels.

The estimated wheat crop for 1934 is 484,000,000 bushels, the lowest since 1893. The country uses from 600 to 625 million bushels a year, leaving a production deficit of from 116 to 141 million bushels for this year. The normal carry-over is about 250 million bushels a year and the carry over for next year will be about 120 million, according to Mr. Farrell's estimate, dispelling all danger of a surplus.

"Nevertheless, that is sufficient to prevent any danger of a shortage, and the reduction program will go forward," Mr. Farrell said. "Farmers will again be asked to reduce their acreage by 15 per cent of the base, computed on the annual average of 1930-1932."

Answers Religious Arguments.

Mr. Farrell today took cognizance of increasing reports from the corn and wheat belt that the farmers are filled with grave misgivings on religious grounds as a result of the drouth. Many are said to feel that retribution is being visited upon them for the sin of slaughtering little pigs and curtailing their crops in violation of what they regard as the laws of nature.

"If the drouth is God's punishment, why didn't he stop at the Canadian border or at the borders of other countries which do not limit acreage?" Mr. Farrell asked, a little impatiently.

Apparently divine Providence did stop at one non-reduction country, for A. V. Dye, American commercial attaché to Argentina, arrived here today with reports of great rejoicing there at the prolonged drouth in the United States. He said the Argentine government, which purchased great quantities of wheat at prices above the market to aid distressed farmers last November, when the price dropped to a notably low level, would now be able to sell it at a profit.

Wallace Reported Disturbed.

Reports that Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, a pious man who has written a book entitled "Statesmanship and Religion" has been disturbed by the religious fears of the farmers, gained currency today with a speech he made at Ruston, La. The secretary made no attempt to uproot their religious convictions but rather to divert them in another direction favorable to the New Lead.

He compared the objectives of the New Deal to the "promised land" of the Bible and likened its critcs to those who would have turned back from Moses for the golden calf and the old laws of Egypt.

Mr. Wallace's speaking tour out into the farm belt is believed to have been inspired, in a large measure, by these increasing fears and misgivings. It is known that many residents of Iowa, his home state, including several pastors, have written letters expressing their sincere conviction that the drouth was a direct punishment from God.

Politics May Enter, Too.

Mr. Wallace's concern for the spiritual welfare of the farmers is not to be discounted, for he is a devout man, but there are those who believe that the political consequences of a possible religious revolt are giving him just as much concern.

The effect of the drouth on retail food prices was shown today by statistics released by the department. The accumulated rise for all foods, based on reports from 51 cities, was 2½ per cent since April 24, bringing the index level to 109.9 per cent of the 1913 prices. Cereal foods showed the greatest increase, the index being 147.7, an increase of 15½ per cent over July 15, 1933, and 22 per cent over July 15, 1932.

Mrs. Dall Leaves Court After Divorce

Plans in Doubt

Minden, Nev., July 31.—[Special.]—The plans for the immediate future of Anna Roosevelt, divorced yesterday from Curtis B. Dall, remained uncertain today. There was no information as to whether she would return to Washington or join her mother at Portland, Ore., where the President will land from his cruise to Hawaii. Nor was anything further learned of the custody of "Sistie" and "Bustie." The agreement as to them had been sealed yesterday together with the testimony in their mother's divorce case.

Youth and Girl Captured in Alleged Holdup Attempt

A youthful bandit and his girl companion were captured yesterday after an alleged attempt to rob Isadore Tollyea, owner of a clothing store at 5911 South Halsted street. They were Harold Bluett, 20 years old, 5661 Princeton avenue, and Miss Margaret Gallagher, 19, who lives with Bluett and his parents. Tollyea told police that Bluett menaced him with a .22 caliber revolver while the girl sought unsuccessfully to open the cash register. Tollyea was ordered to open the drawer, but instead he ran outside and called Policeman Dennis McCarthy.

Mississippi River Reaches Record Low

Red Wing, Minn., July 31.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt may have to do his Mississippi river inspection on foot instead of by boat Aug. 8, old timers are saying here, as the stage of water has hit a new record low. The water was at three feet below the low water mark today, three-tenths of a foot lower than it has been since the government began gathering statistics half a century ago.

DRIEST 7 MONTHS OF CITY HISTORY ENDED WITH JULY

The first seven months of 1934 were the driest since establishment of the Chicago weather bureau. Figures collected yesterday by C. A. Donnel, government meteorologist, showed that the total precipitation for this period was 7.22 inches. The lowest rainfall recorded previously was 11.62 inches in 1886.

The month just ended set a record of its own, becoming the driest July in the history of the bureau. Only .42 of an inch of rain fell, representing a deficiency from normal of 2.81 inches. Accumulative precipitation for the entire year was 12.25 inches. The previous low record for precipitation last month was .58 of an inch in 1874.

In addition to being dry, last month was the fourth hottest July, with a mean temperature of 75.6. The hottest was in 1921 when the temperature averaged 79.4 degrees. Cooling lake breezes during the heat kept last month's mean maximum temperature at 84.9 while recordings at the Municipal airport and inland towns within a radius of a few hundred miles were 90 degrees or higher.

ROBBED IN HIS GARAGE.

While putting his automobile in his garage late Monday night Arthur Henneman, 5001 North Kildare avenue, owner of a meat market at that address, was robbed by two armed men of $100 and a $470 check, he reported to the Albany Park police.

CHINESE TROOPS RUSHED TO SEIZE BIG GOLDDIGGINGS

CANTON, China, July 31.—(AP)—The national government today dispatched troops armed with machine guns to the Yanking district, near Kongmoon, to drive off the villagers from the local gold diggings.

A mining company operated there unsuccessfully years ago. During recent torrential rains, the hillside was washed out, revealing free gold.

Peasants rushed to the spot from miles around and are reported to have extracted ten thousand ounces, worth about $347,000, in the last two weeks.

The government then claimed the area as "crown land," but the peasants refused to quit.

Snow Falls in Ontario, Forest Ranger Reports

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., July 31.—(AP)—Reports of snowfall in July reached the Sault today when Angus Taylor, fire ranging chief in the Algoma Central railway district, returned from Sand lake forestry branch headquarters. The snow fell last night, he reported.

CRUSADERS MAP DRIVE TO GUARD U. S. FROM REDS

National Leader Will Be in Chicago Today.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

The Crusaders, militant national organization of young business men who entered the fight for prohibition repeal at a critical time and were instrumental in forcing congress into line on that issue, now are taking the leadership in the struggle to preserve American institutions from various subversive minority groups of Socialist and communist minded people.

Fred G. Clark, of Mentor, O., commander in chief of the Crusaders, will be in Chicago today to confer with Seymour Wheeler, national vice chairman, and other Chicagoans interested in the reorganization and extension of the membership drive. The reorganization plans are expected to be announced in about ten days.

The Crusaders are definitly out in defense of the constitution, in the belief that 90 per cent of the American people stand for continuing the basic principles of democracy, and that one of the great needs of the times is enlightenment as to the benefits that have been accomplished under this form of government. They are strongly anti-communist.

Some of National Advisers.

Among the national advisers of the movement are Aldrich Blake, Oklahoma City; Francis H. Brownell, New York; John W. Davis, New York; Prof. E. W. Kemmerer, Princeton, N. J.; Martin W. Littleton, New York; Alfred P. Sloan Jr., New York; Charles F. Thwing, Cleveland; James P. Warburg, New York, and Sewell L. Avery and Albert D. Lasker, Chicago.

"We have been feeling our way slowly," said Mr. Wheeler last night. "This is no fly by night organization. We have been seeking the proper background for the organization of the new work and now have it. We will be ready soon with our plans."

The fight against communism, which is organized in Chicago in a political way, has been lacking in leadership, according to men well informed of the activities of the Red agitators. The Minute Men of the Constitution, organized by Charles G. Dawes several years ago in 101 counties in Illinois, remains a valuable recruiting ground for workers of this sort, but has been inactive for two or three years.

Paul Reveres Also Active.

The Paul Reveres, a national organization established to counteract communist activities, is also at work in Chicago, as well as the American Vigilant Intelligence federation. The Paul Reveres' president, Col. Edwin Marshall Hadley, has stated that there are 100,000 communists actively at work in the United States at present and more than 4,000,000 "parlor pinks" and others in sympathy with much that communism teaches.

This indicates the size of the job ahead of the Crusaders. The primary aim of the Paul Reveres is to cleanse educational and religious institutions of subversive influences.

The department of Americanization of the American Legion has committees at work, but these have not been active in Illinois. The military and naval intelligence services of the government have information on this subject but it is not for public use.

In the meantime the communist party continues its work from headquarters at 101 South Wells street. Its program for the November election is to vote for the unemployment insurance bill, H. R. 7598, for the right to organize and belong to a union of one's own choice, and to vote against wage cuts and for all other demands of the workers.

An anti-war demonstration is called for this afternoon in Union park. The communists' aim, as stated in their literature, is "to turn war into civil war for the victory of the workers and the toiling masses against the capitalist class."

HYLAN ANNEXES N. Y. RECOVERY PARTY BY QUIET POLITICAL COUP

New York, July 31.—[Special.]—A quiet coup by means of which one man almost single-handed apparently annexed an entire political party with which he hitherto had no connection whatever was revealed today by friends of former Mayor John F. Hylan.

Mr. Hylan, through friends, now owns, lock, stock, and barrel, the Recovery party. It was incorporated by his friends at the office of Secretary of State Edward J. Flynn, one of the originators of the party, at Albany last week.

An indication that the coup was not an idle gesture designed to satisfy the whim of jokesters is seen in the fact that the Recovery party last fall polled 600,000 votes. This large vote could conclusively influence the election of the New York City controler, and in the larger field of the state, wherein the party was incorporated to function, might even decide a governorship.

The immediate significance of the seizure of the Recovery party name is in the coming primary battle for the controlership. Mr. Hylan is said by his friends to be willing to enter the controlership race and the Recovery Party, Inc., will give him its nomination so that no matter whom Tammany nominates there is likely to be a three cornered fight at the polls in November.

EXPRESS FIRM ANNOUNCES CUT IN PLANE RATES

Officials of General Air Express yesterday announced new reductions in rates and the addition of Northwest Airlines to a nation wide system of transport lines affiliated with the express company. At the present time packages dispatched by General Air Express may be carried over 17,317 of the 22,000 miles of airlines operated in the United States.

The new express rates provide for a general downward revision of the schedule of prices per pound and in addition provide flat rates for delivery of three-quarter pound and pound packages between any two cities of the system be they New York and Los Angeles or merely Chicago and Milwaukee. The three-quarter pound package may be sent for 85 cents and the pound parcel for $1.

FIND NEW DEAL BLUNDER BALKS RED DEPORTATION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 31.—[Special.]—The New Dealers today for the first time made serious moves looking toward the deportation of Russian communist agitators who have fanned sparks of labor unrest into the recent outburst of bloody strikes.

Preceding the change of heart by the New Dealers today was the startling disclosure that, when the Roosevelt administration recognized soviet Russia, absolutely no arrangements were made for the deportation of Russian Reds. Not even the ordinary diplomatic guarantees on deportation such as are in force with other countries were obtained from the soviets by the New Dealers.

Agitators Dammed Up in U. S.

Moscow, as a result, has been damming up her agitators in this country by steadily refusing them passports when efforts were made to deport them. The oversight of the New Dealers has played directly into the hands of the Reds.

To extract the New Dealers from their own blunder, Secretary of Labor Perkins today called back into active service Walter W. Husband, assistant secretary of labor under President Hoover and President Coolidge. A Vermont Republican, Mr. Husband was thrown out of office a month ago by the New Dealers to make way for Arthur Altmeyer, a radical from Wisconsin.

Today the labor department was forced to admit that it had appealed to Mr. Husband to return and straighten out the New Dealers' own tangle. He is to work out with Moscow the terms under which Russian Reds can be deported, making the arrangements which the New Dealers failed to make more than half a year ago.

Stung by Criticism.

Appointment of Mr. Husband was the first concrete act the New Dealers have made to rid the country of Red agitators from the home of communism, Russia.

Stung by criticism of the coddling policy toward deportable aliens, the labor department at last began clearing the decks for action against aliens.

Whether Mr. Husband will actually go to Moscow as a technical attaché to the embassy there or whether he will endeavor to work out arrangements from his office in this country has not yet been decided, the labor department said. His official position is special assistant to Secretary Perkins.

Disclosure Startling.

The disclosure that the New Dealers had made no attempt when recognizing the Red régime in Russia to guard against Red agitators in this country came like a bombshell today. The Roosevelt administration took the position during the recognition negotiations last year that it was doing everything possible to guard against subversive propaganda by the Reds in this country.

While they were making this claim, however, the New Dealers, today's developments disclosed, were actually creating a situation in which they would be helpless to rid the country of Russian propaganda agents. No official explanation was forthcoming today on why the state department or President Roosevelt failed to insist that the Reds agree to at least routine deportation arrangements before granting them recognition.

Not a single Russian Red has been shipped out of the country in the eight months since Russian recognition, it was reported today. In the face of the rising tide of communistic activity and the resultant strikes, the New Dealers have been helpless because of their own diplomatic blunder.

NEW YORK BANKERS AGREE TO 50% CUT IN TAX RESERVES

New York, July 31.—[Special.]—The Wall street bankers financing the city government today agreed to a reduction of one-half in the $50,000,000 tax reserve set up by law in the budget to offset delinquent tax collections. That was learned today.

After a bank conference Controler Joseph D. McGoldrick left for Albany with the draft of a bill to permit that revision.

Gov. Lehman, who has been following the attempt to lighten the 1935 budget by $25,000,000 in this manner, is expected to submit the bill at once to the special session of the legislature.

The scaling down in the bankers' demands was said to have been made on the city's showing that tax collections materially had improved, so the bankers consented to $25,000,000 reserve in each year.

If the law is passed it would lighten next year's budget—now being drawn up—from the expected $600,000,000 to about $575,000,000. In this year's budget the pool stipulated by the bankers was $24,000,000, collected in taxes and earmarked as interest payment on the city's financing.

SCHMIDT TO PUT WRECKING CREW IN ACTION TODAY

Building Commissioner Richard E. Schmidt will perform his first public act today when he initiates the demolition of a three story vacant brick residence at 54 West Superior street. Accompanying the new building commissioner in starting Mayor Kelly's demolition campaign will be Health Commissioner Bundesen and Arthur R. Seyferlich, fire commissioner. The ceremony will be at 10:30 a. m.

The North Central association and the Metropolitan Housing council have coöperated in carrying the campaign into the area north and east of the Chicago river.

Miss Hobik was saved by Roy Smergalski, 1849 South Troy street, a member of the party. Wagner graduated last June from the University of Chicago.

THOUSANDS AID BATTLE AGAINST FOREST BLAZES

Spokane, Wash., July 31.—(AP)—New forest fires were reported in the smoke-palled inland northwest today as thousands of fighters sent out word they were controling other blazes on scores of fronts.

The small town of Wardner, Idaho, was threatened for a time today by a fire fanned by a high wind. Several buildings were burned. Loss was estimated at $30,000.

Lightning started new blazes on the Kootenai forest northeast of Bonners Ferry, Idaho, last night. One of these fires today was a roaring conflagration covering some 2,000 acres and running wild. It is inaccessible except to pack trains.

A crew of 150 men was fighting desperately to control a small blaze near Noravia, southwest of Bonners Ferry.

Other fires started during the night, the forest service here and at Missoula, Mont., reported, included one 25 miles southwest of Darby, Mont.; one on Fire mountain on the Selway river in Montana, and several west of Missoula.

Convict Barbers Use Only Jagged Razors on Guards

Warden Frank D. Whipp of the Joliet penitentiary received a complaint from six husky guards yesterday that the convicts assigned to the barber shop hurt their faces when shaving them. Investigation disclosed unstropped razors with jagged edges had been reserved by four of the convict barbers for work on the guards. Warden Whipp ordered that the four barbers be assigned to shave only their fellow convicts hereafter.

SPENDING BY U. S. HALTS RECOVERY, GOV. ELY WARNS

Not until the government halts its spending program will business be given the reassurance necessary for natural recovery, Gov. Joseph B. Ely of Massachusetts said yesterday. The governor was a Fair visitor en route to his home after attending the governors' conference at Mackinac island.

"We are in a race between the recovery of business and the exhaustion of government credit," he asserted. "The government must stop its spending program, except for relief of the destitute, before business takes the road to recovery."

Gov. Ely predicted that if the present course of the NRA is not halted it will lead to rigid state socialism, because the essence of the NRA is government control of industry. He declared Massachusetts would adopt no state NRA law, because the best features of the NRA already were on the state's statute books and the undesirable features had no place in American life and should be dropped.

KEEP NEW FOUND RACE UNCLOTHED, PREACHER'S PLEA

LONDON, July 31.—(AP)—Hopes that the recently discovered race of people in New Guinea will not be "forced into clothes" were expressed tonight by the Rev. H. G. Sherwin of Gosport, missionary in the section where the people were found. The discovery of the people, said to be of Semitic origin, was reported some weeks ago by Melanesian missionaries.

"The greatest mistake western civilization has made is to put natives into clothes," Sherwin said. "Clothing destroys their simplicity of outlook and inculcates vice and immorality.

"These people ordinarily have a high standard of morality, walking about as they do in very sparse clothing, sometimes no clothes at all, they are not possessed of the sexual exaggerations we have in civilization. Apart from the inculcation of immorality, medically you are paving the way for skin diseases and respiratory trouble in the humid heat of the tropics. The more of the body exposed the better."

SENTENCED FOR AD ON 'MEXICAN LEGAL MATTERS'

Los Angeles, Cal., July 31.—(AP)—The theory that any one who advertises he handles "Mexican legal matters" and later agrees to procure a Mexican divorce for a client calling in response to the advertisment, violates the California law prohibiting solicitation of divorce business, was advanced by the city attorney's office today.

This reasoning was used in the case of Charles E. Shirey, who pleaded guilty to a charge of divorce advertising and was sentenced to pay a fine of $250 or serve 125 days in jail.

POPE PREPARES TO MOVE INTO SUMMER CASTLE

VATICAN CITY, July 31.—(AP)—Pope Pius XI. late this week will break a precedent of 65 years' standing by leaving the Vatican for a summer vacation at Castel Gandolfo, it was disclosed today by church authorities. The summer residence of the head of the church is 1,400 feet high in the Alban hills near Rome. Pope Pius has not spent a night outside the Vatican since his ascendancy.

Attendants and prelates worked busily through one of the hottest days of the present summer preparing for the pontiff's departure, which, according to the announcement, is to take place Friday or Saturday. There were persistent reports in semi-official circles, however, that the pope may slip out of Vatican City quietly after sundown tomorrow. The pope, it was said in these circles, wishes to escape the pomp and ceremony that was a feature of moves to the summer palace in the olden days.

Pope Pius seemed determined to finish all matters pressing for his attention. Today he received two American prelates, the Argentine ambassador to the Holy See, a group of Italian-American boys, and ten American Athletic institute directors. There was other important business, and part of the day he devoted to perusal of detailed reports on the Austrian situation.

Jailed for "Correcting" Child with Gas Flame

Los Angeles, Cal., July 31.—(AP)—Charged with holding her 8 year old daughter's arm over a gas flame "to make her a good girl," Mrs. Consuela Acelédo today began serving a 180 day jail sentence for battery. The child was treated for burns after a neighbor found her asleep in a garage.

CAMP ALGONQUIN FUND GETS $5,000 GIFT OF TRIBUNE

Golden Gloves Receipts Go to Charity.

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

A $5,000 gift to the Camp Algonquin fund from the receipts of the Golden Gloves tournament sponsored annually by this newspaper, was announced yesterday by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. This is the second Golden Gloves gift of $5,000 to be made during the past two weeks to a charity supported by TRIBUNE readers. The other $5,000 was turned over to the free ice fund during the height of the heat wave.

The Camp Algonquin gift will finance two week vacations for 555 mothers and children. Through this gift, impoverished families will have an opportunity without the slightest expense to themselves to experience the joys of a real vacation in the country; to boat, swim, hike and to build up their bodies with wholesome food and long hours of sleep. The camp for many years has been administered by the United Charities, and a large portion of its support has been contributed by TRIBUNE readers.

Other Gifts Received.

Yesterday the Hotel Woman's association of Chicago sent $10 to the Camp Algonquin fund, and "anonymous" sent $1. This gives the fund a total of $913.06 received from TRIBUNE readers. More money will be needed and friends of the camp are urged to continue their support until every needy mother and child will have had the promised vacation.

Among the noteworthy gifts to the free ice fund which is a special boon to babies and the sick, was $3.50, the proceeds of a lemonade stand operated by Mary Jane Mulholland, 7 years old, of 6750 Oglesby avenue, and Patricia Sider, 8 years old, of 6752 Oglesby avenue. The gifts to the fund in full were:

FREE ICE FUND.

$10—Anonymous, Hotel Woman's Association of Chicago.
$5—Agnes B. Murray.
$3.50—Proceeds of lemonade stand.
$2—W. H. Johnston estate.
$1—Young People's club of St. Timothy's Episcopal church, A. T. J.
Total—$32.50.
Previously acknowledged—$6,286.32.
Grand total—$6,318.82.

Contributions to both funds should be sent to the cashier of THE TRIBUNE, Tribune Tower.

U. S. TREASURY SAFE CRACKED OPEN, BUT BY OFFICIAL ORDERS

Washington, D. C., July 31.—(AP)—A safe in the United States treasury was cracked today—but it was done officially.

There was great gloom in the department when a lock bolt slipped accidentally as cash and checks were being removed from a safe in the disbursements section for the semimonthly pay day.

It would have remained locked for 24 hours, delaying the pay day that long, but workmen were called in to open the safe, with instructions to burn out the lock if necessary.

The safe, a new one with all the most modern protective features, proved to be as difficult to break into as it was supposed to be. It took experts almost four hours to get into it with an acetylene torch.

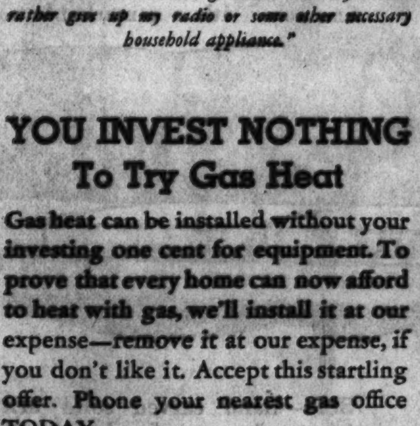
ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

"We like Gas Heat, YES sir! and we're going to keep it"

Instead of spending his time hauling ashes, tending furnace or cleaning up the basement Mr. Brabec has the pleasure of a game of billiards with his daughter Helen.



Mr. Brabec is sold on gas heat. He says: "I'd rather give up my radio or some other necessary household appliance."

Mr. John Brabec, 2437 So. 61st Court, Cicero, Ill., another enthusiast for gas heat, tells his story.

"GIVE up gas heat? No sir! We like it too much." That's what John Brabec has to say when you ask him whether he'll go back to his old heating methods. He has made up his mind that there is no other kind of heat that will do the job in his home. After years of fussing and fuming, after thousands of extra steps made necessary by furnace tending day and night, the Brabecs at last have a perfect heating system. Their home is free of soot and dirt—and it stays clean. Listen to what Mrs. Brabec says: "Our house never gets covered with soot and dirt the way it used to. Why, do you know that although we've used gas heat only one season it has already saved us about $50.00 in cleaning bills."

No furnace worries next Winter

Now—before you order next Winter's fuel supply—investigate gas heat. Make your plans for a carefree Winter—no furnace worries, no basement muss, no drudgery. Get the facts about low cost gas heat. The radical reduction of rates—now less than half of what they were a few years ago—has made gas heat practical for every home. And it's easy to try gas heat. You do not invest one cent for equipment. Try gas heat for one month, two months, a year, before you decide. While you are trying it you pay only $3 a month rental for the burner during the 9 heating months in the average home. This charge is included with the bill for the gas you use. If at any time within the year you decide you don't like gas heat—and you are the sole judge—we'll remove it and replace your former heating equipment in good workmanlike condition.

Order gas heat now

It will pay you to order gas heat now. Think of it. A clean basement all year around. And next Winter no coal shoveling, hauling ashes, getting up at daybreak to fix the fire. With gas heat you fire your furnace from your easy chair by simply setting a little thermostat on the wall.

Phone your local gas company today for free estimate and full details of our startling offer.

YOU INVEST NOTHING To Try Gas Heat

Gas heat can be installed without your investing one cent for equipment. To prove that every home can now afford to heat with gas, we'll install it at our expense—remove it at our expense, if you don't like it. Accept this startling offer. Phone your nearest gas office TODAY.

This Summer Invite The World To Chicago

"THE GAS—WILL IT LIGHT?"

In 83 years of serving gas to the city of Chicago we have never heard of any customer who seriously asked that question when he touched the handle on the gas range.

Few people give it a thought, so unfailingly reliable is gas service. Gas is ALWAYS there at the burner, ready at a touch. It was there when Abraham Lincoln made his Gettysburg Address; it was there on the day that Lindbergh landed in France; and it is there right now.

RHODE ISLAND TO BE HONORED AT FAIR TODAY

Gov. Green to Get Salute of 19 Guns at 11 A. M.

BY EARL MULLIN.

Rhode Island day will be observed at A Century of Progress today with Gov. T. F. Green as guest of honor. The governor and a party of state officials will arrive at the Court of Honor at 11 a. m. to be greeted with a nineteen gun salute and a military review of soldiers, sailors and marines from Camp Roosevelt at the Fair.

Associated with the observance of the state day are various programs to be given by alumni of Brown university. Members of the official party and members of the Chicago Brown Alumni club are to have luncheon at noon in the trustees' room in the Administration building.

Officials in NRA Program.

Plans were completed yesterday for NRA day tomorrow. Gen. Hugh Johnson, national recovery administrator, is to speak on the lagoon theater at 8 p. m. His address will be broadcast by the public address system throughout the grounds.

Other officials taking part in the program include John E. Cassidy, state NRA director; Barnet Hodes, state tax commissioner; Gov. Horner, Mayor Kelly and R. G. Soderstrom, president of the State Federation of Labor.

At midnight the official attendance count was 82,662.

This figure was exceeded for a Tuesday only on July 17, when the paid admissions reached 93,609. Until yesterday no other Tuesday came within 20,000 of that record. So far the Fair has been encouraged by four days in a row of record breaking attendance.

Souvenirs for All Comers.

Today is expected to continue the attendance rise with the state program enhanced by other special events. For the second time souvenir hunters will find today a happy hunting ground in the Food and Agriculture building.

Each visitor will be given small packages of food, knick-knacks, and all manner of samples. The first souvenir day was a great success and today's repeat performance was asked by thousands of visitors.

Coast Guard to Note 144th Birthday Saturday at Fair

The 144th anniversary of the founding of the coast guard, the oldest naval service in the country, will be celebrated at A Century of Progress Saturday in conjunction with a country-wide observance. A coast guard fleet to anchor at the Fair all day will include the Escanaba and the Rush, largest cutters on the Great Lakes, and several picket boats, surfboats, and lifeboats. The smaller vessels will be in the lagoon.

Drills, including a radio directed lifeboat exercise in which a shore crew will send a boat to a certain spot in the lagoon as though to rescue a drowning man, will be staged.

SEIZES TARGET RIFLE AT FAIR; SHOOTS WORKER

Seizing a .22 caliber rifle from a nearby shooting gallery last evening, an ex-employé at the Swanee River concession at the World's Fair shot and probably fatally wounded a former fellow worker.

The victim was Will Sanders, Negro, 44 years old, 1936 Warren boulevard, whose job it is to sit on a small platform while patrons hurl baseballs at a target in an effort to drop him into a tank of water. Police said John Patrick, Negro, 32, 5056 State street, was the assailant.

Police said the two men quarreled, Patrick evidently blaming Sanders for his dismissal. The wounded man was taken to the Chicago Memorial hospital while police searched the Fair grounds for Patrick.

CITY UNCOVERS WATER METER FRAUDS; 3 HELD

100 Questioned; Seven Concerns Involved.

More than 100 officials and employés of 29 laundry and dairy companies were questioned last night as the state's attorney's office began a sweeping investigation into water meter frauds which are believed to have cost the city $60,000 in revenue in recent months.

The frauds were brought to the attention of the state's attorney by Commissioner of Public Works Oscar Hewitt, who had noticed unusually heavy reductions in the water revenues from certain laundries and dairies. A survey by the city engineering department disclosed that their meters had been changed to cut the water bills.

Three Under Arrest.

Three men were under arrest last night. One is a city employé. Neither of the others was employed by the companies involved. Officials of seven companies are said to have admitted they had paid money to have their plant water meters adjusted to show a smaller flow of water than was actually used. These officials and the others seized were released, but will return for questioning today.

The men held are Edward Reiter, 33 years old, 3151 South Springfield avenue, employed as a chauffeur in the city water bureau for the last eleven years; Albert Dorsey, 3260 Maypole avenue, alleged contact man for Reiter, and Samuel Goldberg, 1537 South Tripp avenue, formerly connected with the Smith High Grade laundry, 1617 South Crawford avenue.

Goldberg admitted he had paid a man to change the meter at the laundry, and at a showup of the water department employés he identified Reiter as the man. Reiter said the meters were fixed by tampering with their gears. He named Dorsey as the one who solicited plant owners. Dorsey was arrested in his home after he had made arrangements for Reiter to change a meter in a laundry at 4829 West Division street. Dorsey confessed changing 43 meters and said that he and Reiter charged from $10 to $200 for each fix.

Seven Companies Listed.

The seven concerns said to have had their meters changed are the Archer Wet Wash laundry, 3867 Archer avenue; the Schuttler Wet Wash laundry, 4829 West Division street; the Normal Wet Wash laundry, 7432 South State street; the Cascade laundry, 7930 South Racine avenue; the Palmer Square Dairy company, 3565 Palmer street; the Kreml Dairy company, 2415 South Kostner avenue, and the Happy Day laundry, 2605 Armitage avenue.

After officials of the companies had been questioned by Capt. Daniel Gilbert, chief investigator for the state's attorney, it was announced by Assistant State's Attorney Vernon Thompson that charges would be brought against those owners who had wilfully defrauded the city.

Mr. Hewitt said he began the investigation after he discovered that water revenues in the city had dropped from 13½ million to 11 million dollars in the last year.

CENTURY OF PROGRESS NOTES

A WATER version of the fan dance is promised as a bit of comedy on the inauguration program of water events at 6:15 p. m. today at the Holland Dutch Village. Also on the program will be a canoe tilting contest and aquatic theatrical acts staged by a team composed of Lincoln Park Boat club members.

Students and teachers wishing literature or posters of A Century of Progress may receive them by registering at the travel and information booth in the Sears building at the Fair.

The George Washington, one of the largest locomotives put into service by the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad, has been lent for three weeks for appearances in "Wings of a Century."

Entries for the World's Fair radio audition will close at midnight Aug. 11, it was announced yesterday by officials of the contest. More than four thousand entrants have already filed their applications and the large number of voices to be heard may necessitate an extension of time to allow the preliminaries to be run off.

The first of a series of preliminary contests to find the most beautiful Irish girl in Chicago, who will be crowned Miss Shamrock I, and made queen of Irish day at A Century of Progress on Aug. 15, will start tomorrow evening on the stage of the Irish Village on the Fair grounds.

Four brown and white spotted babies were born to the deer in the Motorboat and Sportsman's show yesterday at the Travel and Transport building. Named Sam, Joe, Frank, and Ethel, they consume six quarts of milk every meal, using large size nursing bottles.

Aug. 12, expected to be the biggest day of the 1934 Century of Progress, will be the 101st anniversary of the incorporation of the city of Chicago. This day will also be the windup of Chicago week and the starting of National Farm week at the Fair.

Hundreds of miniature coaches modeled after the carriages used for the coronation and wedding of Napoleon were moved into the Hall of Progress of the General Motors building at the Fair last night. This morning judging is to begin in the coach contest sponsored by the Fisher Body Craftsmen's guild throughout the United States and Canada for boys 12 to 19 years old.

CAPTURE 2 OF 5 WHO WALKED OUT OF 'PAPER PRISON'

One Bandit Is Shot by Missouri Mayor.

Mexico, Mo., July 31.—[Special.]—Two of the five convicted bandits who escaped from the "paper prison" at Michigan City, Ind., Saturday were captured here today. One of the convicts was seriously wounded by Mayor W. A. Debo, who aided Chief of Police Robert W. Baker in the seizure.

The men captured are John Burnett, 24, who was serving a ten year term, and William C. Jay, 43, who was doing twenty years. Burnett was shot.

Mayor Debo, who is also a deputy sherif, and Chief Baker were walking down the street together when they saw the two fugitives sitting in a parked car near the high school campus.

Decides to Question Them.

"I think I'll question those men," the police chief said. "They look like suspicious characters."

He walked over to the car and as he neared it one of the convicts produced a revolver and held him at bay. From across the street Mayor Debo saw what had happened. He promptly drew his pistol and fired, the bullet striking Burnett in the chest. Jay immediately surrendered.

The convicts still wore their prison uniforms when they were captured. In their car, which the fugitives said they stole in Illinois, police found two shotguns and several rounds of ammunition.

Jay said they crossed the Mississippi river at Alton, Ill., in their flight and had spent last night at Columbia, Mo. He and Burnett separated from the other convicts soon after their escape, police were told.

Warden Louis E. Kunkel of the Indiana prison was notified of the capture. He informed police here that he would send officers to return them as soon as possible.

Burnett was taken to a hospital where physicians said his wound was serious. Jay was lodged in the county jail, pending the arrival of Indiana officers.

Hitch Hiking North.

Evansville, Ind., July 31.—(AP)—Kenneth Rogers, 22, one of five prisoners who escaped from the Indiana state prison Saturday, and a companion believed to be Maurice O'Flaherty, 25, another of the convicts, are on their way north after a daring sortie into this county last night, authorities said tonight.

The fugitives are hitch-hiking, according to officers who said they trailed them to Patoka.

Rogers was identified by several witnesses as the bandit who shot and wounded Horace Hutchinson, 45, filling station operator, in a holdup carried out by two men here last night. The other was identified from pictures as O'Flaherty.

MACHINE GUN BANDITS FIGHT; ESCAPE POLICE

Four men in a light sedan yesterday afternoon took $500 in merchandise and $80 in cash in a holdup of the Albany Park Service station at 2919 Lawrence avenue and then engaged in a running machine gun battle with two squads of police for several miles before outdistancing them at Washtenaw and Belmont avenues.

While one of the men stayed at the wheel of the car the other three bandits entered the service station and forced Charles Deraday, the proprietor, to surrender the merchandise and cash. One of the robbers carried a machine gun.

The holdup was flashed over the police radio and Policemen Jesse Young and August Rosencrans of the Albany Park station arrived on the scene as the men were leaping into their car.

The policemen opened fire and the machine gunner returned the shots, coolly standing his ground while his companions started their car. He then jumped into the car and continued firing as the car went west on Lawrence avenue, with the police in pursuit.

Policemen George Schupolsky, Henry Larson, and Thomas Smith joined in the chase in another squad car. The exchange of shots continued, but the police lost sight of the gunmen at Washtenaw and Belmont avenues.

A car believed to have been the one used by the fugitives was found later at Dominick and Custer streets. It was charred by fire and there were bullet holes in the body. The car had been stolen from J. O. Kuler of Houston, Tex., June 26 while he was visiting relatives at 3947 Greenview avenue.

COUNTERFEITER RING 'BRAINS' HELD, POLICE SAY AFTER SEIZING 5

New York, July 31.—[Special.]—With the arrest today of five men, following raids on engraving plants here and in New Jersey, police and federal authorities believe they have in custody the "brains" of a counterfeiting ring which has been flooding local race tracks with fake $5 bills.

Between $200,000 and $250,000 worth of bills have been circulated, police say.

Those arrested were: Dante Faccio, 37, vice president of the Acme Reproducing corporation, an expert engraver, who is charged with having made the plates from which the bills were printed; Bernard Rousseau, 39, of Nutley, N. J., proprietor of the Modern Crafts corporation of North Arlington, N. J.; Dominick Carbisiere, 33, of Union City, an officer of the Empire Engraving corporation; Frank Milano, 22, of Corona, an employé of the Empire company, and Robert Corella, 39, of Jersey City.

CAMERAMAN FOR MAE WEST SUES ON UNION FUNDS

Los Angeles, Cal., July 31.—(AP)—Alleging misuse of $100,000 in emergency welfare funds, Karl Struss, cameraman for Mae West at the Paramount studios, filed suit today for an accounting against the International Photographers of the Motion Picture Industry, the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employés, and the Motion Picture Machine Operators of the United States and Canada.

Also named as a defendant was Howard E. Hurd, who was asked to make the accounting to Struss, who said he acted in a representative capacity in behalf of the photographers' union.

POSSES SEEK 2 DILLINGER MEN IN NORTH WOODS

Sherif's posses searched yesterday in northern Wisconsin for George (Baby Face) Nelson and John Hamilton, two members of John Dillinger's outlaw band still at large. Authorities were advised that the two men had been seen at Wausau, Merrill, and elsewhere in the north woods region.

At Chippewa Falls a posse reported what was believed to be a clew. A claim tag found in a woodland cabin of Chippewa county bore the name of Fred Surkamer, gunsmith at 54 West Lake street.

Squads of Chicago police went to Surkamer's shop. The tag proved to be a claim check left for a .22 caliber rifle which Surkamer had repaired recently for John H. Gibson of 934 Judson avenue, Evanston. Gibson said he had taken the rifle on a vacation in Chippewa county.

Three Election Judges Fined on Fraud Charges

Three election judges in the 30th precinct of the 22d ward during the November, 1932, election were fined $75 each by Judge Win G. Knoch of Wheaton, sitting in the County court here, on contempt of court charges resulting from an alleged false canvass of votes. They were George F. Brichacek, 2429 South Turner avenue; John J. Zizak, 2416 South Sawyer avenue, both Democratic, and Anton Hons, 2434 South Sawyer avenue, Republican. Judge Knoch held that the men were negligent rather than deliberately fraudulent.

'Shermikas' Hard to Say; She Changes It to 'Ek'

Miss Emily Shermikas, 24 years old, took a short name yesterday when she was married in the Church of the Nazarene in Joliet to R. J. Ek. On their marriage license application the couple gave their addresses merely as Chicago.

CAPTURE CLARKE, KANSAS CONVICT; A PAL OF BAILEY

Tulsa, Okla., Aug. 1 [Wednesday].—(AP)—Jim Clarke, who fled the Kansas state penitentiary at Lansing, Kas., on Memorial day in 1933 with Harvey Bailey and other desperadoes, was reported to have been captured here today by Tulsa detectives and a squad of federal operatives.

Details of the arrest of Clarke were not immediately available. At police headquarters it was announced the escaped convict had been arrested by a "squad of federal officers and city detectives."

Clarke, a bank robber, figured in two sensational escapes from the Kansas penitentiary. He was recaptured after the Memorial day escape in 1933, but escaped again last Jan. 19 with six other prisoners.

Countess of Carlisle Pays Brief Visit to World's Fair

She made a flying visit to the Fair before going on to New York, where she will catch a boat today for England. Disney Sues to Halt Use of Mickey Mouse on Cartons

A petition seeking to restrain three Chicago companies from using the faces and figures of comic characters he has created was filed in the federal court yesterday by Walt E. Disney. The companies are the Sawyer Biscuit company, the Chicago Carton company, and the United Biscuit company. Disney seeks to enjoin them from use of drawings of "Mickey and Minnie Mouse, Horace Horsecollar and Clarabella Cow," and seeks damages of $1 for each picture appearing on each box produced or used by the companies.

UNIDENTIFIED YOUTH KILLED.

South Bend, Ind., July 31.—[Special.]—An unidentified youth believed the victim of a hit-and-run motorist died in Epworth hospital here today after he was found on U. S. highway 20 west of here. The only clew to his identity was a bread wrapper bearing the name of a Windsor, Ont., bakery.

"Give me but the liberty of the press and I will give to the minister a venal house of peers. I will give him a corrupt and servile house of commons. I will give him the full swing of the patronage of office. I will give him the whole host of ministerial influence. I will give him all the power that place can confer upon him, to purchase up submission and overawe resistance; and yet, armed with the liberty of the press, I will go forth to meet him undismayed. I will attack the mighty fabric of that mightier engine. I will shake down from its height corruption and bury it beneath the ruins of the abuses it was meant to shelter."

—Richard Brinsley Sheridan.

THE SIEGE OF MINNEAPOLIS.

The city of Minneapolis is undergoing an experience unique in American annals. The essential service of supply of the community having been paralyzed by a lawless organization of force, a partisan dictatorship by the governor of the state has been imposed contrary to rights of the community at large and to the will of local authority. This dictatorship, intended to force parties to an industrial controversy to yield to the demands of strikers and radical agitators, is now beginning to break down. Food is now allowed to move and trucks engaged in interstate transport are released. These concessions to law and order are in effect confessions of a state of blockade permitted and supported contrary to law by the chief legal authority of the commonwealth of Minnesota, who has been using the instrumentalities at his disposal for the enforcement of law and order to impose his own partisan purposes upon this community.

The explanation of this lawless and subversive conduct is to be found in the fact that the governor is the head of a party which has declared for a program of revolutionary policy and action, proposing government ownership and operation of all natural resources, of the machinery of production, transportation, and communication, but significantly omitting the chief resource of the state, agriculture.

The governor's intervention in the Minneapolis situation has been in accord with these purposes and has been unmistakably directed to demoralize, injure, and so far as possible strangle the industrial and commercial enterprise of the city. For the aid of his purpose this partisan dictator has permitted the return after expulsion of communist agitators who had been active in the organization of lawless violence and can be depended upon to preach openly what the governor himself dare not say. To give appearance of impartiality or respect for the civil rights of the community, the governor-dictator has not attempted to suppress the press and claims credit for permitting the circulation of the "tory Chicago Tribune" as an offset to the release upon the community of communist agitators of mob violence.

This pretense has a significant background. Olson, now governor, argued the constitutionality of the notorious press gag law of Minnesota permitting the suppression as a nuisance by process of injunction of any publication that a government in power found obnoxious in exposure of its conduct. Olson as prosecuting attorney of Hennepin county suppressed two newspapers under this law, but upon his elevation to the governorship, public opinion having been aroused to the flagrant attack upon freedom of the press represented by the gag law, he found it expedient to propose its repeal on the ground that freedom of speech and of the press should remain inviolate and that the gag law was unsafe as an entering wedge into their inviolability.

This about-face was unnecessary so far as the legal freedom of the press in Minnesota is concerned, since the Supreme court of the United States in the case of the editor Near vs. Minnesota, which was taken to that court by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, held the gag law unconstitutional. It is under the ægis of this decision that THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE enters Minnesota in this crisis.

Little did THE TRIBUNE think when it intervened on behalf of press freedom in Minnesota that this case would be used to maintain civil right in a conflict of Americanism with red revolution. But in spite of Olson's pretense of respect for press freedom after the protest against the gag law had become formidable, the views and conduct of that individual before and since leave no doubt of his intention to suppress civil right so far as it seems to him safe or politically possible.

Minneapolis and Minnesota are still in the American republic, but events of recent months must make it clear to every loyal citizen that under cover of a labor dispute this community is engaged in a fight for the preservation of fundamental American principles against a ruthless conspiracy to destroy private enterprise and private right and to erect upon the ruins a communist tyranny by the only means red revolutionaries can hope will prevail, mob violence.

FATE OF THE EXPLORER.

The complete failure of the latest invasion of the stratosphere raises some questions which the gallantry and devotion of the officers who took part in the adventure will not repress. So far as the morale of Maj. Kepner and Capts. Stevens and Anderson is concerned there can be nothing but admiration. They maintained the standard of high courage and self-sacrifice which the American soldier has established on the battlefields of the republic and in all conditions of peril and responsibility in times of peace.

But why the dismal collapse of this elaborate experiment as a practical enterprise? Why could a Belgian civilian, a man from the cloisters of academic research, organize, equip, and successfully carry out a similar enterprise, while men of action representing the American army failed after long and presumably thorough preparation? The fiasco underlines the tragic experience of the army air corps when suddenly ordered to take over the air mail service, and the public will ponder these practical failures with a good deal of anxiety, which the splendid courage and devotion revealed will hardly allay. Is the criticism of army aviation justified in these disclosures? Is there something peculiarly defective in that service, or are we to look for explanation to the inherent weakness of burocracy?

Lieutenant Commander Settle's successful flight was certainly creditable to himself and may represent an efficiency in aeronautics achieved by the navy, but the civilian public considering the fate of the Explorer will more than suspect that if this enterprise had been prepared and directed by civilian specialists trained in the exacting discipline of civil activities it would not have failed as this army project has.

Our national government is now under the direction and inspiration of theorists who have an unlimited faith in the capacity of officials to manage the multifarious activities of the private enterprise of a hundred and thirty million Americans. Such experience as the nation has had with the ways of burocracy, to say nothing of the greater experience of other peoples, past and present, can hardly encourage the American people to accept the burocratic panacea.

HITLER AS PLAGIARIST.

It is somewhat amazing that Mr. Donald Richberg, general counsel for NRA, has not called Herr Hitler to account for plagiarism.

A few weeks ago, after Roehm, Von Schleicher, Frau von Schleicher, and the rest had been shot down, Der Führer arose before his handpicked reichstag to defend his conduct. In the course of that speech he listed the kinds of people who were so misguided as to oppose him. One kind he described in the following words:

"Those political leaders who sensed that with Jan. 30 [the date on which Hitler took over the government] their future was ended but who cannot reconcile themselves irrevocably to this fact. The more that time wraps their impotence in the merciful mantle of forgetfulness the more they believe themselves gradually entitled to bring themselves again to public attention. . . . They can no longer prove their worth through constructive and useful work but must find their chief purpose in life in criticism which is as disingenuous as it is mendacious."

That was Hitler. On Nov. 4, 1933, eight months earlier, Mr. Richberg in Philadelphia had said:

"It will be interesting to note the roll of the opponents of the recovery program as they gradually emerge from the cyclone cellars to which they retired on the fourth of March. It is evident already that the roll is likely to include most of the discredited and incompetent leaders of private and public affairs who guided the American people down into the depths of the depression while they themselves worked feverishly to save their private fortunes by betraying their obligations to those who trusted them."

Maybe Mr. Hitler didn't swipe the idea. Maybe he and Richberg just naturally think the same generous thoughts.

Editorial of the Day

[Detroit News.]

Even the casual observer can note the mounting sentiment of the people against price fixing in the NRA codes.

In theory there is much to be said in favor of price fixing. If wages are to be raised, it stands to reason that prices must go up, and to prevent gouging the increased prices should be made uniform. But in practice difficulties are sometimes encountered.

Southern lumbermen complain that price fixing has driven some purchasers to cheaper grades of lumber, has driven others out of the market entirely, and has caused considerable chiseling by sellers who prefer to take a chance of losing their Blue Eagles to closing down for lack of business. In New York a coal dealer says the code prices are too high, that he can make a good profit at lower rates, and that he intends to do so. A Wisconsin firm, threatened with loss of its eagle unless it conforms to the code, says it hasn't got an eagle, never asked for one, wouldn't take one if it were offered, and intends to do business as it pleases.

The latest price fixing manifestation that hits a large section of the public is the boost in cigaret prices, due, it is alleged, to the fact that several concerns have been selling cigarets at little or no profit to draw customers to their other goods. The new uniform price announced was $1.25 a carton. They are still on sale at less than that figure in many of the stores which the price fixing was supposed to regulate.

We have a sneaking suspicion that price fixing by code is not going to work any better than prohibition by constitutional provision.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

ONCE AGAIN!

GOOD morning, this first day of August with R. H. L. motoring to Nantucket, Mass., to fulfill his fond wish to gaze upon 3,000 miles of water after the drouth prevailing in this section!

Thus it is that we, The Wake from the sports pages, come forth to these precincts to pinch hit with a combined Wake-Line during the interregnum. Despite sympathetic coöperation in former years from both contributors to The Line and from Helpers of The Wake, we always feel a certain diffidence in assuming a rôle temporary and unfamiliar except for these annual visits.

Subject matter, of necessity, must be different from that to which regular readers are accustomed. It should retain, if possible, characteristics of The Line so followers may not be alienated. It must give Wake features for those Helpers who journey over here from the sports pages.

So there is a bit of bravado in our annual invitation to Line contributors and to Wake Helpers to get together, bring your own sandwiches and liquids and have a little picnic while the boss is away. Still there are many things we may publish of which R. H. L. might not approve. Let's try it while he is gazing at 3,000 miles of water. Also, we purpose to be generous in allotment of space to contributors, for, as you know, August is likely to be a warm month, suggesting lassitude. Perhaps we better have another Birthday party for R. H. L. on the proper date. At any rate, here we are, so let's go!

THE ROBE OF HSI SHIH.

(Chinese Theater Exhibit, A Century of Progress.)

Pale lady of the lustrous gown
Blue-green as tropic waters gleaming
Under opal skies, your robe
Has set another woman dreaming

Of how long, long ago you made
A Chinese lord forget the art
Of warfare while your beauty wound
Its delicate coils about his heart

Till he was vanquished by the foe
Who had bestowed you on your lord—
Sly foe who knew your loveliness
Would prove more potent than the sword.

I think your lover little cared
About a dukedom lost if you
Remained, Hsi Shih, like some bright bird
Beside him in your gown of blue.

Since you were exquisite sole cause,
The savour of his first defeat,
Slim lady of the turquoise robe,
Must have been curiously sweet!

FOR ANY WHO MAY be curious, let us present the picture of R. H. L.'s sanctum, Room 1107, which we entered by use of two keys which he did not forget to leave this time. In one corner is a filing cabinet of eight compartments. Two typewriter desks are piled high with newspapers, so it is not possible to see whether or not they contain machines. Atop is a note from R. H. L. that the papers may be thrown away if we have no use for them by just dropping them on the floor which they will completely carpet.

There is a table piled high with mail, now opened and sorted. There are two bookcases, one nearly empty. From the other, three volumes, among the many therein, stare straight at us sitting at the portable table on which rests a typewriter with the r's and c's not sticking as in 1933. These volumes are entitled, respectively, "Thin Air," "A Prohibition Primer" and "Who's Who in America—1926-'27." So much for inspiration. THE ROOM IS AIR COOLED.

IT'S A RUB OF THE GREEN.

Wake-Line: I am in a quandary how to answer my old friend, Ben, who writes from Rhinelander, Wis:

"Wilbur and I played golf at Smokey lake Sunday. Wilbur made a long approach shot. The ball rolled across the green directly toward the cup. About three feet from the cup, the ball struck a frog and the frog jumped into the hole. Now, I don't often consult city slickers, but I am very anxious about this play and would like to have your opinion on how to score such a phenomenal shot."

I have looked all through The Tribune Book of Facts and find nothing covering the situation. What would you suggest? City Slicker.

MEDICAL PRACTICE.

Overheard at the Chicago Symphony concert at A Century of Progress:

The melodious voice of Mr. Goss announcing Dr. Eric DeLamarter. The voice of a man behind us saying, "Oh, so he's a doctor, is he? No wonder he went in the music business. There's no money in handing pills to sick people these days."

KIDNEY DISEASE.

PHYSICIANS who give special attention to diseases of the kidneys are constantly astonished at the remarkable power of endurance displayed by this special tissue. Although relatively small in size, the kidneys constitute a huge filtering plant, with more than five million separate filtering units. A Dutch investigator has estimated, from rather careful measurements, that the capillary loops in the human kidneys, if straightened out and placed end to end, would extend between thirty and forty miles.

Naturally the kidneys, like any other body structure, may be attacked by disease. There are tumors and cysts of the kidney, but more important than these is degeneration caused by infection, by toxins, or by increased blood pressure.

That type of kidney disease called acute nephritis is at first inflammatory. This is more frequent in children and in young adults, and tonsilitis and scarlet fever are the more common causes. During the acute stage the face may appear puffy, the skin may have a typical pallor, and albumin and sometimes blood will appear in the urine. In most cases the acute stage passes off within a few days or a few weeks. The difficulty lies, however, in the fact that some damage may have been done to the kidney and if this has occurred the acute phase may be followed by slowly progressive, chronic changes.

Chronic kidney disease may not at first show recognizable symptoms. The physician, however, is always on the alert for insidious changes and will more frequently than not recognize them when present if given the opportunity. A great deal can be accomplished in kidney disease that is recognized early.

Sometimes degeneration may occur in the kidney that is not the result of true kidney disease. It follows destruction of capillaries and small arteries all over the body. Damage of this character is termed sclerosis and occurs as a result of general arteriosclerosis, many phases of which are not entirely understood. Destruction of capillaries in the kidney substance may greatly reduce the number of filtering units, with resulting loss of function.

A careful physician can determine with fair accuracy the amount of damage a kidney has sustained and his advice and management will in most instances not only prolong life but keep the patient active and comfortable. Diet plays an important rôle. Careful attention must be paid to salt concentration in the body and adequate elimination secured via the skin and the bowels. A yearly physical inventory of oneself should be as important as a yearly audit of one's accounts.

We must, however, learn to live more calmly. Important structures like the kidney, with working parts more delicate than gossamerlike lace, must be respected. A bit of rare china may be replaced if broken, perhaps not with the same pattern but with another piece equally as useful. Kidney tissue once destroyed cannot be replaced. The remaining normal tissue, however, may be assisted to function efficiently and it is to that end that the careful physician serves indispensably.

BONE TUBERCULOSIS.

S. L. writes: In 1912 I had a bad sprain in my left leg. Tuberculosis set in. The leg was operated on four times. The last operation was slightly successful. It lasted from 1913 to 1934. In recent months it began to give me trouble and finally gave way. Swelling and pain were present during the day but would disappear at night. The doctor said I had an infection of the bone. The advice was to have an X-ray and an operation. I am afraid of another operation. I am 28 years old and none too healthy.

1. Will this infection go away?
2. Will it affect the upper part of my leg?
3. Will it affect me in later life?
4. If you advise an operation, how soon should I have one?

REPLY.

1. Bone tuberculosis is difficult to heal. It is usually of long standing and as long as the infection remains bone destruction will continue. Sunlight is of very great value in bone tuberculosis. If you can arrange to do so, exposing the diseased leg to the direct rays of the sun will be most helpful. The first exposure should be no longer than one-half minute, increasing by one-quarter to one-half minute each day. An expert in bone tuberculosis should handle your case.

2. It may, if the disease is not eradicated.

3. It may, if neglected.

4. The sooner the better. The doctor who studies your case will advise you on all these points.

FEARS CANCER.

Mrs. D. H. writes: I have read your recent article on cancer. I am 66 years old and feel all right, but sometimes I have a discharge from my right breast. It stops after I apply a boric acid solution. I have no pain.

REPLY.

You may have what is known as eczema of the nipple or Paget's disease. The breast should be examined carefully by a competent physician.

PROMISSORY NOTE.

Chicago, July 27.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—We possess eighteen notes at $20 each which were made out in series to be paid one each month. These notes were made in January, 1932. None of the notes or interest have been paid to date. The notes are signed by the maker and also by another co-signer on the back. We have placed the notes in the hands of an attorney for collection, but he claims that the signature of the co-signer on the back of the notes is only an indorsement. 1. How long are these notes good for collection? 2. Is the co-signer liable now for the payments, even though he has signed on the back? 3. What would be the best policy to follow in collecting same? 4. He also contends that liability has expired on the notes because they should have been paid when due. W. A. S.

1. The Illinois limitation period on a promissory note is ten years.

2. A person signing on the back is an indorser, and in order to hold an indorser the holder of the note must present it to the maker on the due date and give notice of dishonor to the indorser.

3. The attorney is in a better position to advise you than we are.

4. Clearly, the liability of the maker has not expired. The liability of the indorser depends on the facts as to presentment and notice.

TERMS OF WILL.

Lacon, Ill., July 26.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. A wrote her will ten years ago. At the time of her death one of the witnesses [there were two] had already died. Does that make the will void? 2. Two executors are named. No bond was mentioned. The will is not to be made public or probated. 3. How soon after the reading of A's will must the executors give the deed to certain personal property [house] to the heirs? 4. If there is not enough cash on hand for A's funeral expenses, etc., but there are notes [farm mortgages] which are on good land, will the executors draw on these for money, or demand the heirs sell the house? 5. A willed certain amounts to charitable institutions. Later she lowered these amounts. Does that make the will void? H. B.

1. No. The will could be admitted to probate on proof of the handwriting of the deceased witness.

2. The will has no legal effect unless it is probated.

3. The reading of a will has no statutory or legal significance. In general, the effect of a will depends on its wording, which is not before us.

4. It is the general rule that personal property, such as notes, should be exhausted before real estate is sold to pay debts.

5. Depends on how the change was made.

FROM ACROSS THE SEA

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS.—A new guillotine, that dread machine which snips off a man's head in the fraction of a second, is going to be constructed, because at a recent execution the heavy, triangular blade failed to drop at the first tug of the cord.

Headsman Anatole Deibler jerked the cord, something jammed, and for a brief instant Georges Sarret, who murdered a man and a woman and dissolved their bodies in sulphuric acid in his bathtub, lay face down awaiting the death which by French law should be lightning fast. Deibler tugged again, and the guillotine did its work. Such a delay, however fractionally short, must not occur again.

For lack of another the old guillotine, which was built only in 1925, had to be used a few days later for two more executions and it worked all right. Still Deibler and the authorities aren't going to take any chances of prolonging the criminal's suffering.

Speed is the reason for the guillotine, which the French consider more humane than the electric chair or hanging. Joseph Ignace Guillotin, who first urged its use on the ground of humanity, described it on Dec. 1, 1789, thus:

Guillotin is credited with inventing the first guillotine, but he didn't. It was used long before in Scotland for killing sheep, before then in Italy for beheading gentlemen—the rope being the lot of the common run of criminals—and before that in Persia. He merely suggested its use as more humane than hanging, burning or beheading with an ax.

All the rest of his life he tried to live it down, because of the use to which his suggestion was put. He couldn't, for the machine was named after him and countless popular songs about it buzzed in his ears.

In the revolution of 1848 the death penalty was abolished and the machine, which criminals called the Widow and the newspaper call the "woods of justice," was destroyed. It was brought back again with rapidity because murders increased.

The Commune of 1871 ended the death penalty—at least until it got tough and started shooting people down—and the guillotine was burned solemnly in a public square. It came back into use under the Third Republic, was forbidden in 1906, but soon restored to use.

Public opinion in France about the death penalty is divided, but most persons consider it necessary to set an example. It is supposed to frighten people away from crime, but one Paris apache refuses to be frightened and around his neck he has had tattooed a dotted line with the sinister words: "To guide Deibler."

HOW TO GET A JOB IN WASHINGTON.

Washington, D. C., July 28.—Back during the war I came here to work. Now that conditions are such at home that employment is something which cannot be had, yet one must work to earn a living, I came back here. I placed my application with several departments, among which I found one that was purely political. In other words, one's ability and merit didn't mean a thing. The thing that did count was an indorsement that was to accompany this application.

I was advised by a clerk of this bureau to go to the office either of Mr. Dieterich or Mr. Lewis and secure this indorsement. I went to Mr. Lewis' office because of having lived in Chicago so many years of my life, but was told by the clerk that such an indorsement couldn't be had from his office. The funny part of his narrative is this: "You will personally have to go to see your ward committeeman; he will see Mr. Nash. Mr. Nash will write an indorsement to Mr. Lewis, and he in turn will write the indorsement to this office so that you can file it with your application."

I asked him if a letter wouldn't do because I couldn't afford making a trip to Illinois and back just for this indorsement. His answer was: "No, you will personally have to go there. They wouldn't pay any attention to your letter."

Imagine all this, just to get an indorsement! Evidently they would look in the files to see if I had voted for them. If not, then I would be out of luck. Yet my living depends on securing work somewhere.

Instead of the politician trying to secure one's vote by doing a small favor he kills his vote retaining chances by just such actions as this. I'll remember this, and I'll also see to it that my numerous friends back home hear of this. This is one lesson in politics I have learned. HELEN D. HARWELL.

THE NEED FOR SPEED.

Chicago, July 27.—America is possessed of no greater myth than the belief that speed is our greatest need. Automobiles pile up a mountain of corpses yearly. Airplanes, carrying infinitely fewer passengers, are just as bad. Why all the speed at such a price? The pressure of modern business, we are told. Fooey! This race for business occupies but a small proportion of us. The plain fact is that most of us are going nowhere in particular, and to demand greater speed of the railroads to take us there is more than irrational; it's downright barbarous.

The railroads' enviable record for safe transportation doesn't seem to mean anything these days; neither does the fact that modern heavy steel, high ceiling cars provide a degree of comfort and freedom while traveling not to be equaled by automobile, plane, or the new streamline train.

The big black choo-choo has been condemned to the junk heap daily since the advent of the electric lines thirty years ago, but I believe that Casey Jones and the iron horse will be here for some little time to come. Meanwhile, when elevated roadbeds make it possible for trains to attain greater speeds in safety the railroads will deliver.

WILFRED CLEARY.

UNLESS WE AWAKE.

Chicago, July 28.—What an aggregation of saps the American people are proving themselves to be! At least that is what the comrade from the soviet union thinks after being honored by the management of the Fair and officials of the city and state.

Unless we awake to the danger that confronts us we will have bloodshed right here in Chicago. The goal of the communist is anarchy. Do we desire such a condition in our wonderful city? The San Francisco, Minneapolis, Milwaukee, and other strike situations are a slight foreboding of what will happen all over the country simultaneously with resultant stagnation unless we actively put a stop to the efforts of the communists. I spent a year in the soviet union and I think I know whereof I speak. LOVER OF LIBERTY.

A PARALLEL.

Portland, Ore., July 20.—Of Louis XVI. of France, when he ascended the throne in 1774, Meyer, the historian, says:

How to raise money was the urgent and anxious question with the government. France was on the verge of bankruptcy. The king called to his side successively Turgot, Necker, and other eminent statesmen, but their policies and remedies availed little or nothing. The traditions of the court and the heartlessness and selfishness of the privileged classes rendered reform in taxations and efficient retrenchment impossible. The national debt grew constantly larger.

Is there not much similarity between our present condition and this? Confiscatory taxation—every article of food and clothing taxed; every activity of man licensed or regulated; cost of government 1,500 per cent above forty years ago; agriculture demoralized; millions out of work, and the burden of taxation falling on those least able to pay. Each successive congress and legislature has promised us reform, but has given us additional taxation and bonded debt. Local governments have raised the ante.

Congressional abuses like the following do not inspire confidence: The practice of nepotism; the raising of their already excessive salaries, and this over the President's veto; charging the public $1,100 more than actual cost of round trip fares to Washington and return from west coast points. Such selfishness breeds discontent, encourages crime and corruption, and shows wanton disregard for the masses. Are these representatives of the people or of a privileged class?

If you wish reform go to the polls in November; elect a new bunch: retire all now in office. The deck has been stacked; get a new deal. You cannot change the leopard's spots.

A recent letter from the department of commerce gives the total wealth of the United States as $247,300,000,000 and the total debt as $237,600,000,000. We are mortgaged or bonded for 96 per cent of our total wealth. Be not deceived. These obligations are beyond our ability to pay. The sooner we scale down these obligations and reduce the interest rates the sooner we will be on the road to recovery.

The tax eater will fight every move in lowering cost of government or tax reduction. No amount of borrowing or bonding can restore prosperity. This can only be accomplished by a 50 per cent lower taxation, lower cost of government, and lower cost of living.

RONALD COLMAN SILENT AS WIFE WINS DIVORCE

Hollywood, Cal., July 31.—(AP)—Ronald Colman, the sad lover of the silent films who became the romantic hero of adventure in the talkies, was nowhere to be found today to talk about the divorce granted in London today to his wife.

Colman was in seclusion. But that was nothing new to Hollywood, as the 43 year old English actor who rivals Greta Garbo in keeping personal affairs a secret, is in seclusion almost as much as the elusive Swede.

Married 14 Years Ago.

His married life is something that Hollywood knew comparatively little about. In London fourteen years ago he married Mrs. Thelma Victoria Maud Dawson, better known at that time on the English stage as Thelma Ray.

Conditions at that time were not very fortunate for him and he came to America with $57, three clean collars, and two letters of introduction seeking theatrical work.

In 1922 Director Henry King "found" Colman on the stage of the Empire theater in New York and offered him a rôle in "The White Sister," a flicker that was filmed in Italy. Colman's wife also had a part in it.

Separated in 1924.

Two years later they separated, and for ten years they have been living apart. Mrs. Colman filed suit for separate maintenance here in February, 1925, charging she had helped him when theatrical engagements were few, only to be forgotten when he became successful on the silent screen.

The next year, in August, he filed suit here for divorce from her. Both of these actions were dropped before being called for trial. She has spent most of her time since then in the Riviera and elsewhere in Europe, while Colman lived here. A property settlement was indicated as the cause for dismissal of the two local suits at that time.

SUIT NOT DEFENDED.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 31.—Mrs. Thelma Victoria Maud Colman was granted a divorce here today from her husband, Ronald Colman, Hollywood film star. Colman did not defend the suit.

Mrs. Colman charged her husband with adultery in Paris and an affidavit to support this charge was read in court.

DRUNKEN YOUTH BATTLES FATHER; ROBBERY BARED

Joseph Mecune, 19 years old, 4557 Wentworth avenue, came home drunk early Sunday after spending the proceeds of a robbery, and fought with his father. As a result he and two other youths were in cells at the detective bureau last night, where they admitted robbing three delicatessens.

Passing the Mecune home, Sergt. Joseph Morrison and his squad heard the sound of the fight, and investigated. They were ready to leave, after stopping the family fight, when McCune pointed to his son and said: "He's a bad one, sergeant. He goes around with a bunch of tough boys who carry guns. You'd better investigate him."

The police did, and later arrested William Maronta, 21 years old, 5487 Lake Park avenue, and Russell Simmons, 17 years old, 507 West 28th street. The delicatessens robbed were at 3305 West 25th street, and 2033 West 51st street, where they obtained only a few dollars, and at 1724 West 35th street, where the loot was $16.81.

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: Food for Thought

RUSSEL, DUNLAP WILL NOT SERVE IN SAME PRISON

Springfield, Ill., July 31.—[Special.]—Andrew Russel, former state treasurer and auditor, under sentence to serve 18 months in prison for conspiracy to wreck the Ayers National bank at Jacksonville, is to serve his sentence in the new prison for first offenders, Milan, Mich.

His former associate in business, Millard F. Dunlap, will be sent to the federal prison, Leavenworth, Kas. He is to serve two years, having been convicted also of making false entries in the records of the Ayers bank, of which he was president.

The order of imprisonment, made by Attorney General Cummings, was gratifying to both the men. Neither wanted to go to prison with the other, although they joined issues in entering a plea of nolo contendere when they were arraigned in the United States court to answer to the conspiracy charge.

Though they had been associates in business since early manhood, it was developed during their trial that for years they had been bitter enemies, in consequence of business disagreements. Their enmity was kept under cover, because each realized that an open break would impair the credit of both and wreck their financial institutions.

Russel has expressed a desire to start for prison at once.

RELIEF FRAUD INQUIRY WILL BE RESUMED TODAY

The Cook county grand jury today will resume its investigation of charges of fraud in the administration of state relief. The jurors are expected to hear a number of officials of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission, including Wilfred S. Reynolds, executive secretary.

Yesterday the transcript of testimony given before the grand jury on Monday by A. L. Sloan, a newspaper reporter, was read before Chief Justice Philip J. Finnegan of the Criminal court to determine whether the witness was in contempt of court.

Sloan, it was charged, refused to reveal the sources of his information for a series of articles in which he stated that "millions of dollars" of relief funds were misused. Judge Finnegan did not reach a decision in the matter.

ALIBI WITNESS GETS 10 DAYS AS PERJURER

Graham Cogan, proprietor of a stationery store at 120 North La Salle street, was found guilty of perjury yesterday by a jury in the Criminal court and was sentenced by Judge Michael Feinberg to serve ten days in jail. The case grew out of that in which Attorney Julius Reznik last week received a one to fourteen year sentence for subornation of perjury. Cogan was an alibi witness for Philip Mansfield, a paroled convict, and had testified that Mansfield had been working for him on the day of a robbery with which Mansfield was charged. Mansfield later confessed the robbery. Cogan admitted having perjured himself, but said it was only on the advice of Reznik.

THREE ROB BREWERY OF $1,000.

Three bandits escaped with $400 and $600 in checks yesterday after they menaced four employés and three customers in the offices of the South Side Brewing company, 3700 South Halsted street.

INTIMATE FACTS!

Send for free copy of "Things People Won't Talk About," a new 32-page illustrated book telling what venereal diseases are, what they do, how they are contracted, how to avoid them, and how they can be cured. Mailed in plain sealed envelope.

It's fun to be healthy!

If you have a venereal disease, go at once to a good doctor or clinic for the medical attention necessary to restore your health

Summer is a season of happy days—days of swimming, hiking, baseball, golf and other outdoor activities. But they hold no joy for sufferers from venereal diseases, for these infections usually make it impossible for their victims to take part in vigorous sports.

Thus the man who has either gonorrhea or syphilis should hasten to get reliable medical attention. For not only will he be barred from good times until properly treated, but if he continues to neglect his infection he may eventually become permanently disabled!

Neglected gonorrhea, for instance, may extend to the prostate, bladder or even kidneys, resulting in serious and lasting disorders. Or its germs may penetrate to the joints, causing a crippling form of rheumatism. It is the foremost cause of sterility, and is responsible for the majority of the mutilating pelvic operations performed on women.

Neglected syphilis is still more dangerous, for it may lead to insanity, blindness, deafness, paralysis, apoplexy, ulcers of the skin, or bone destruction! It is the only known cause of paresis (softening of the brain), as well as of locomotor ataxia, a destructive nerve affliction.

Hence it is the height of folly to neglect a venereal disease, or to attempt to treat it yourself. For the sooner a competent physician or clinic is consulted, the better are your chances of a cure. Thus every month, week or even day you save in getting under treatment has an important bearing on the final outcome!

Especially is this true in cases of syphilis, for unless treatment is begun in its earlier stages it may not be possible to do any more than stop further progress of the disease. Yet, on the other hand, not even the most advanced syphilitic infections should be considered hopeless, for modern methods of treatment are benefiting many supposedly incurable cases!

So, if you know or suspect that you have a venereal disease, do not continue to neglect it or aggravate it by self treatment. Instead, go to your family physician or a trustworthy clinic—today! Even if you think you have no infection, an examination for venereal diseases which includes a blood test is desirable if your health is not all it should be. For syphilis can be innocently acquired and thus be the wholly unsuspected cause of a "half sick-half well" condition.

Founded by public-spirited citizens NOT FOR PROFIT, the Public Health Institute specializes in the treatment of venereal diseases at remarkably low fees. An examination for gonorrhea and syphilis, including blood and other tests, costs only $3.00, while some treatments for syphilis cost as little as $1.00 and some of those for gonorrhea still less. Even persons pressed for funds can arrange to be treated.

NOTE: The Public Health Institute has no connection with any other Chicago health or medical institute, and should not be confused with those operated for personal gain!

ADVERTISE IN THE TRIBUNE

FINES SEVEN TAX STRIKE LEADERS FOR CONTEMPT

Orders $23,000 Returned to Treasury in 30 Days.

Seven directors of the Association of Real Estate Taxpayers, found guilty of contempt of court July 7 for violating an injunction restraining them from taking funds from the association treasury, were fined by Superior Judge William J. Lindsay yesterday.

Three of the directors, held by Judge Lindsay to be "more responsible" for the removal of funds than the others, were fined $250 each. They were Charles L. Schwerin, Earl A. Shilton and Thomas D. Collins. The other four, Lee J. Lesser, Edward M. Bertha, Jacob L. Kesner and George F. Koester, were fined $50 each.

Judge Lindsay ordered that if the fines be not paid within five days, the defendants were to be confined to the county jail until payment of the fines, or for a period not to exceed six months.

Cuts Sum to Be Returned.

At the same time the court ordered that $23,231—money alleged to have been spent in violation of the injunction—must be returned to the association's treasury within 30 days. Originally Judge Lindsay ordered that a total of $52,917 be repaid.

Yesterday, however, the judge allowed $29,686 of this sum to be classed as legitimate expenditures, leaving $23,231 to be returned.

"I allow this by a stretch of my imagination," he commented. "In doing this I feel that I am being very generous."

Judge Lindsay refused a claim for $13,000 submitted by the so-called minority group of the association headed by James E. Bistor, former president, and John M. Pratt, former executive director. It was a dispute between the two factions that has led to a court fight lasting a year and a half.

Allows Lawyers $21,000.

The association, which is now in receivership, organized a "tax strike" in 1932 and unsuccessfully sought to invalidate realty assessments. It was blamed at the time for having delayed the collection of more than 200 million dollars of tax monies. The group solicitated funds over the radio and Judge Lindsay described them as self-styled "saviors of finance."

The law firm of Watkins & Ten Hoor was allowed one $19,000 judgment it holds against the association and $2,390 of a second $19,000 judgment, both in payment for legal services. Representatives of the law firm had originally informed Judge Lindsay that the seven directors had withdrawn $70,000 in bonds from the $100,000 fund, but had returned all except the $52,917.

Logan L. Mullins and George Crawley, appointed receivers for the association by Superior Judge John P. McGoorty last September, were allowed fees of $3,750 each.

Four Day Bride Stranded; Seek Him on Check Charge

Rock Island, Ill., July 31.—[Special.]—County officials today are investigating the story of Mrs. A. R. McCoy, 21, a bride of four days. She is stranded in a Moline, Ill., hotel. Her husband is missing and accused of giving a worthless check for a $35 taxicab bill. She said she and McCoy were married in Galesburg, Ill., on Saturday, after he told her he was a nephew of Garrett Lamb, wealthy Clinton, Ia., lumberman.

HOLD ROBBERY DEATH MURDER.

A verdict of murder by persons unknown was returned yesterday by a coroner's jury in the shooting of Allan Paschby, 52 years old, 3414 North Mozart street, on July 17 by robbers in a $10 raid on the offices of the Central Tea company, 4620 Cornelia avenue.

BANK RECEIVER AT ROCKFORD HIT IN TRUST SUIT REPLY

Rockford, Ill., July 1.—[Special.]—In an amended answer to a suit asking an accounting of a trust agreement into which he entered with his creditors, Frank G. Hoagland, president of the National Lock company, contended today the plaintifs have not "come into court with clean hands." The plaintifs are Mrs. Ida May Peterson, widow of the late P. A. Peterson, Rockford industrial leader, and A. B. Culhane, receiver for the Rockford National and Manufacturers' National bank.

Hoagland charges that "by conniving with Mrs. Peterson," Culhane has violated "his duty toward the depositors of the Manufacturers' bank" which as a party to the trust agreement is one of the defendants in the suit.

The trust suit was filed by Mrs. Peterson and Culhane as receiver for the Rockford National bank after Attorney General Otto Kerner had brought suit against Mrs. Peterson asking an accounting for her administration of her husband's estate and demanding her removal as trustee.

FEE OF $100,000 FOR LIQUIDATION OF BANK GRANTED

Fisher Decision Brings Depositors' Protest.

Circuit Judge Harry M. Fisher announced yesterday he would allow $100,000 in fees payable on account to the law firm of Schuyler, Weinfeld & Hennessy for services in liquidating the closed Chicago Bank of Commerce and two institutions which it absorbed, the Union State bank and the Old Dearborn State bank.

The fees asked by the attorneys total $154,000 and have been the basis for loud complaints from the depositors' committee. Judge Fisher announced his decision over the protest of Attorney Floyd Thompson, spokesman for the committee, who has charged that the fee "is exorbitant and wholly out of line with the services rendered by the firm."

Designated as Full Payment.

The court indicated that the $100,000 may be considered full payment to the law firm unless the bank is able to pay off substantial dividends amounting to at least 40 or 50 per cent. Attorney Thompson declared that no dividends have yet been paid.

Attorney Edgar Tolman, designated by Judge Fisher as a disinterested party to decide what a fair fee should be, recommended that $70,000 be paid.

To support his contention that the fee was exorbitant, Attorney Thompson cited the case of a young attorney who was employed at the bank before it closed at a salary of $200 per month.

Cite Overhead Expense.

This lawyer, Attorney Thompson declared, worked for the receiver at the same monthly salary on the law firm's pay roll. The law firm, he said, submitted a bill for $28,000 for the young man's services of which, he said, the attorney received only $1,900. In other words, Attorney Thompson charged, the firm charged $15 an hour for the young man' time while he was paid about $1.33 per hour.

To this charge representatives of the firm replied that overhead and fair profits was responsible for the difference.

Attorney Thompson also declared that the depositors were forced to pay $15 an hour for conversations indulged in by members of the firm. The fee covers a period of 22 months up to May 1, 1934.

READS TORTURE 'CONFESSION' OF PISANI AT TRIAL

State Surprises Defense in Welch Kidnap Case.

An alleged confession made by Rudolph Pisani, 2316 Washington boulevard, shortly after his arrest was read yesterday to the jury in the Criminal court of Judge Donald S. McKinlay, where Pisani and three others are on trial on charges of kidnaping and torturing Harry Welch, Toledo clothing merchant, last June 14.

Pisani's statement was read after several witnesses had testified for the state. These included policemen who had figured in the arrest of the alleged kidnapers, and three physicians who had treated burns which Welch testified on Monday were inflicted by his captors to force him to pay them $2,000.

On trial with Pisani are Allen Siegal of the Diversey Arms hotel, 944 Diversey parkway; Arthur Sway, 1337 West 13th street, and Edward Greenspan, 3251 Ogden avenue, next door to the tavern at 3253 where Welch was held prisoner. The jury is qualified to inflict the death penalty.

Move Surprises Associates.

The reading of Pisani's statement came as an apparent surprise to his fellow defendants. As the reading of the document incriminating them progressed, Siegal and Sway leaned back in their chairs with expressions of astonishment on their faces. Pisani avoided meeting their gazes.

Assistant State's Attorney Marshall Kearney read the statement in which Pisani told of agreeing to help to collect some money, after being assured it was not a robbery. He was taken, the document related, to the saloon at 3253 Ogden avenue, and was there when Welch was brought in.

In his statement Pisani said that he heard one of the men demanding money from Welch, and that he had heard Welch screaming and begging, "Don't do that," but said that it was to dark in the basement for him to see anything that was going on.

The statement told of Welch's being taken upstairs to a saloon and of Welch's telephone call to his mother in Toledo asking for the ransom money. This conversation, Pisani said, was all in Hebrew. It was through this call that Welch's mother became alarmed and notified the police, who captured the kidnaper suspects.

Waitress Disputes Account.

Welch became hungry while guarded by Pisani and Pisani took him to a restaurant, the statement continued. The two were eating when a policeman strolled in.

"Welch said: 'Well, I've got you on the spot,'" the statement went on. "I said, 'For what? I didn't do you no harm.' Welch said: 'No, you didn't. You can go.' So I walked out."

Miss Harriet Whitney, 2408 West 45th street, a waitress in the restaurant, testified Welch asked to have the policeman summoned because he was being kidnaped and that Pisani fled from the rear door as the policeman arrived.

The state rested its case late yesterday afternoon. The defense was to begin its presentation of evidence this morning and it was regarded as likely the case would reach the jury today.

State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney said he had asked the Toledo police to investigate death threats made against Welch to his family unless he discontinued his prosecution in the case. He is guarded by state's attorney's police.

COAST GUARDS DO DUTY SO WELL IT CALLS FOR AN S O S

After coast guard crews had five times halted the excursion steamer City of Grand Rapids yesterday afternoon following receipt of an anonymous telephone message reporting that six bandits had boarded the boat and were robbing the passengers the guard stations were finally convinced that the piracy report was a practical joke.

Capt. M. F. Morgan, commanding the steamer, lost patience after the vessel had been boarded for the fifth time at South Milwaukee and radioed the following message to the company offices in Chicago:

Duty Done, Guard Goes Home.

The coast guard then called in its armada. The steamer, which was bound for Milwaukee, had been halted by the guard boats at Waukegan, Zion, Racine, and Kenosha before the stop at South Milwaukee. Each time the guardsmen, heavily armed, climbed aboard and made thorough searches to be certain the reported bandits were not hiding and had forced the officers and radio operator to send out reports denying the reported presence of bandits.

The steamer, which carried 800 passengers, left Chicago at 10:10 a. m. and was about 30 miles north when the anonymous telephone call was received at the South Chicago coast guard station. Lieut. S. F. Gray, communications officer at the coast guard divisional headquarters, recalling recent holdups on speedboats, notified stations along the ship's route. From Chicago the 125 foot patrol boat Rush, manned by 20 men armed with rifles, and a smaller speedboat carrying Capt. John Anderson and four men, were sent out.

It's a Mystery to Captain.

While these boats and the fleet from other ports were converging on the steamer, a radio message informed Capt. Morgan that he was supposed to have six dangerous men aboard. He radioed back that he know nothing about it.

The coast guardsmen refused to abandon the chase, however, on the theory that the pirates might have coerced the ship's radio operator into sending the reassuring message. At Waukegan the first coast guard speedboats came along side and Capt. Morgan took the men aboard. This occurred four more times before Capt. Morgan could get clear to his destination.

Last night coast guard officials were trying to trace the anonymous telephone call which cost the government so much money and endangered the lives of guardsmen.

Federal Bank Cash Stolen at Branch Postoffice

Los Angeles, Cal., July 31.—[Special.]—Two bandits who swooped from a speeding car with drawn guns, robbed A. C. Murphy and Ray Davis, bank tellers, of a satchel containing $18,000 currency in the threshold of the Alhambra suburban branch of the postoffice this morning. The money was consigned to the federal reserve bank. Murphy and Davis were armed but had no chance to pull their weapons.

WIFE DIVORCES EDWIN COLVIN ON CRUELTY CHARGE

Mrs. Colvin charged her husband with cruelty. He is a son of the late Edwin M. Colvin, vice president of the W. F. Hall Printing company, and a brother of Willard Otis Colvin, who is facing a suit for separate maintenance brought by his wife, Hally McLeod Colvin.

Under the terms of a property settlement, Mrs. Colvin received $33,000 worth of stocks and securities and waived alimony and all claims to Colvin's $275,000 share of his father's estate. She also received custody of the three children, Thomas Edwin, 9; Richard, 8, and Miriam, 5. Colvin agreed to pay $225 per month for their support and to set up a $10,000 trust fund for their education.

Colvin now receives a $400 monthly income from the estate and will receive the principal when he becomes 40 years of age. He is allowed to visit his children and, when they become older, to keep them for certain periods.

Mrs. Colvin testified that her husband struck her on several occasions. They were married June 26, 1924, and although they occupied the same home, ceased to be man and wife on Feb. 22, 1932. Colvin merely testified that he was agreeable to the divorce.

Miss Frances B. Weary tells why she DRINKS MILK

Miss Weary, popular Chicagoan, is a devotee of sports . . . swimming, riding, tennis and golf. After finishing her studies at the Bennett School she traveled extensively both abroad and throughout the United States. She is the daughter of the Edwin Frank Wearys of Chicago Beach Drive.

"WHY do I drink milk? Because I realize that more than any other single food fresh pasteurized milk provides the nutritional elements we need to keep radiantly healthy . . . to prolong the vitality of youth.

"I enjoy its smooth natural flavor and I know that it won't add excess weight if it replaces other more fattening foods in the dietary.

"Being rich in vitamins, minerals, and proteins science says that fresh milk helps to build up a 'reserve resistance' so necessary to an active modern life."

TRY THIS: Cut down on the heavy foods and drink an abundance of milk—you'll feel better . . more alive. Take a glassful at each meal.

CROWDS BARRED, SIMPLE RITES FOR MOVIE STAR

Marie Dressler's Funeral Follows Her Wish.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., July 1.—[Special.]—Simply, quietly Marie Dressler was laid to rest here today in the mausoleum of Forest Lawn Memorial park.

Her intimate friends in Hollywood wept as the Episcopalian rites were read in the Wee Kirk o' the Heather and then as the heavy bronze casket, laden with flowers, was carried away to its final resting place.

The organ, played by Catherine Lewis, friend of Miss Dressler, opened the services. The Rev. Neal Dodd, pastor of Hollywood's "Little Church Around the Corner," read the Twenty-Third Psalm. Then Jeanette MacDonald, screen star and friend, sang "Face to Face."

The only reference to Miss Dressler in the service was by Rev. Dodd, in the form of an eulogy.

Reads Favorite Poem.

"I have in my hand," he said, "one of Marie Dressler's most cherished possessions, a newspaper clipping of a poem by Joseph Joel Keith, which she kept on her person constantly."

The poem read in part:

"Her face is like a god's come back to life, a face that shows the pain of mortal life, and happiness."

Miss MacDonald sang the actress' favorite hymn, "Abide with Me," and Dr. Dodd and the Rev. Dodd closed the services. As the coffin was carried out from the Wee Kirk, the organist played "Goin' Home."

Allen Walker, long time friend of the actress, placed a wreath of roses on the coffin as it was placed in the crypt. The little tag on the roses read, "America's Sweetheart."

Old Friends Weep.

Mamie Cox, and her husband, Jerry, who had served the actress for 20 years, wept unrestrainedly throughout the services. Mamie Cox had been in complete charge of the sick room at Montecito throughout the long weeks of Miss Dressler's illness.

Among the Hollywood personages who crowded into the little church for the services were May Robson, Norma Shearer and her husband, Irving Thalberg, Anna Q. Nilsson, Lionel Barrymore, Jean Hersholt, Polly Moran, Martha Sleeper, Harry Rapf, Robert Vignola, George Hill, Frances Marion, and Carmen Pantages Considine.

A blanket of orchids and gardenias from M-G-M. studios covered the coffin, over which was a wreath from Mrs. Robert Morris Phillips, New York society woman and old time friend of the actress. Three trucks carried the floral tributes to the little church.

Recalls Joint Film Success.

From Greta Garbo, with whom Miss Dressler made her first big film success in "Anna Christie," came white roses and a card: "Last greetings from Greta Garbo."

"Au revoir—be seeing you sometime or other," ran a note on Alice Brady's tribute. May Robson wrote simply, "Dear old pal, May."

Other floral tributes bore the names of nearly every celebrity in Hollywood.

At the gates of the cemetery almost 1,000 spectators lined the drive, but police guarded the gates to prevent a recurrence of the demonstrations which marred the funerals of Rudolph Valentino, Barbara La Marr, and Lilyan Tashman.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Some Day

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

When United States coast guardsmen put on their capsize drill in the World's Fair lagoon at 3:30 Saturday afternoon a couple of CBS announcers will go overboard with them, microphone and all, to describe the sights and sensations as they come up for air. The plunging announcers are Tom Shirley, who introduces Myrt and Marge, and Stan Thompson, who recently handled the Minneapolis Symphony series. CBS will use an ordinary toy balloon to cover and protect the microphone since Sally Rand will not give up her bubble for the broadcast.

Red Grange will be the headliner of a new Sunday afternoon NBC series to start late in September under the sponsorship of a Milwaukee Shoe company. Hal Totten, NBC sports caster, and Red will discuss and analyze results of the previous day's games. Grange will also make forecasts about the forthcoming Saturday's contests. Harry Kogan's orchestra will provide the music and Gene Rouse will do the announcing. The show will run 15 minutes starting at 12:15 p. m.

Walter Preston has resigned as head of Columbia Artists' bureau and Neil Conklin of the New York CBS offices has replaced him. . . . The Fred Warings are expecting an heir, or heiress, in October. Mrs. Waring is the former Evalyn Nair, Hollywood dancer. . . . M. Sayle Taylor, "the Voice of Experience" of CBS, arrived at the Edgewater Beach hotel yesterday for a reunion of alumni of William Jewell college.

Freeman Gosden [Amos] is backsliding. Last week he cabled that he had bagged two porpoises. A dispatch yesterday set forth that he had caught 300 trout in Alaskan waters. He went there with the avowed purpose of harpooning a whale.

George Devron, last heard on the air over W-G-N, and his orchestra are playing at Merrie England at the Fair. . . . Dorothy Nelson, singer on Ben Kanter's Clubhouse Party hour on WJJD, has been signed by Warner Brothers to appear in Nick Lucas' next picture. . . . FIND PHYSICIAN DEAD IN OFFICE; RIFLE BY SIDE

Believed to have committed suicide while despondent over financial worries, Dr. Harvey C. Asher, 55 years old, was found shot to death yesterday on the floor of his office at 1301 North Clark street.

Sergts. James Penney and Walter Noonan of the Hudson avenue station went to the office in response to a neighbor's call. They found a rifle on the floor beside the body and a note on the table addressed to the widow, Mrs. Minerva Asher, 238 Phillips avenue, South Detroit, Mich.

"I'm going with Bud," the note stated.

Neighbors told police they believed Bud was the name of the physician's dog which died several months ago.

Dr. Asher was a member of the staf of the Columbus Memorial hospital. Recently, however, his practice had dwindled, police were told, and he seemed in financial straits.

PICK EASTERNER AS NEW STANLEY M'CORMICK AID

Santa Barbara, Cal., July 31.—(AP)—Dr. Ernest F. Russell of Connecticut has been appointed resident physician for Stanley McCormick, millionaire Montecito incompetent, by Superior Judge A. B. Bigler.

Dr. Russell will be paid $30,000 per year and was granted the right to carry on a limited private practice in Santa Barbara as long as it does not "interfere with his duties to Stanley McCormick."

The majority of McCormick's board of guardians approved the appointment, but it was opposed by Mrs. McCormick and Dr. Walter S. Franklin of Santa Barbara, both of whom are members of the board.

For several years Mrs. McCormick has been seeking a change of treatment for her husband, asking that an internist be appointed resident physician.

Mrs. Elizabeth Farley, 63 years old, wife of Onias W. Farley, president of the Zion board of education, died in her home at 2510 Edina boulevard, Zion, following a stroke yesterday.

De Pew, who was the candidate of Wilbur Glenn Voliva, overseer of Zion, for the school board position. Angered by the defeat of his candidate Voliva closed the parochial school and demanded that the public schools take care of the pupils or close too.

Angered herself, Mrs. Farley marched to Voliva's home. She demanded to see the overseer and when he failed to appear she criticized him in a talk to the crowd which gathered.

Auto-Street Car Collision Wrecks Standard.

Policeman Michael Kilroy, 52 years old, 6150 North Campbell avenue, of the North Damen avenue station, was injured last night, when a trafic light standard, jarred by the collision of an automobile and a street car, fell on his head. At the Swedish Covenant hospital, it was found his skull was fractured.

The accident occurred at the intersection of Lincoln, Western, and Lawrence avenues, where Kilroy was directing trafic. A north bound automobile in Western avenue, driven by Walter Gigley, 2431 Orchard street, collided with a westbound Lawrence avenue street car. The automobile overturned, striking the light post.

Passengers on the street car became panicky when several windows broke, but none was injured.

Auto Deaths Increase.

Figures announced yesterday by Coroner Frank J. Walsh showed that automobile deaths for the first seven months of this year were 106 more numerous than in the corresponding months last year. Up until 5 o'clock last night there had been 690 automobile fatalities. Last year's figure for the seven month period was 584.

Included in the automobile deaths yesterday were the following victims:

Al Burman, 31 years old, 3618 Douglas boulevard, a driver for the Blue Ribbon Dairies, Inc., killed when the brake of a milk truck was accidentally released by another driver, and the heavy truck rolled over his body.

George Swanson, 4914 North Western avenue, was fatally injured, and Mrs. Cora Moe, 59 years old, 3520 Armitage avenue, was instantly killed, when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by a Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific passenger train at 77th and Grand avenues in Elmwood Park.

MAJOR CHARGES HELD UP BY JAM IN TRAFIC COURT

For the second time within a week the new Safety court, created to try serious trafic offenses, yesterday was so jammed with minor cases that the presiding judge was forced to grant a wholesale continuance of all the major cases the court was especially designed to hear.

John D. Hayes, assistant to Chief Justice John J. Sonsteby, of the Municipal court, promised definitly that the jam will end today. He will assign an additional judge to the Safety court this morning to hear the minor actions, he said.

"The crowded condition of the court represents a lag following our order of last week that the smaller cases should be sent to Trafic court," Hayes explained.

"On Saturday the police were ordered to make tickets in the minor cases returnable in the Trafic court. This is being done, but since the cases are booked a week ahead, we still have an overflow from the period before the order was issued."

"I can't give the defendants a fair trial while this jam continues," the judge declared. "Drunken and reckless driving convictions will deprive a defendant of his liberty, and he is certainly entitled to an adequate and fair trial. I'll continue these cases until something is done to take away all the minor actions."

Dignity • Economy

YOU must make a choice between "just a funeral" or—a Haggard ceremony, which provides every attention, need and quiet dignity, yet never exceeds a fair charge.

Miss Holloway Will Be Bride on October 20

BY JUDITH CASS.

SATURDAY, Oct. 20, has been chosen by Miss Ruth Holloway, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Holloway of Glencoe, as the date for her marriage to Edward T. Herndon of New York, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Herndon of Pottsville, Pa. The wedding is to take place in the Union church of Glencoe and will be followed by a reception at the Holloway home on Sheridan road.

The Herndons are visiting the Holloways this week at their summer place, Tamarack villa, at Tyringham in the Berkshires, and plans for the wedding are being worked out by the prospective bride and bridegroom and their mothers.

That there will be enough tennis champions here at the time of the wedding to stage an excellent tournament is certain, for Mr. Herndon was the tennis champion of Princeton when he was there and most of his friends are tennis enthusiasts, too. He was here last fall to usher at the wedding of Virginia Chapman and a Boston tennis "champ," J. Brooks Fenno Jr., and it is quite probable that Mr. and Mrs. Fenno will come on from Boston for the Holloway-Herndon wedding.

Many Entertain for Miss Klotz.

Parties galore fill the next fortnight's calendar for Miss Katherine Klotz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Klotz of Kenilworth, who is to become the bride of Donald Lloyd Williams of Duluth the afternoon of Aug. 11 in one of the prettiest of the summer weddings. The ceremony is to be read at 5:30 o'clock on the terrace of the Klotz garden by the Rev. Austin Pardue, pastor of the Gethsemane church in Minneapolis, a brother-in-law of the bride.

Miss Helen Smith is to be hostess at luncheon and a matinée today for Miss Klotz, and on Friday Mrs. Harwood Warriner will have a handkerchief shower, bridge party, and tea for the bride-to-be at her Winnetka home. Last night Miss Klotz added to her trousseau at the hosiery shower given for her by Miss Caroline McElwain.

Most of the parties next week are to be evening affairs starting with a dinner dance Miss Mary Louise Dillon is giving Wednesday evening at the Sunset Ridge club. The next night Mr. Klotz is giving a stag dinner for Mr. Williams at the Chicago Athletic association while Mrs. Klotz is hostess at a spinster party at the Indian Hill club.

The morning of Friday, Aug. 10, Miss Jean Rawlins is entertaining at breakfast for Miss Klotz and that evening Mr. and Mrs. Klotz will have the bridal dinner at the Indian Hill club. Most of the out of town guests, and there are to be a number of them, will be here in time for the tea Mrs. Klotz and her daughter, Mrs. Pardue, are to have the afternoon of Aug. 9 at the Klotz home for Mrs. Charles D. Klotz of Richmond, Va., and Miss Dorothy Williams of Duluth, sister of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Pardue Will Be Matron of Honor.

Mrs. Pardue, well known as one of the country's champion golfers, is to serve her sister as matron of honor. Miss Dillon will be maid of honor and the bridesmaids will be Miss Smith, Miss Rawlins, Miss Williams, and Mrs. Charles Klotz. The bride's little niece and nephew, Nancy Pardue and Peter Pardue, will be the flower girl and ring bearer, respectively.

Harlow Lounsberry is coming from Duluth to serve Mr. Williams as best man. Ushering will be Donald Howard of Winnipeg, Charles Klotz, Jay Brown of Duluth, and Frank Rhame of Minneapolis.

A reception is to follow the ceremony at the Klotz home and then Mr. Williams and his bride will leave for a wedding holiday in Land o' Lakes, Wis. After this they are to make their home in Duluth, where they have already found a house.

Jane Cummings to Be Debutante.

Another name to add to the ever growing list of débutantes: Jane Gregg Cummings. This young lady, who is the daughter of Mrs. John J. Cummings of 1351 North State street, is to make her formal bow at a tea at the Woman's Athletic club on Thursday, Dec. 27, when she is at home from the Finch school in New York for the Christmas holidays.

Miss Cummings, who roomed last year at the Finch school with Miss Bonnie-Jean Clark, who also is to make her debut during the coming season, and Mrs. Cummings are spending the summer abroad.

Today is an important one in the Lake Forest household of Mrs. Hugh Johnston McBirney, for her daughter, Mrs. Harry Stimson of Rye, N. Y., is due to arrive for a visit of at least a fortnight. To make it a real holiday Mrs. Stimson is coming minus her four charming but strenuous children.

As a welcome home Mrs. McBirney is entertaining at luncheon this noon for Mrs. Stimson. She is also planning dinner parties for her for Saturday evening and next Wednesday evening, each of them to be held at her Lake Forest home, the House of Four Winds. On Sunday Mrs. John Andrews King will be hostess at luncheon for Mrs. Stimson while Mrs. Uri B. Grannis will have a dinner party for her sometime next week.

Commander and Mrs. E. Winfield Spencer, who are leaving today for a visit with his relatives in Ephraim, Wis., were so anxious to see the new entertainment that Mrs. Maurice P. Geraghty [Helen Tieken] has arranged for the Spanish Village at the Fair that they persuaded her to let them attend the dress rehersal last night instead of the opening tonight.

Throng at St. Elizabeth's Parish House.

Glencoe paraded its pets in the dog show held at the parish house of St. Elizabeth's Episcopal church yesterday. While mongrels and thoroughbreds vied for their respective blue ribbons their owners sipped lemonade and beamed with pride. A throng of 250 attended. The proceeds will be turned over to the women's guild of the church. Mrs. Lewis A. Day headed the committee for the show.

One of the many young owners whose eyes followed a beaten track between pet and judge was little Miss Barbara McLaughlin, whose dachshund was entered. She and her mother, Mrs. Frederic McLaughlin, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Allen of Glencoe, who had several entries in the show.

"He's my 'Orphans of the Storm' dog!" exclaimed red headed young Peter Cloud as he beamed upon the brown and white fluffy little dog who had won a blue ribbon in the mongrel class. There was no prouder a first place winner than Mrs. Charles Henry Brown of Wilmette whose Boston terrier, Pet, merited a blue ribbon in his class.

Mrs. Leon S. Sex and her 3 year old son Stuart, Miss Judith Walsh, Mrs. Grant Mears, Mrs. Picher Purcell, Mrs. John Dern, Mrs. Frank Walker, Mrs. Charles F. Weed, Mrs. Elmer Wieboldt, and Mrs. George Tunnell were among the interested spectators who watched Capt. Will Judy, editor of the Dog World, select the winners.

Fall Market Event Draws Capacity Crowd.

BY KATHLEEN M'LAUGHLIN.

Packed to the last capacity inch with retail buyers from the midwest market area, the Chez Paree figuratively bulged last night with a throng that groaned at the lack of elbow room, even while it cheered the most outstanding fashion event in this metropolis in years. Chicago designers and manufacturers, represented by groups of mannequins presenting their creations, took the bows for originality and good taste in the "high style" showing under auspices of the Chicago Wholesale Market council, which will be repeated tonight.

Fabrics that ranged from the opulent and frivolous to the eminently practical; colors that skipped from brilliant yellows to glowing burgundies and inky, lustrous blacks; lines that molded the figure into a newer, novel silhouette, at once simpler and smarter than the current version, all contributed to the gasps and stimulated the bursts of applause.

Forty slim, young things, brunette, blonde, and titian haired, ascended the rostrum and revolved beneath the floodlights to display 125 garments whose quality and style features had been verified by the style creators' committee of the council.

No one costume inspired a greater stir than a coral colored lame evening ensemble designed by Mrs. H. N. Fried for a brunette model. The deep V front décolletage was marked by a tight bouquet of artificial posies to match the fabric. The skirt was long and straight, trailing away in the back into a fishtail train, to harmonize with the T strap back décolletage. The short jacket buttoned high to the throat.

Irma Kirby's dinner suit of black satin, revealing sophistication in every line of its tailored simplicity, was another sensation. The luxurious material was contrasted with dusty pink flowers accenting the high neckline—a style extensively noted during the review.

Mrs. Frank Mitchell sponsored a "mermaid" gown of chartreuse crêpe patterned with gold threatds. It boasted a new version of the halter neck, practically no back above the waistline, one profusely pleated sleeve of the angel type, and a pleated train.

Scores of other garments, some designed by individuals and others by groups of artists, helped to enhance for Chicago the reputation already established by manufacturers here, for style alertness and quality of merchandise.

At the Merchandise mart tonight an estimated attendance of 3,500 is anticipated for the fashion parade of moderately priced garments there. Knitted ensembles and cottons combined with synthetic fabrics will be featured in the group of women's, children's, and infants' wear—one of the largest single events of the current fall market week.

Japanese Producers Ape Hollywood; Get a Legion of Decency

TOKIO, July 31.—A movement to purify Japanese movies was launched today by the Kaminokunikai [God's country association] affiliated with the powerful Japan Christian league. The action is in sympathy with the Legion of Decency movement in the United States which is attracting interest here.

It is charged that producers have been aping American plots and consequently the movement in America is welcomed, Kaminokunikai holding that purifying pictures in America is having a good effect here. While in the past kisses have been clipped from imported films, there has been a decided laxity in recent years.

However, as a result of criticism, censors have prohibited "She Done Him Wrong," "Rasputin," and other "sexy" pictures. According to a new ruling, kisses between legitimate lovers and married couples will be permitted.

For Mrs. Hoover's invitation was an enclosure in the invitation to the wedding of her secretary, Miss Mildred Hall, to Thomas Allen Campbell, to be held in California at Stanford Memorial church on Aug. 18. Mrs. Hoover will entertain at a reception at her Palo Alto home immediately after the wedding.

Former Wife Aids Romance of Composer

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., July 31.—[Special.]—The marriage of Nacio Herb Brown, composer of stage and motion picture musical hits, and Anita Page, which surprised their friends when it took place at Tia Juana last week, was partly the idea of Brown's recently divorced wife, Jeanne Borlini Brown, who, like Anita, is a film actress.

Miss Borlini won an interlocutory decree here last June 3 which means that Brown cannot legally marry another until expiration of one year from that date. When the composer proposed to pretty Anita for the steenth time he was only doing what his recent wife and good chum had predicted he probably was going to do. The ex-wife waved to Brown and Anita from a table as they danced together on the Cocoanut Grove floor.

As the dancers whirled away Brown thought of his ex-wife's prediction. "Let's go to Mexico and get married," he insisted.

"I told my mother I never would elope without letting her know," Anita said.

So the couple called up Mother Rivers, and mother, dad, and Anita's brother sleepily put on their clothes and joined the wedding trip to Tia Juana.

When the couple returned they went to their respective homes because the marriage isn't legal in this country. It can't be legal until June 4, 1935, and even then another wedding will have to be performed to make it so.

"But I didn't want Anita single around Hollywood; there are too many attractive young men and I was afraid one of them might rush her too hard," Brown explained.

When they remarry it will be a religious ceremony, the couple said. Brown has been divorced twice in the past. His first wife was Ruby Porter Brown who won a $100,000 property settlement and custody of the couple's son, now 13.

Martha Merrill, who started her dancing at 9 years of age in Chicago and danced with Pavley Oukrainsky there and with Parasoff and Fokine in New York, was picked from eight girls in the chorus of "Dames" at Warner studio and given a contract.

A brown-eyed brunette weighing 115, she danced in "Face the Music" and "Manhattan Varieties" on the New York stage. She came to Hollywood a year ago, appeared in the film "Scandals" and then went to "Dames," from whose choruses Dick Powell chose her to appear with him in an advertising "trailer" for that film.

With the picture in its third week under Director John Stahl, Finley Dunne, son of Finley Peter Dunne, is writing additional dialog for the film version of Fannie Hurst's "Imitation of Life" in which Claudette Colbert is playing as star at Universal.

The 90 degree weather is no warmer than the friendship between Herbert Marshall and Gloria Swanson. They often take dinner together in a secluded table of the Russian Eagle Café gardens, and Marshall spent Friday visiting Gloria on her set at Fox studio, where she is appearing with John Boles in "Music in the Air."

Gwen Lee is back in Hollywood after a long lapse during which she made a slow recovery from a breakdown. She's playing in an independent, "A Girl Must Live." . . . Edwina Booth, who never has been well since she went to Africa with the "Trader Horn" expedition, is to go to Hollywood hospital for another protracted examination and course of treatment for the wasting malady that developed while she was in the tropics.

"Windy," a Chic Sale short which is the monolog of a desert prospector, is to be made as a short for M. G. M. . . . Madge Bellamy, who hasn't been featured in films for four years, has the fourth spot from the top in Fox's "Charlie Chan in London," and this represents a climb right back on to the screen ladder for the former darling of the Fox lot. Miss Bellamy's bad luck began when she quarreled with the bosses with Fox right after her big success in "Mother Knows Best."

Front Views and Profiles

SHE was attending A Century of Progress Official Exhibition of the Fine Arts at the Art institute of Chicago (to employ its exact title) and she was waiting on the first floor for a friend before she went up to see art on the second floor. Turning toward the information desk and indicating the Augustus St. Gaudens "Puritan" with a graceful wave of the hand, she said to the attendant:

Sculpture—Fair—Mercy—Make-believe.

EVERY time we hear of any one with power to enforce the law taking thought for animals we feel personally grateful. Thus, commendation to the police officers riding in a squad car down Phillips avenue the other day who went out of their way to do a kindly act. Mrs. Albert Fuller was out walking her dog when she stopped, distressed at the moans of a dog tied in a yard in the blazing sun of one of the hot days last week. He was unable to seek any protection from the sun because of the rope that held him; he had no water, and he obviously had been tied there for a long time. As she was about to go up and untie him, at the risk of trouble with his owners, the squad car passed the house. The policemen saw and heard the dog and immediately came to his rescue. They rang the bell until they raised some one in the house, saw that the dog was released and put in the shade, then drove away.

A SOUTH SIDE woman writes that perhaps two small boys have the right idea—of creating a make-believe world at appropriate times. On the day when the mercury spurted up to 105 she heard two gay little voices singing, "Jingle Bells, Jingle Bells! Jingle all the way—O, what fun it is to ride in a one horse open sleigh." Looking out into the alley, where the sun was blazing hot, she saw the two little boys in sun suits sitting on a cement block, apparently oblivious of the heat, singing the sleighing song.

WHICH brings to mind the elevator starter in a State street store, who was humming "Jingle Bells." A perspiring customer asked him crossly why he didn't sing something more appropriate if he had to sing.

"Well, lady, 'The Good Old Summer Time' wouldn't go so good either," he retorted cheerfully.

Through the Looking Glass

For one thing there's the gorgeous new powder in a pale cocoa shade that is so beautiful you'll froth with envy if you're the lily-white type to whom it is denied. It's one of the most interesting shades we've ever seen. It isn't the regulation sun tan that gets all yellow when the wearer wilts a bit; this is almost a rosy brown and the woman who can wear it—she certainly won't be legion—is one of the luckiest lassies in the world.

One interesting thing about it, as we discovered when we worked with it on the handsomest tanned woman we know, is that it stands us as well under evening light as it does in the cold light of day. With vivid lips and flashing eyes the rose-dusted beige effect is utterly glorious.

Another house has just brought out a liquid powder base especially tinted for the girls who can carry off the sun-kissed effect. It's a golden bronze shade and when the skin is tan it's the ideal base to use. If the tan coat is in the earlier pale stage or the later fading one it bolsters up the effect beautifully.

With a foundation of this shade, followed by a dark powder, you run no risk of the yellow undertone or the pasty appearance that so often mars a sun-tan makeup.

And it's perfectly possible, using the base and the flattering powder, to fool a lot of people into thinking you've really done nothing all summer but court a coat of tan. It's a matter of applying the foundation carefully to face, neck and arms, then powdering with equal care.

You can even, if you want to be thorough about it, use a liquid bronze stain for your hands. We know two giddy girls who did it this winter; they loved having their enemies think they'd been in Florida for the cold months.

Lauds Detroit Symphony for Haydn Music

Critic Has Special Praise for Section Leaders.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

One of the most frequent comments on the two symphony orchestras at A Century of Progress is that usually the Detroit organization specializes on a lighter type than that of the Chicago. These conditions were reversed yesterday afternoon.

The Chicago Symphony orchestra, directed by Eric DeLamarter, went in for the occasional, so-called characteristic pieces in great part, Liszt's Hungarian Rhapsody, folk music as set by Percy Grainger, Leo Sowerby, and Robert Sanders, the last named of whom conducted his own "Hill Billy," and a Glazounow waltz.

The Detroit Symphony orchestra directed by Victor Kolar, presented Beethoven's Third "Leonore" Overture, Haydn's Fourth Symphony, and a varied collection of operatic music.

There has been occasion in the past to express public admiration for these musicians from Detroit when playing works of light character. They make an even stronger case for themselves in their graver aspects. They have an admirable tone, one that is solid, clear, and subject to pronounced flexibility of tempo and change of color.

Such a performance as that of yesterday afternoon means several things, among them a capable and well trained group of players, a conductor who is both leader and musician, and the fact that both players and conductor understand each other.

One need never demand a cleaner, more clearly defined, more logical performance of Haydn than the one of this symphony. And in one of the operatic excerpts, the ballet music from "Le Cid," it became apparent that there are some eminent section leaders in the orchestra who are able to be fine soloists, not only the concert master and first trumpet, who proved themselves on a previous occasion, but the first flute, first clarinet, and first oboe as well.

Frank St. Leger made his first appearance as guest conductor with the Chicago Symphony orchestra last night. Formerly one of the Chicago Opera conductors and now the conductor of the Houston, Tex., Symphony orchestra, he speedily proved that he is as good a symphonist as man of opera. His best is facile but full of energy, and he is thoroughly alert in manner, displaying not only easy knowledge but imagination with reference to the music in front of him. He and the orchestra worked together in what from the front sounded like complete sympathy and mutual understanding.

Her Husband's Fiancee

BY ELIZABETH YORK MILLER

SYNOPSIS.

Cecily Marshall returns after a year's absence to the home in Bellchester, England, where she had lived with her husband, David Marshall, the city's leading merchant prince. Cecily had been a shopgirl at Marshall's. Beautiful Audrey Lowe, who had wanted David herself, and her cousin, Reggie Davies, had contrived to break up Cecily's marriage. David believed Cecily unfaithful and won a divorce from her and the custody of their small child, Rose Ann. The child doesn't know the cause of her mother's long absence and grieves for her. Fearing for the child's health, Nanna, her nurse, wires Cecily. David, who is about to marry Audrey, is giving a dinner party for her when Cecily arrives. Nanna admits Cecily secretly. David stops in the nursery before retiring and sees Cecily sleeping beside Rose Ann. Suspecting she plans to kidnap the child he lies in wait till morning. Then he orders her and Nanna from the house. Rose Ann develops brain fever, and David is forced to send for Cecily. Audrey is blackmailed by the wife of the deceased innkeeper she had bribed to swear that Cecily and Reggie had shared the same room a night they were marooned due to motor trouble. Reggie pays an unconventional call on Cecily.

INSTALMENT XV.

It was David.

When Mrs. Lowe, herself, finally opened the door, he caught a back glimpse of Audrey flying down the corridor in a state of feminine undress, while Reggie Davies was fishing his hat and walking stick from the hall stand.

No black eyes were given on this occasion.

Reggie sidled past David contenting himself with a look intended to kill, and Mrs. Lowe hastily explained the situation—her explanation concocted on the spot and calculated, she hoped, to soothe an outraged lover's feelings.

David was given to understand that Reggie had come to see them because his mother—Mrs. Lowe's sister—was very ill. He had just had the news from London, she said.

She told him to go into the drawing room and then scuttled down the hall to Audrey's room to inform her of the excuse she had made. She was, of course, furious with Audrey, but this was a little crisis they had to meet shoulder to shoulder.

When Audrey went in to see David, she had coiled up her hair and pinned her flimsy dressing-gown together at the throat.

For a moment, both were consciously on their dignity.

"Really," said David, "I think you might have warned me." His critical glance flew all over her.

"How was I to know?" Audrey demanded. "Mother and I were going to bed when Reggie called."

"So it seems," said David.

"His mother is my aunt."

"I'm very sorry to hear she is ill," David said politely.

But his anger could not last. Although Reggie Davies was at the bottom of all David's troubles, the troubles themselves rather swept him off the board. Also, Audrey began to cry, and her tears were very real.

"There—there, my dear. I don't mean to be unkind," David said. He drew her down beside him on the couch and put his arm around her. "Forgive me for bothering you like this, but I had to see you. Something has come up which affects us both and I felt I had to tell you."

She raised her head, looking at him with unconcealed alarm.

"First of all," he began—"you'll be glad to hear that that slim chance for Rose Ann is getting more robust. Jasper had the kindness to inform me half an hour ago that he is allowing himself to hope she will pull through."

"O, I'm glad of that," Audrey said in a flat tone of voice which carried little if any sincerity.

David, however, seemed not to notice her lack of enthusiasm. He hurried on with the rest of his story.

"Branchard came in this evening and reminded me of something I'd overlooked. You see, Cecily spent the night at the Grange last night, although I didn't know it—and of course, she's there now. She's got to stay until Rose Ann's completely out of danger."

"You and Cecily under the same roof when your divorce is scarcely cold?" said Audrey.

"So I've been given to understand," Audrey said distantly. "Apparently it's an arrangement you don't object to."

"Of course I object to it." If only he could explain, even to himself, how utterly distasteful it was to him to have Cecily there. Her very presence in the house, even though he kept away from her as much as he could, haunted and tortured him.

"Branchard says that it rather jeopardizes our position," he went on.

"You and Cecily being under the same roof when your divorce is scarcely cold?" said Audrey. "Is that what Mr. Branchard means?"

"It is what he intimated," David said uneasily. "He thinks it would be wiser if I stayed at my club until all this is over."

"Naturally you will, David."

"I don't want to."

"You'd—you'd rather take the risk? You want to be near Cecily—that's what it amounts to."

"I want to be near Rose Ann—within call should an emergency arise."

"So you're not going to take Mr. Branchard's advice!"

"Audrey! I can't believe it's true. A decree nisi stands. If this had happened before it was made absolute, that would be another kettle of fish, of course."

"Yet you're willing to take the chance."

Her voice told him that she despised him.

"I'm too tired to argue, my dear.'

"That's an easy way of getting out of it. I'm as tired as you are. I've had a perfectly rotten day."

"All right, dear, I'll go now. I won't bother you any more."

"You're going back to the Grange, I suppose—not to your club?"

"I'm going back to the Grange first," he said evasively. "After that, I'll see."

She knew she could do nothing with him. David, when he got an idea into his head, could be as stubborn as an army mule.

Perhaps there was no very great danger of the divorce being upset; but the real menace was Cecily, herself.

Cecily with her angel's face protesting not only her innocence, but declaring that she meant to run her traducers to earth. Cecily at the bedside of Rose Ann with David at her elbow. Cecily, back again at Maple Grange, reminding David at every touch and turn by her mere presence there, that he and she had once been everything in the world to each other.

Audrey went to bed that night with a throbbing head.

This bout of poor little Rose Ann's with the deadly fever that had taken hold of her, lasted considerably longer than even Dr. Jasper had expected, but the miracle was that Rose Ann's strength held out, too.

On the fourth day it began to be a question of Cecily's strength.

On that morning, Rose Ann woke up in a cool perspiration to a world that was surprisingly lovely.

The sun was shining and they had the windows open.

Cecily sat on one side of the bed and David on the other, while old Nanna—somewhat gray and shrunken of face though wearing a smile—trotted in and out performing small duties for the hospital nurse who was having her two hours' relief.

Rose Ann had drunk some orange juice and a little diluted milk, about the first nourishment she had taken. She was as weak as a new born kitten, but alive and they knew now she would get well. "If there is no relapse," the doctors had said. They were bound to make that reservation.

Dr. Jasper was back in Manchester and Dr. MacDermott had the responsibility to himself.

Rose Ann moved her eyes from one side of the bed to the other.

"I feel so tired," she said, but she smiled. There were little lines about her mouth. She had almost a middle-aged look. "I don't think I'll get up this morning. Can I have Black Sambo in bed with me?"

Black Sambo was the favorite doll and three people simultaneously made a move to find him, but Nanna was the quickest.

"There, my lamb! Yes, you just lie quiet and don't you talk too much."

"Am I sick, mummy?"

"You have been, darling, but you're much better now."

"I don't feel much better," said Rose Ann. "Why you've got on a new necktie, daddy!"

"So I have. Do you like it?" said David, pleased that he had been given some notice.

"It's the same color as mummy's eyes. Yes, I like it very much."

GASOLINE ALLEY—ABSENCE HATH CHARMS

Hands Deserve Their Share of Sunburn Care

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

If there is a woman left in this land of ours who doesn't know all about protecting her skin from sun-drying influences, it must be that she cannot read. Magazines, newspapers are filled with advertisements of protective creams and emollients. I never saw so many of this sort of cosmetics brought to femine attention as this year's record shows. They're good, too. And they save the skin from drying, reddening leatheriness that formerly used to be the bane of an outdoor summer.

Curiously, however, preserving hand-skin beauty has been comparatively lightly considered. It is curious, when hands are generally more exposed to the sun's rays. One does wear a hat for golf, for boating, horseback riding. One gets under a cartwheel or beach umbrella. But the hands are encased in gloves rarely for these outdoor activities. And they are washed with soap and water five times as often a day as the face is cleaned. So that altogether one does see many more summer hand fatalities these days than those of the complexion.

BUT—it won't be long now before hands will get just that same protective care outdoors as do the faces. Already there are some grand hand creams and lotions for this very thing. Of course, we've always had good hand lotions, but they were thought of more in terms of bridge and dinner table advantages than as outdoor protectives. Now, with the girls having to leap from a tennis court or a beach to a penthouse roof dinner date in the sheerest and crispest of dinner gowns, the hands have to be quickly transformed to complement the charming ensemble.

The thing that is going to make hand protection popular is the improvement in the hand products of recent days. You can get hand massage creams that are not one bit sticky or greasy, and disappear like magic into the skin. It's no trick at all, with one of these handy, to keep the hands soft and lovely, although one's calling may involve the proverbial household duties that are hard on the hands.

Also, for that dinner date, or the contract call, there are finishing creams [hand makeup preparations, really] that help conceal redness, freckles, or liver spots.

Hijacking Man Into Marriage Is Low Conduct

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"Getting your man" is accomplished by devious routes. But throwing oneself into hysterics before a house party and demanding to know what is holding up getting the ring and license is a form of hijacking hardly consistent with love's young dream, would you not say?

Thus was a young man's recent house party celebration ruined by a girl who decided to call his hand publicly. On no occasion had he led the girl to believe their friendship would result in marriage. In fact, he had been frank enough to explain that neither circumstances nor the girl in the case would permit the step. She agreed that they could be friends and would be friends. That's all she'd ask. He felt that he was monopolizing her time and had frequently suggested that she look elsewhere.

Then the house party and the ultimatum delivered.

Men in these situations are victimized as are many by the alimony getting wives. The woman is always right. If she hollers loudly enough she manages to create sympathy for herself. And the type hollers. It's their way of getting what they want. But it isn't sportsmanship. It isn't even good management of one's love affairs to throw hysterics in the hope of making the man say: "All right, we'll get married then!" Or, am I wrong? Does any means justify the end if you want a certain man? I've known cases in which men were practically bullied into marriage, that turned out satisfactorily. I will say that it takes grit on a man's part to hold to his determination not to wed under such circumstances as described above.

CONQUERING CONTRACT

REBIDDING PROCEDURE OF ORIGINAL NO-TRUMP BIDDER.

Continuing without interruption yesterday's discussion of the situation when opener has a concealed long suit and responder makes a suit take-out which leaves the hand's destiny still in doubt, I wish to stress the reason for my making a rigid rule—they are rare in my system—that when once you have opened the bidding with a no-trump you may not bid a four card suit until the bidding has gone beyond three no-trumps. This is to guard against the necessity for both partners to deny each other's suits and thereby waste precious bidding opportunities which should be serving a more constructive purpose.

The principle of "instalment bidding" necessarily applies to the responding hand's take-out. By this I mean that he needs a second round of bidding to show whether he is very weak [he will then rebid his suit] or strong enough to raise the two no-trump rebid to three, or perhaps bid a second suit. This we must concede, and we can afford it. We cannot afford for there to be doubt also about the length of the opening bidder's concealed suit. Responder must feel safe in passing or raising that suit bid with adequate trump support for a suit known to consist of more than four cards.

Responder Has a Very Definite Knowledge About a Suit Bid by Opener Subsequently to an Original No-Trump.

When the opener bids a suit under the game level, after having opened with one no-trump, the responder not only knows that it consists of more than four cards, he also knows that it is a strong suit, headed by tops, because if the long suit is weak the opener should, as we have seen in recent articles, bid the suit and not no-trumps. Consequently the responder should know whether a partial score contract will be safer in his suit or in the declarer's. If his own suit is in any way comparable to the suit he now knows declarer to hold, he will undoubtedly be strong enough to wish the hand to be played in three no-trumps and bid accordingly. Of course, if responder's suit is a major but opener's is a minor, it devolves on the responding hand to take a less subsidiary part in the bidding and to rebid a five card major suit in the hope that the opening bidder may be able to contract for game in no-trumps or in the suit.

Let Us Analyze a Few Examples.

Sp. K x — Di. A J 9
Hts. K 10 x — Cl. A K x x x and he rightly bids a no-trump rather than a club, since the lead up to this hand is a positive necessity in no-trumps.

Responder's hand is

Sp. Q J x x x — Di. K x x
Hts. x x x — Cl. x x and the bidding goes—one no-trump, two spades. Opener's hand is so very "minimum" that he should now bid three clubs, not two no-trumps, and thus pass to his partner the decision whether game or partial score shall be the destiny of the bidding. Partner must of course bid three spades, which opener will pass. Had opener's hand been

Sp. K x — Di. A J 10
Hts. K Q 10 — Cl. A K x x x

he would, over two spades, bid two no-trumps, hoping his partner could next bid three hearts or three no-trumps. Over the respondent three spade rebid he would himself bid three no-trumps, there being now no need to tell any one about the club suit.

With

Sp. K x x — Di. A Q 9
Hts. K x — Cl. A K x x x

the opener should, on this same bidding, bid four spades over three spades. Were the club holding A K Q x x, I would at this point bid three no-trumps rather than four spades, because now I will expect to lose no club trick in no-trumps. With the weaker club suit I would expect to lose at least one trick in it at no-trumps, whereas in spades I may hope to find my partner with only two of them. Thus he will ruff out the suit and obtain discards of one or more losers from his own hand. The game in spades is then likely to depend on the location of the ace of hearts and a normal spade division in the opponent's hands.

Miss Holloway Will Be Bride on October 20

Their many friends along the north shore and in town are sorry to see them leave this part of the country for this attractive aviation aid to Admiral Cluverius and his equally charming wife are great favorites. He was a Highland Park boy so has many relatives and old friends here, of course.

Mrs. Geraghty Will Stage Operetta.

The opening tonight of the historical Spanish light opera, "Hispanana," that Mrs. Geraghty has directed and for which Mrs. Stewart Harvey has done the costuming, will be a gala occasion. Some of those who will dine tonight in the Plaza Mayor in the Spanish Village and see the pageant-opera are the senior Byron S. Harveys and the juniors, too; John Drum, Shepard Vogelgesang, Miss June Cornell, and Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Owings.

Miss Mary Elizabeth Edmunds, who is the fiancée of English Walling, came down from Milwaukee last night to be the dinner and theater guest of the Frederic Harney Bassetts.

Mrs. Byron S. Harvey is planning a wardrobe for a camp in the Canadian wilds. On Aug. 15 she is leaving to be the guest of Mrs. Fowler McCormick at Grand Anse, which is a retreat in the woods. Mrs. Harvey is anticipating the vacation with especial pleasure, since she has been recuperating from an operation the last several weeks. Mrs. McCormick already has been at Grand Anse a fortnight with Dr. James Stillman and his wife and baby and young Alex Stillman.

One of the summer homes to which invitations are always to be envied is the Edwin W. Sims' ranch at Au Gres, Mich. With its sandy beach, tennis courts, and miles of bridle paths, to say nothing of its "cuisine," which would please any rancher's heart, it furnishes abundant vacation for a number of Chicago friends during the course of the summer.

Guests now at the ranch house are the young Frank Simses with their baby and Mrs. Frank Sims' sister, Miss Caroline McNair. They motored up together last Saturday, but Miss McNair will precede the others home. She is due back in town the 11th, but the Simses will remain away until the 17th.

Hollywood

BY SIDNEY SKOLSKY.

Hollywood, Cal., July 31.—A behind-the-scenes peep at two comedians trying to play a comedy scene. One comic is the dead pan Ned Sparks and the other is the "I'm Not Dreaming, I'm Just Lazy," Stepin Fetchit.

The flicker is "Marie Gallante." The scene is on the balcony of a Panama hotel where Ned Sparks has come for a shave. The barber is Stepin Fetchit. Mr. Sparks and Mr. Fetchit keep breaking each other up all afternoon. Each believes the other is very funny.

It's odd to see the dead pan Sparks break into laughter. He looks like a stranger. If his public saw him laughing his screen career would be ruined. It is expensive laughter, for every time Sparks and Fetchit fail to go through with the scene it costs the company money. It probably will be worth while if the public believes Fetchit is as funny as Sparks thinks he is and if the public believes Sparks is as funny as Fetchit thinks he is.

Fetchit, after lathering Sparks, picks up a menacing razor and ays: "I'm gonna make your face look like mine!" "What!" bellows Sparks, "give me that razor. Get me a mirror." Fetchit gets the mirror and holds it in different positions while Sparks starts shaving. Then Fetchit offers a suggestion. Sparks shoots: "Whose face am I shaving, yours or mine?" Fetchit, holding the mirror, says in that slow drawl: "I guess it must be yours. Mine ain't bleeding, is it?"

Anyway the comedians just laughed and laughed.

Persian Influence Is Noted in Styles at Paris Exhibitions

PARIS, July 31.—(AP)—Persian fashions will next lay their mark on women's winter modes which already have shown the influence of Austria and the fifteenth and seventeenth centuries in France.

Rosine of Paris displayed numerous day and evening costumes topped by fitted, gently flared knee-length coats suggestive of those worn by the Persian shahs. Embroidered fabrics also appeared to have Persian inspiration.

A gray wool frock embroidered with white dots and designed along stem-like lines accompanied a fitted knee-length gray wool coat with gray astrakhan collar rising high enough to veil the chin.

Another gray costume combined a similar coat, collared with astrakhan and piped with a band of bright red, with a frock whose sleeves were embroidered with red and gold butterflies. It was accompanied by a peaked crown rolled brim hat reminiscent of Turkestan.

PARIS, July 31. — The Princess Lucien Murat, nee Marie de Rohan-Chabot, will marry Count Charles de Chambrun, French ambassador to Rome and honorary citizen of the United States, in October, it was learned today. The princess, whose husband died this year, is the daughter of the late Duke and Duchess de Rohan. The count was born in Washington and with his brothers, Gen. de Chambrun, who married Clara Longworth, and the marquis, whose wife is the former Margaret Rives Nichols, he shares the distinction of honorary American citizenship due to his direct descent from the Marquis de Lafayette.

Smart Dress for Young Has Feeling of Fall

JUNIOR GIRL'S DRESS.

If you have a young daughter, why not make her this pretty dress? A gray-blue silk showing fine red stripes, a dull red, would be darling. Have the belt and bow of plain red. Curiously enough, a smart feeling usually accompanies an advanced fall style for in-between-season wear, and there's no denying that young girls revel in the feeling. Black satin would be another smart choice, using white bengaline for the bow.

The pattern, No. 3175, comes in sizes 11, 13, 15, and 17 years.

Buddy Rogers Will Be Host at Party Today

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Is that invitation I sent to you tucked safely into your pocket or purse? Because if it isn't, how are you boys and girls who are to be my guests this afternoon going to be admitted to our exciting party at the Hotel Sherman?

Please be at our meeting place promptly, because we'll want to get a prompt start enjoying the good time Buddy Rogers has arranged for us.

If you're not to be included this afternoon and still haven't written in for our next big party, there's time to get a letter to me if you mail it today. We're going to the United Artists theater, you know, to see "Bulldog Drummond Strikes Back," a movie mystery featuring the talented Ronald Colman, pretty Loretta Young, and that funny old Charles Butterworth. Mickey Mouse's version of "Gulliver's Travels" will be on the screen, too, so you know we'll have an uproarious afternoon.

I want to take as my guests 100 boys and girls who are anxious to come, so if you think you'd enjoy the movie on Aug. 9, write and tell me why. I also want to know your name, address and age, and as I have to select the winners tomorrow you'll have to get your note in the mailbox some time today. Address it to Sally Joy Brown, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Chicago.

Showboat Dixiana Will Open with Old Melodrama Aug. 8

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

The showboat Dixiana, which has been a subject of discussion, gossip and mystification in Chicago for two years or more, will open as a theatrical enterprise Wednesday, Aug. 8, with "No Mother to Guide Her," a melodrama of forty years ago, as its first bill.

The boat, which was moored in the river at Clark street last winter but not permitted to operate, is now docked in the north branch at Diversey parkway.

The Dixiana's superstructure, containing a theater, restaurant and bar, designed in old fashioned architectural style, was built at a cost of $50,000. It is owned by the Great Lakes Show Boat company, of which Erwin Mayers, an attorney; George Kremm, an investment banker, and Jacob Weller, an architect, are the officers.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., July 31.—[Special.]—Frances Perkins, secretary of labor, has gone to the White mountains, where she is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Poole in their summer home at Franconia, N. H.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Tumulty, the secretary to President Wilson during his régime, announced today the engagement of their daughter, Grace, to Dr. Philip A. Caulfield, son of Philip E. Caulfield of Johnstown, Pa.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

"I spent the whole summer in the hospital a few years ago," wrote one of my readers, "and how I suffered from the heat, because of the rubber sheets which they have to keep on the beds. It gave me a great fellow feeling for the babies I see in rubber panties and made me warn mothers against rubber sheeting. I haven't a baby—but honestly, I believe if I had, I'd be willing to have my washing tripled if I could spare my baby the discomfort of rubber."

I believe many mothers are aware of this—but not all. Rubber, of course, is absolutely air tight and should be used only when absolutely necessary. Some mothers will clap a rubber diaper or panties on a baby for their own convenience when they could get along perfectly well without it. In the hot weather especially, dispense with this sort of thing whenever possible.

The two lightest and most comfortable forms of moistureproof sheeting are the oil silk, which is of course light in weight, and the rubber stockinette which is somewhat heavier and naturally different in texture. The oil silk sheeting in an average size costs a little over a dollar. The stockinette sheeting varies in price, according to size.

The best moistureproof pantie for the untrained baby or the one who when traveling is only partly reliable, is a light weight oil silk, one which is nicely fitted so that it slips on neatly over the regular diaper. The price varies according to size, but is always less than a dollar.

And speaking of diapers, when I touched on the subject the other day, I stated that no startling invention had been created in this line as a boon to mothers. There are two articles, however, that I didn't have space to mention. And both of these have been practically tested and are much liked. One is a soft-finished, shaped, knitted diaper which is easy to wash and absorbent.

The other article aims at wash-elimination. It is a filler, somewhat similar to the cleansing tissues we associate with our beauty rites. It is laid inside the knitted-fitted or the regular bird's-eye diaper and can be flushed away in the toilet after use.

Moonflower.

This reproduction in a quilt design of the velvety moonflower makes its initial appearance here. Crimson, yellow, and green form the color arrangement, an unexpected but striking one for a flower with such a celestial name. The applique blocks measure 12 inches when completed and 28 are required for an entire coverlet.

Cooking Editor Gets Down to Potato Facts

Tubers Aren't Simple as They Look.

"Baking the Perfect Cake," a 56 page booklet containing directions and recipes for 48 cakes, frostings, and fillings, along with causes and remedies for cake failures, is on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street, Tribune Tower, and Hall of Science, A Century of Progress, for 20 cents. By mail, 23 cents, stamps or coin. Address mail requests to Mary Meade, Chicago Tribune.

BY MARY MEADE.

If vegetables could pout there would be a pucker of discontent on the face of Pat Potato which could be seen all the way across the kitchen. For of all the misunderstood food products this Irisher claims the marbles for being the least comprehended. Sitting in on a confab with a potato and Prof. E. V. Hardenburg of the New York state college of agriculture, we learn the reasons.

First in the lineup is the fact that the majority of household potato buyers are just too busy to get acquainted with their potatoes. We call the corner grocer and order up "a peck of potatoes," and then wail when they turn out to be soggy, diseased, or too fragile for boiling. First hand shopping for these important foods is a much smarter way, for any of us can become a modest judge of quality—eating quality, cooking quality, and food value—with a little practice.

The eating quality depends mainly upon our families. The potato which pleases our palates has good eating quality. But we're not all tickled by the same tastes. In general the flavor of new potatoes is preferred to that of the old. They're a bit sweeter and not so strong in flavor. With age this sweetness lessens—also with storage in very warm places. This is because gradually the sugar in the potato is changed into starch. When the sprouting time comes to a potato the original good flavor has about taken leave.

Often we come across a definitly acrid flavor in potatoes. This usually turns up when the tuber has been sun burned or exposed for a very long time to the light. Busy experimenters have found that old potatoes which have not sprouted and which have been held at storage temperatures of 40 degrees F. or below are most nearly like their young brothers in flavor. In fruits we often come across quite a marked difference in taste among the standard varieties. This is not so in the potato tribe.

Good cooking quality isn't so much a matter of taste as it is of the way the potato is going to be served. The new fellows from the south which are shipped to us usually have been harvested before they were ripe. These are firmer and less meally, making much better boiling potatoes than they do baking or mashing ones. Well behaved potatoes should be fairly evenly shaped, with a uniform white flesh (have friend grocer slice open one or two) and with no wasteful surface defects.

But don't try to judge the cooking quality by the color of the skin. Most of the redskins, home grown, make as good eating as the whiteskin laddies. When the potato is cut for you make sure that the centers show no hollow, watery, or coarse places. And avoid potatoes which have an outer ring which is definitly whiter than the inside. These are too likely to give lumps when mashed and to scale off during boiling.

Then the food value. This is something it's good to know, but a matter which we can't tell by simply staring at the potato bin. You've all heard and maybe raised the old howl about potatoes and fatness. But this is hardly fair, especially when we leave out the potatoes and fill up on breadstuffs. Actually potatoes rank shoulder to shoulder with milk as one of the most economical foods. They're rich in all the important minerals except calcium. They're well tanked with all the vitamins except vitamin A. And if you have a yen for figures their make-up is just this: 78 per cent water, 18 per cent starch, 2 per cent protein. Potatoes, by the way, are more quickly and easily digested than almost any of the other common starchy foods.

Then one more thing about the business of food value. A good many of our body upsets come because of too much of the acid producing foods—meat, eggs, bread, and such, with not quite enough alkaline producing foods to balance them. There aren't any too great a number of these balancers, so we're charmed to know that whenever we intake a potato with all its alkalinity we're boosting health just that much.

Broadloom Rugs

Here's the reason why—

Some were mill ends—remnants left over after the regular size rolls were made up—perfectly good but not long enough to use on carpeting orders. Others have slight imperfections (wire-marks from the looms) which in no way impair the wearing quality of the rugs and have a tendency to disappear after a short time when the pile has been tread upon. Deep, thick texture and a notably velvety surface distinguish this from the type of broadloom usually found at this price. There's an extensive assortment of all the decorative colors—the largest assortment we have ever presented in a sale of this sort.

Sarouk, Kirman, Chinese Rugs Priced Extremely Low at $195, $219, $249

Square salad plates are an added bit of smartness not ordinarily found in services at this low price, which, take notice, prevails only while present quantities last.

KIZER PASSES HANLEY TO LEAD COACHES' POLL

East Votes Heavily for Little, Crowley.

Bernard Accepts

CHUCK BERNARD, All American center from the University of Michigan, yesterday accepted an invitation from The Tribune to participate in the game between the college All-Stars and Chicago Bears. Harry Bennett, his employer at the Ford Motor company in Detroit, granted him a two weeks' leave of absence with pay so that he might take part in Chicago's big charity game without financial loss to himself. Bernard will report on Aug. 15 with the other candidates for the team.

BY ARCH WARD.

Football fans in Big Ten territory who are anxious to have a midwest coach handle the 1933 All-Americans in their game with the Bears at Soldiers' field the night of Aug. 31 had better go to work. Today's standings in the nation-wide vote give you an idea of the way the east has rallied to the support of its outstanding candidates, Lou Little of Columbia and Jimmy Crowley of Fordham.

Returns from the east and new centers in the central states have given an entirely different aspect to the coaches' contest. In the first place Noble Kizer of Purdue, who has been second since the voting began, passed Dick Hanley of Northwestern for leadership. Today's totals include a heavy vote from northern and central Indiana, where Kizer might be expected to muster maximum strength.

The surprising developments of the last 24 hours, however, have been the rise of Little and Crowley. The Columbia leader, who was eighth in the Tuesday morning standings, jumped to third after ballots from the east rolled in. Crowley, who ranked ninth yesterday morning, has moved up to sixth, passing Spears of Wisconsin and Layden of Notre Dame. It has been interesting to observe that Little has run well everywhere, a tribute, no doubt, to Columbia's brilliant victory over Stanford in the Rose Bowl game last New Year's day.

Nevers Leads in California.

Howard Jones of Southern California, who was expected to sweep the coast, is running far behind, due probably to his inability to accept appointment were he elected by the fans because of a previous engagement at an Oregon coaching school.

Ernie Nevers of Stanford, who played with and coached the Chicago Cardinals in the National Professional league a few years ago, is leading the race in California. He has collected more than three times as many votes as his boss at Palo Alto, Tiny Thornhill. Slip Madigan of St. Mary's has received fine support from coast fans. He also has run surprisingly strong in the central states.

All candidates for the biggest job ever offered a college coach are receiving fine support in their own localities. Madison, Wis., for instance, is almost solidly for Dr. C. W. Spears. He is running nearly two to one ahead of Kizer and more than eight to one ahead of Zuppke. Omaha is backing Dana X. Bible of Nebraska enthusiastically. He is about two to one ahead of Ossie Solem of Iowa in eastern Nebraska and six to one ahead of Hanley, who ranks third. Bloomington, Ill., gives Zuppke a slight lead over Elmer Layden of Notre Dame, who is proving one of the surprises of the poll. Layden has yet to send a Notre Dame team into action, but he ranks seventh this morning in the nation-wide voting.

Kizer Gets Notre Dame Support.

There are growing indications that Kizer is receiving strong support from Notre Dame rooters. This department has been swamped with letters from fans hoping that a man teaching the Notre Dame style of play lands the job. For this reason there have been a few hundred votes cast for Curley Lambeau, coach of the Green Bay Packers, but they have not been counted. No coach now engaged in professional football will be eligible to direct the collegians' play.

The voting to select a college coach is developing into one of the most interesting sports contests of all time. Collegiate loyalty and sectional pride are apparent on all sides. The polls close at midnight Aug. 10, so there is no time to lose.

California, Oregon, and Washington are working hard to put over a western coach. The east is pulling for Little and Crowley.

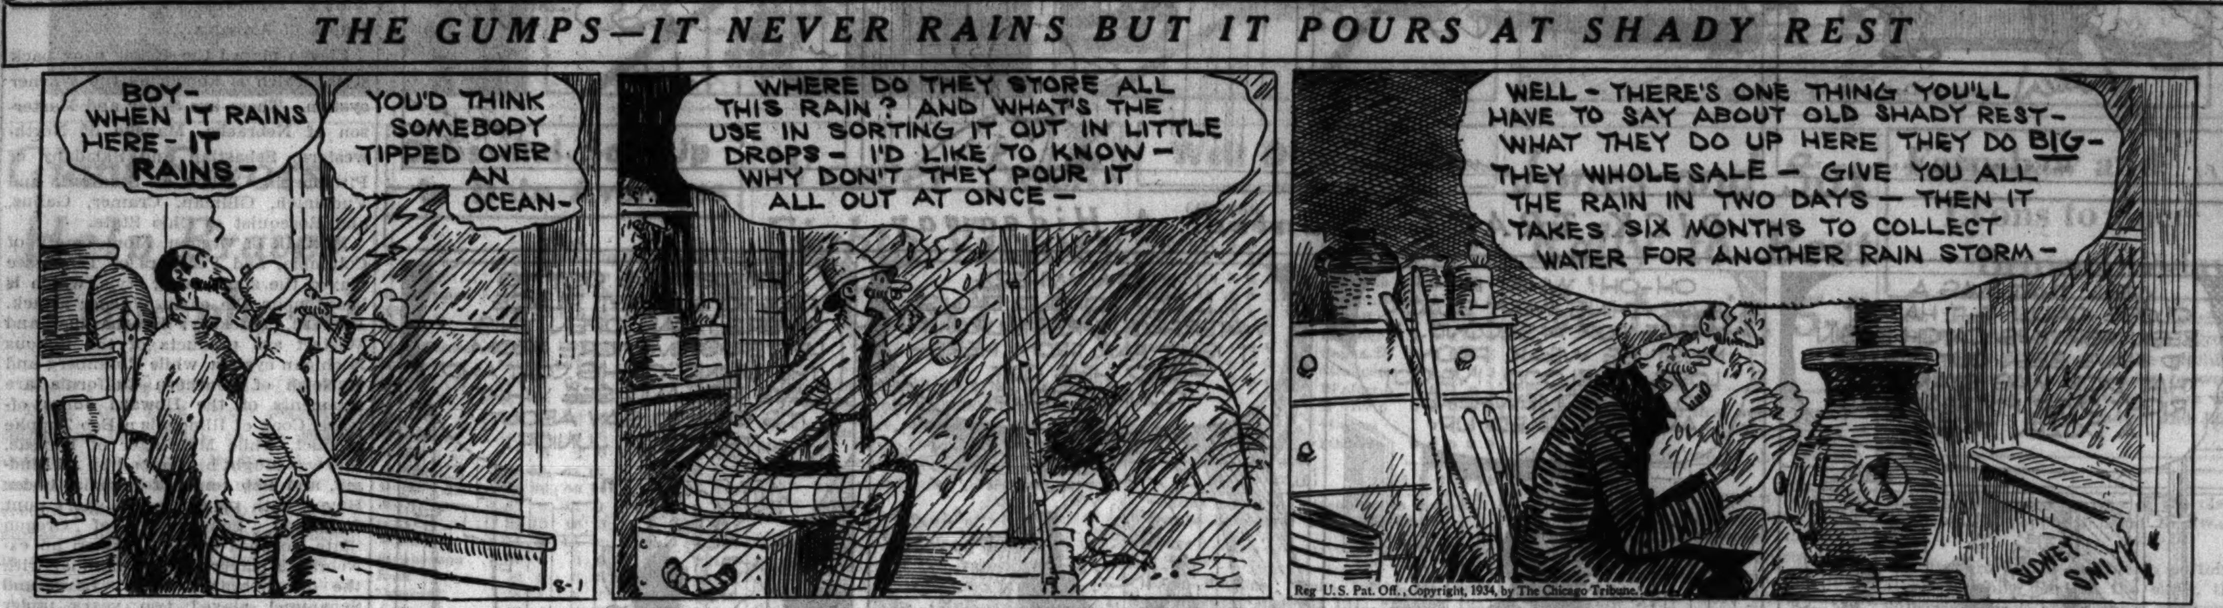
Pug Lund Loses Tip of Finger Hurt Last Fall

Minneapolis, Minn., July 31.—(AP)—Francis [Pug] Lund, half back at the University of Minnesota, was preparing for the coming football season here today without the tip of the little finger on his left hand. The tip was amputated by a Minneapolis physician who said the finger had been stiff ever since Lund broke it in a game last fall. He added that the loss of the finger tip would not interfere with Lund's play.



THREE ALL-AMERICANS FROM CALIFORNIA

Alice Faye, Fox film featured player, congratulates Aaron Rosenberg (left), University of Southern California guard, and Homer Griffith, Trojan back field star, on their selection as members of the All-Star team which plays the Bears at Soldiers' field Aug. 31. Griffith is under contract to Fox and Rosenberg is an assistant director for the company. "Good luck, Homer," says Alice, "and bring home the bacon, Aaron!" Fox Films made special arrangements in its production program to allow the two coast stars to play in Chicago.

Hanley Cites Task Before All-Star Club

[Northwestern Football Coach.]

One hundred and sixty-five thousand fans cannot be wrong!

When this multitude of football enthusiasts from every section of the country selected the All-Star college team by ballot, it proved conclusively that football still is king of our contact athletic games, regardless of the thermometer and the calendar.

Asked by The Tribune to analyze the game between the college stars and the Chicago Bears to be played Aug. 31 at Soldiers' field, I wish to make a preliminary observation and to devote my first article to it. This game hardly can be called a test between collegiate football and the professional game.

As a spectacle, the contest should be unparalleled. It will provide the basis of innumerable comparisons. Fans who witness it, whether their allegiance goes naturally to the college game or the pros, will be supplied with fuel for countless post-season sessions in the hot stove league.

The Systems Differ.

But one must face the facts. The college team will meet an outfit that works as a unit, whose components have familiarized themselves with each other in a single style of play through desperate, hard fought battles.

Many of the college stars selected have won the acclaim of fans because of their ability to learn thoroughly the particular style of play favored by their coach. Fitting snugly into his coach's system added luster to the individual effort each put forth.

The question, then, in the game of Aug. 31 is how thoroughly these students of different styles of play will weld together as a unit in the system best fitted to meet the attack of the veteran Bears.

A collegiate squad is not picked from the star members of the senior class. Rather, a championship squad invariably depends upon the merging of the enthusiasm of the outstanding sophomores, the tested ability of juniors and the maturity and experience of seniors. From the date of their matriculation these boys are taught one definite system of football.

Basic Principles Vary.

The All-Star team, as pointed out, must be the product of many styles of play. While some of these may be based upon the same fundamental principles, there is a great enough variance to make the problem of organization a difficult one.

Checking over the personnel of the All-Star squad we find that nine of the

REPORTER HALTS CUNNINGHAM IN ATTEMPT TO WED

Wichita, Kas., July 31.—[Special.]—A marriage attempt by Glenn Cunningham, University of Kansas track star, and Margaret Speir, Peabody, Kas., was believed to have been frustrated by a reporter in the office of Probate Judge Clyde M. Hudson today. The newspaper man, J. D. Dickerson, tried to question Cunningham, but the Kansas athlete left the office immediately.

"If you're going to put it in the papers, we won't get married here," Cunningham said as he departed with Miss Speir.

BRITISH RETAIN DAVIS CUP; WIN BOTH SINGLES

Perry Whips Shields in Deciding Match.

WIMBLEDON, England, July 31.—The quest that has taken American tennis teams across the Atlantic for seven long years ended in another failure today.

Beneath a pitiless sun a crowd of 16,000 saw the English team win both singles matches from the Americans to keep the Davis cup another year. It was the first time in 21 years that the cup has been won on English soil. The final score in matches was 4 to 1.

Frank Shields lost the deciding match to Fred Perry, but only after a titanic struggle. Fighting with superlative courage until he was at the point of exhaustion, Shields took the British champion to 28 games in the final set before losing. The score was 6-4, 4-6, 6-2, 15-13.

Princess Presents Cup.

Perry's victory made the cup secure for England, for two other matches out of the five in the challenge round had been won Saturday. Bunny Austin defeated Sidney Wood in the last match today, 6-4, 6-0, 6-8, 6-3.

Princess Helena Victoria, the king's cousin, presented the gleaming silver bowl to Roper Barrett, non-playing captain of the British team. The Americans' defeat today was not unexpected, for they had been placed in a desperate position by their defeats Saturday. Perry's victory especially had been almost a foregone conclusion, but only those who knew Shields were prepared for the tremendous fight which the New York boy waged.

Many times he seemed to have that agonizing fourth set within his grasp and he had Perry so exhausted that anything might have happened in the fifth. The set finally ended after an hour and a quarter with both players so tired they seemed incapable of firing another stroke.

Throng Cheers Shields.

Twice Perry got to match point in the final game and twice Shields snatched it away from him. In the end Perry was the more exhausted of the two.

"That last set has taken 20 years off my life!" he gasped, as he stumbled off the court. He struggled to his dressing room and there slumped down upon a bench almost too dazed to speak.

Shields' performance was all the more wonderful because of the obstacles against him. He must have foot faulted twenty times during the match. Toward the end calls from the foot fault judge were so incessant that Shields seldom got to the net after his serve until the ball was actually being returned to him. What effect it had upon his game one could only guess, but he never gave a word or gesture of complaint. The crowd cheered him with a mighty din as he left the court.

Talking It Over

BY ARCH WARD.

AL SIMMONS, one of the best outfielders baseball has developed, may be a married man before another season rolls around. . . . He has been courting Doris Reader, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Reader, 1063 North Shore avenue, and friends of the couple predict wedding bells will ring shortly after the world series. . . . Miss Reader, an attractive 19 year old brunette, formerly lived in Racine, Wis., where her father was in the furniture business. . . . She does not deny they are engaged, but Al says there is nothing to it. . . . Miss Reader, who attended Washington High school in Milwaukee, met Simmons last spring in California, where the White Sox were training for the American league season. . . . Since then they have been seen together frequently. . . Simmons was engaged once before when he was a member of the Philadelphia Athletics, but the romance ended before they reached the altar. . . .

You never could guess what Ed Durham is doing to get his arm in condition so that he can resume pitching for the White Sox next season. . . . He is rowing a boat near his home at Chester, S. C. . . .

This form of exercise was prescribed by doctors who diagnosed his trouble as lesion of the arm muscles. . . . George Anderson, University of California sprinter who coast fans predict will be the next world's champion, always carries two rabbit's feet. . . . Truck Hannah, former Yankee catcher and now coach of the Los Angeles club, hasn't cashed a pay check this season and the team's bookkeepers are nearly frantic trying to make their books balance. . . . Cleveland has drawn 50,000 more paid admissions than at this time last year. . . . Officials feel that their return to the old park has had something to do with the increase. . . . The football game between Northwestern and Marquette this fall will be the first time the schools have met on the gridiron since 1905. . . . The Wildcats, known in those days as the Fighting Methodists, defeated Marquette, 30 to 5. . . .

Art Nehf, former Cub southpaw, is ill at his home in Phoenix, Ariz. . . . John Sears, new National league umpire, works in street shoes instead of spikes and flashes a big diamond in the afternoon sun as he signals balls and strikes. . . . Ernie Orsatti once served in the movies as a double for Buster Keaton. . . . Jim Londos will come to Chicago about Sept. 1 to begin training for his match with Strangler Lewis, scheduled for Wrigley field Sept. 20. . . . He will pitch camp near Libertyville, Ill., for at least the first week. . . . Connie Mack is kept busy denying he will sell Jimmy Foxx. . . . Eastern scribes say if the slugger is put on the block he will go to Boston, where Mack thinks he ought to make amends for the $125,000 Grove deal. . . .

The men picked as Michigan's first four centers for the 1934 football season weigh 835 pounds. . . . The first two, Gerald Ford of Grand Rapids, 202, and Russell Fuog of Chicago, 200, are seniors. . . . The next two, Stan Schuman of Winnetka, 188, and Harry Wright of Mount Clemens, 245, are good sophomore prospects. . . . Rip Collins, Cardinals' first baseman, saves all broken bats at Sportsman's park to build a picket fence around his home in Rochester, N. Y. . . . Roy Mack, son of the Athletics' manager, is secretary of the Portland team of the Coast league. . . .

Family tradition will be carried on in Notre Dame football. . . . Peter Hearden, brother of Tom, who was co-captain of the 1926 team, will be on the 1934 squad. . . . So will Fred Carideo, cousin of the famous Frank; and Mike Layden, brother of Elmer, Notre Dame's head coach. . . . Jerry Weibel, brother of the late Dr. John Weibel, guard with the Four Horsemen, will enter the university in the fall. . . . Corwin Gelwick, University of Illinois tennis coach, rates Johnny Shostrom, state high school champion, one of the best prospects in the country. . . . Shostrom will enroll at Illinois in September. . . . Chicagoans who visit the Santa Anita track in Los Angeles next winter may think they are at Arlington Park. . . . C. J. Fitzgerald, the steward representing the Illinois racing commission, will be the presiding steward at the California track and Roy Dickerson, Arlington starter, will dispatch the fields. . . .

Harrison Weaver, trainer for the Cardinals, has designed a new sweat shirt of linen which is said to be cooler, looser and lighter than the regular diamond undergarment. . . . Manager Bill Terry has sent Adolfo Luque out on a secret scouting mission. . . . For all the talk about the driving prowess of Jimmy Thomson, Lawson Little, and Cyril Tolley, Craig Wood is still the longest driver in golf. . . . He generally disdains a driver, using a brassie off the tee. . . .

Ten Years Ago Today.—Mike Cvengros pitched the White Sox to a 5 to 4 victory over the Red Sox. . . . Babe Ruth pounded out his 33d home run. . . . The Washington Senators moved within a half a game of first place. . . .

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., July 31.—The White Sox came to life this afternoon as a sort of testimonial for Sam Jones, the 42 year old marvel. They stepped up in the late innings when it appeared as if the old gentlemen would suffer a beating despite a brilliant exhibition and the belated activity netted more than enough runs to put down the peppery Brownies in the second of the series. The score was 5 to 2, giving the Chicagoans their fourth victory over the locals in eleven engagements this season.

Jones' brilliance seemed destined for something other than a successful conclusion when he bogged down a bit in the fourth. Two runs scored before Old Sam could get himself adjusted, and at the time this seemed like a hopeless handicap because of the fashion in which George Blaeholder was performing. In six innings the Sox attack was represented by three hits, but this shortage was only temporary. In the seventh three runs were blasted home, and for good measure two more were harvested in the last two innings against Bill McAfee, an ex-Cub.

Madjeski Comes Through.

The heavy man in the production of Jones' eighth favorable decision of the season was Ed Madjeski. He furnished an extra base smash off Blaeholder in the seventh inning to move home two mates with the tying runs. Then he had the pleasure, a few moments later, of carrying in the run that would have been the winning margin if McAfee hadn't proved soft picking in the eighth and ninth. Swanson's enterprise at bat also deserves mention. It was his first hit that sent Madjeski home and another hit off his

WARNEKE BACK IN FORM, SCORES 14TH TRIUMPH

Cuyler Shakes Off Slump.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The real Lon Warneke came back to the Cubs yesterday. Arkansas Lonnie, no longer the tired man who staggered through the east, but the fighting star of old, nailed that protested game in the permanent records as a 7 to 1 Chicago triumph over the third place Cardinals, then came back in the regular scheduled game to achieve his 14th triumph of the year by a score of 7 to 2.

Warneke got off to a bad start in his second appearance of the afternoon when the Cardinals made their day's run production on a homer, a single, a double and an error with only one out in the first inning. Then Lon got sore—angry in just the way members of the Warneke marching club have been hoping he'd get since July 12 when he last won a ball game.

Cubs Gain All Around.

From then on the real Warneke was a very tough hombre. He allowed only three hits in the remaining 8 2-3 innings, a single with one out in the fourth, a single with two out in the sixth, and a single with two out in the eighth. Lon also functioned on the offensive. He singled to drive in a run in the re-play contest and he singled to drive in the run which put the Cubs ahead after two were out in the fifth inning of the regular game.

This very successful return to earth by Warneke and to the beloved Wrigley field by the entire cast had other cheerful aspects, for the Giants lost and, of course, the Cards, too pressing for comfort, dropped back in the standings.

The Giants now are only 2½ games ahead of the Cubs and 5 games ahead of the Cardinals.

It was the ninth Cub victory of the year in 13 starts against Frankie Frisch's boys.

Boys Come to Life.

The Cubs made an even dozen hits in the entire game, though held to a single in the first three innings. Kiki Cuyler, who like Warneke, had many trials and tribulations on the eastern trip, led the Chicago attack in the regular game with a single and two doubles, all of which figured in run production. Woody English also was a three hit gent.

Then there was Charley Grimm, who knocked his fourth home run of the year with one on in the eighth. This fine old gentleman has knocked three of his four homers within the fiscal week. This one was the first one Charles had smacked off a pitcher other than an employé of the Brooklyn ball club.

OLD BUSINESS

The teams lined up exactly as advertised and as per request of President Heydler, who, however, had made reservations for physical incapacity. It had been thought that Hurst would not be able to make his appearance at first, but he recovered to make the cast 100 per cent as of July 2.

Play was started with Billy Herman on third, English on second, two outs and two Cub scores in for the inning, but, of course, not indicated on the score board.

Babe Loses Hit.

Babe Herman was first to bat and promptly became the first player affected by the protest. In the original game Babe singled in the seventh to drive in two runs. Yesterday he was given an intentional pass, filling the bases, thereby losing the hit and two runs batted in which have been appearing after his name for a month.

The Cubs' seventh ended when Frisch threw out Cuyler. Then the Cardinals began to suffer in their personal accounts. In the original game they scored three runs on four hits in the eighth inning. Yesterday Orsatti scratched a single, the only hit off Warneke, and thus became the

CAMPBELL'S 144 TAKES PUBLIC LINKS MEDAL

Scores Run High Again on Pittsburgh Course.

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 31.—[Special.]—Albert [Scotty] Campbell of Seattle, Wash., today shot a 73, one over par for the South Park course, to lead the field in the 36 hole qualifying round of the thirteenth national public links tournament. His card, added to his subpar 71 of yesterday, gave the freckled young westerner, who holds the Canadian amateur title, a two day aggregate of 144.

Campbell's score earned him the qualifying medal against a field of more than 130 players who began the battle for places in the match play bracket yesterday morning. Match play begins tomorrow, continuing through the championship final on Saturday.

Los Angeles Golfer Second.

Following Campbell, who works in a Seattle department store, were John Ross of Los Angeles, with 148, and Don Erickson, Los Angeles newsboy, who today added a 75 to his first round card of 74 for a total of 149. Next in line were Frank Bringoli of New York, Mike Balega of Minneapolis, and Gordon Denney of Louisville, with 150s, and George Lance of Los Angeles with 151.

Scores ran high again today, and two players with 160 totals qualified for the match play after a nine hole playoff in which eleven participated. Three Chicagoans drew berths in the first round tomorrow. These were Wilbur Kokes, 74—79—153; Frank Foley, 76—79—155, and Johnny Banks, captain of the Notre Dame team this year, 78—79—157. Jim Woods Jr. finished with 81—82—163 and Harry Frankenberg with 88—85—173.

Ferrera Cards 159.

Charles Ferrera, San Francisco iron worker who won the championship in 1931 and last year, and shot an 82 yesterday, took 77 to get around today for a total of 159, while another favorite, Carl Kauffman of Pittsburgh, took another 78 today for a 36 hole aggregate of 156.

The Los Angeles team successfully defended its Harding cup in the city team contest and established a new record for the 36 hole event by shooting 603, six less than a year ago at Portland.

Other team scores: Seattle, 620; St. Paul, 624; New York, 625; Minneapolis, 626; Chicago, 628; Columbus and Brooklyn, 631; Louisville, 633; Detroit, 635; Elizabeth, N. MOTORCYCLE TEAM RACES ON CARD TONIGHT

A team race between quartets representing Chicago and Milwaukee will be a feature of the American Motorcycle association flat track racing meet at the Logan Square oval, Elston and Kedzie avenues, tonight.

The Chicago team consists of Jimmy Gibb, Capt. Eric Chitty, Don Smith, and Lou Wilson, who beat the Milwaukee four last week in the first of these races. The professionals representing Milwaukee are Mark Kelly, captain and leading scorer in the A. M. A. standings; Tom Cox, Dick Springston, and Clifford Hills.

Besides the intercity race and the handicap and scratch events, there will be four lap contests for two special groups of riders and a consolation event for losers in the main races. A balloon bursting race will also be introduced.

ATTENDANCE IN INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE HEAVIER

New York, July 31.—[Special.]—The International league is enjoying a great season, Secretary William J. Manley told club representatives at the league's regular summer meeting today. Manley said attendance for the 1934 season is 100,000 ahead of last year's totals.

"It has been a great year. Our figures for this season are 100,000 ahead of last year," Manley said.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Tomorrow is the deadline for entries in the sectional qualifying rounds of the national amateur golf tournament, the Chicago district bracket of which will be decided at the Oak Park Country club on Aug. 21. The entries, accompanied by the fee of $5, must be sent to the United States Golf association, 110 East 42d street, New York.

The tournament proper, which is to be played at the Country club of Brookline, Mass., from Sept. 10 through Sept. 15, will be conducted under an entirely new system this year, following the British plan of match play throughout, and dispensing with the usual qualifying round at medal play. Under this plan every golfer who qualifies in the 36 hole medal play trials on Aug. 21 will be certain of at least one match play round in the big tournament at Brookline.

Since all former national champions, under a new ruling, will be exempt from the necessity of qualifying in their respective home districts, two Chicagoans are already assured of places at Brookline. They are Bob Gardiner of Shore Acres, winner of the title in 1909 and 1915, and Chick Evans of Edgewater, who scored in 1916 and 1920.

The Chicago district field at Oak Park is expected to be one of the largest in local history because of the new system which will allow each player one round of match play at least in the tournament proper. From 15 to 20 places are in prospect for Chicagoans.

The Chicago district invitational tournament season warms up again today with two established events scheduled. They are Calumet's annual Plae Dae and Tam O' Shanter's Doon Th' Burn. Olympic Fields anticipates its usual large entry tomorrow for its Frolic and Lincolnshire is planning to entertain a large field Saturday at its Dawn to Dusk tournament.

Search for the owner of the valuable diamond ring recently found on a fairway at the Westgate Valley daily fee golf course yesterday centered upon the feminine pupils of THE TRIBUNE's golf school, since hundreds of women received their free lessons there from Tom Walsh and his assistants. At least one of the lessons held at Westgate during the school was given at the tee nearest which the ring was found.

The ring, appraised a highly valuable one, was found two weeks ago, but no claimant for it has appeared as yet.

Calumet held its regular ladies' guest day yesterday, with Mrs. Don Powell of Olympia Fields winning low gross for the visitors with a 91, and Mrs. F. Cannon taking low net with 114—36—78. Diane Marks won low gross for members with an 88, and Mrs. L. Thomas took low net with 114—34—80. Mrs. F. Siedenberg took the blind bogey with a 91, and Mrs. B. H. Swainey the putting prize with 33.

The Chicago Federated Advertising club will hold its first golf tournament of the season at the Wilmette Country club on Aug. 8.

The fourth annual golf tournament of the Delta Tau Kappa fraternity will be held Saturday at the Evergreen Golf club, 91st street and Western avenue. A number of prizes will be offered, in addition to the championship trophy, now held by Walter T. Kmieciak, 3228 North Keating avenue.

MANGIN BEATEN IN MEADOW CLUB TENNIS TOURNEY

Southampton, N. Y., July 31.—(AP)—Only one of the seeded favorites fell by the wayside today as the field reached the quarter-final round in the 44th annual Meadowbrook invitational tennis tournament.

J. Gilbert Hall of South Orange, N. J., accounted for the major upset as he eliminated Gregory S. Mangin, second seeded, 6-3, 8-6. Hall was hitting with surprising power and accuracy and kept Mangin on the defensive throughout.

Hall will meet Henry Prusoff of Seattle tomorrow. Prusoff defeated Dwight F. Davis Jr., 6-2, 6-3.

Superior steadiness in the back court gave 18 year old Frankie Parker of Milwaukee, a 7-5, 6-4, victory over Donald Budge of Oakland, Cal., top ranked Junior and Bryan [Bitsy] Grant of Atlanta, was hard put to oust Robert [Lefty] Bryan of Chattanooga, the left hander, 1-6, 6-3, 6-4. Jack Tidball, eastern intercollegiate champion from Hollywood, Cal., likewise, had a strenuous time downing Martin Buxby of Miami, Fla., 6-4, 3-6, 9-7.

Berkeley Bell, Seabright singles champion, came through with a 6-3, 6-3 victory over William Reese of Atlanta, and Gene Mako, Los Angeles youngster, eliminated E. Ramey Donovan of New York, 6-2, 6-2. Wilmer Hines of Columbia, S. C., paraded through a 6-3, 6-3 victory over E. W. Feibleman of New York.

NINE SEA SCOUTS OFF TODAY ON LAKE CRUISE

Nine Sea Scouts will be aboard the 43 foot schooner Albatross when it sails from the Naval Reserve armory at noon today bound for Sturgeon bay, Wis. Lieutenant Commander James S. Trayer, retired, U. S. N., is in command of the Scouts.

It is expected the cruise will take a week by following the west shore of Lake Michigan. The schooner will have Gerald Shipman, director of the north shore Sea Scout region, as skipper.

Those who will sail on the Albatross are Malcolm Clark, Andrew Place, Edward Glover Jr., Dan Andernacht, Malcolm Parry, Carol Root, Walter Swanason, John Louis, and Harry Collins.

BELL DEFEATS RABIA IN GRASS COURT UPSET

J. H. Bell of Chicago yesterday provided the second upset of the national open lawn tennis tournament at the Washington park grass courts by eliminating Jack Rabia, Philippine Island, star, 6-2, 6-3. Bell used a slice which was quite effective on the closely cropped grass.

In a feature third round match today Jim Barton of Northwestern university will meet Ben Johnson of Kansas City and C. O'Donnell of Evanston will play A. Lewis of Indianapolis.

Grace Lerch, seeded No. 2, is scheduled to play Dorothy Robinson in a second round match in the ladies' singles today. Yesterday's results:

Men's singles—C. Becker defeated A. Bowie, 6-2, 6-1; L. Benson defeated W. Newsome, 9-7, 10-8; A. Imala defeated E. Adams, 6-0, 6-3; A. Miles defeated A. Rosia, 6-1, 6-3; S. Elam defeated J. J. Smith, 6-4, 6-3; Claybourn Norris defeated L. Greene, 6-2, 1-6, 6-1.

C. Y. O. TO HOLD FIRST NET MEET OPENING AUG. 20

Tennis will take its place in the athletic program sponsored by the Catholic Youth organization when the first C. Y. O. net tournament is held the week of Aug. 20.

The meet will be held in three divisions: girls', men's, and boys'. Every Catholic residing in the Chicago archdiocese is eligible except players who have won a tournament sanctioned by the U. S. L. T. A.

All entries must be received by Aug. 12, Jack Elder, C. Y. O. athletic director, announced. A handsome team trophy will be given to the parish scoring the greatest number of points in the tournament, while special C. Y. Women Golfing in Shorts Shock Club Officials

Woodmere, N. Y., July 31.—[Special.]—Marion Fisher of Oak Ridge, and Bea Gottlieb of Lakeville, appeared in shorts today in a one day tournament of the Metropolitan Women's Golf association.

So much comment was made in regard to the new attire that Josephine Windle, chairman of the tournament committee of the Women's Metropolitan Golf association, called a meeting for Monday, when a vote will be taken on the question of barring the new raiment for women golfers.

Last week, in the fifth annual open championship of the Westchester and Fairfield Women's Golf association in Port Chester, more than half of the field of 96 players, including Miss Fisher, wore shorts during the second round of play. Five players had appeared clad in shorts for the opening day's play.

Twenty-five players in the annual New Jersey women's shore tournament also adopted the new attire.

Many contestants today asserted that shorts were intended for the tennis courts, where action was far more concerted and the scene of play more restricted.

Helen Fulton Upset Victor in Eastern Tennis

Easthampton, N. Y., July 31.—(AP)—The younger generation took over the spotlight today as two seeded veterans were knocked out of the opening round of the annual invitational Maidstone Women's Tennis tournament.

Helen Fulton, Chicago girl, turned in the first upset by eliminating Baroness Maud Levi of New York, ranked seventh nationally, 6-2, 6-4, and Gracyn Wheeler, Santa Monica youngster, added to the excitement by defeating Mae Ceurvorst, Wichita, Kas., southpaw, seeded No. 8, 2-6, 6-4, 6-1.

Carolin Babcock of Los Angeles, recent winner over Helen Jacobs, national champion, in the Seabright final, withdrew from the singles play on her doctor's orders, but entered the doubles competition.

Virginia Rice Wins.

Other favorites advanced easily to the second round. Virginia Rice of Boston eliminated Mrs. Thomas H. Beardsley of East Hampton with the loss of only one game and Josephine Cruickshank of Santa Ana, Cal., dropped only two games, beating Eunice Dean of San Antonio, Tex. Mrs. John Van Ryn of Philadelphia won from Mrs. Harry Brunie of New York, 6-3, 6-3, and Dorothy Andrus of Stamford, Conn., scored a quick victory over Ruby Bishop of Santa Monica, Cal., 6-2, 6-1. Mrs. Mary Greef Harris of Kansas City was little extended in eliminating Mrs. William V. Hester of Brooklyn, 6-3, 6-1.

Baroness Levi Loses in Doubles.

Elizabeth Ryan, California, who lives much of the time in England, teamed with Miss Rice to lead all except one of the favored doubles teams through the first round. Hanley Cites Task Before All-Star Club boys played the Notre Dame style, with variations as taught by their respective coaches. These are Krause, Lukats, and Gorman of Notre Dame, Pardonner and Hecker of Purdue, Smith of Washington, Canrinus of St. Mary's, Danowski of Fordham, and Hupke of Alabama.

Eleven played the double wing back style, which is known as the Warner system. These are Sauer and Masterson of Nebraska, Manske of Northwestern, Sebastian and Skladany of Pittsburgh, Corbus of Stanford, and Vuchinich, Gillman, Cramer, Gallus, and Rosequist of Ohio State.

Mikulak of Oregon, Montgomery of Columbia, and Feathers of Tennessee played the single wing style, which is based upon the early Warner attack. Bernard, Petoskey, Everhardus, and Wistert are products of the famous Michigan system, while Rosenberg and McNeish of Southern California are exponents of the Howard Jones offense. Cook of Illinois is a Bob Zuppke product, while Mehringer of Kansas, who was taught his football by Ad Lindsey, and Bob Jones of Indiana, under Hayes, both played in the short punt formation. Schwammel of Oregon State, coached by Lon Steiner, an ex-Nebraska player, is most familiar with the old Nebraska style. Laws and Schammel played two years under Solem at Iowa, who last year fashioned his attack somewhat upon Notre Dame principles.

But It Can Be Done.

However, this diversity of experience does not constitute an insurmountable obstacle. All-Star teams of the past, after two weeks' practice, have performed as though they had been teammates throughout their college competition. Morale and team spirit has been built up to the point in some of these games that the squad played with as much abandon as a college team. It is illogical to suppose that an All-Star team will have the same familiarity with a coach's methods of strategy or perhaps as good organization as an outstanding college team. Consequently, such a squad cannot be considered the standard bearer of collegiate football against the pros.

There are several interesting questions which will be answered in the game, however. There is the question of whether or not an athlete reaches the peak of his physical ability at the age when boys graduate from college or several years later, as exemplified by the pro.

The controversy over whether the pros can play as high class football under collegiate rules and collegiate officiating as they can play under their own conditions also will be answered. Professional football is largely a show. As a result there is laxity in calling penalties. This is particularly true with regard to the enforcement of offside and the holding rules. In the college game the safety of the participant is the primary consideration and penalties are called regardless of whether they affect the spectacular side of the game.

These are some of the issues which to my mind will be determined, for after all, professional players are only college stars with an additional year or two of experience.

[The second article of this series will appear tomorrow.]

FANS WILL USE RAIN CHECKS AT SLAUGHTER BOUT

San Francisco, Cal., July 31.—(AP)—Boxing fans who retained their ticket stubs to an unsatisfactory bout here June 22 will see a fight program next Friday free of charge, featuring Freddie Steele, Tacoma middleweight, and Sammy Slaughter, Terre Haute Negro, in a ten round rematch.

Their bout six weeks ago was halted in the first round and declared "no contest." Slaughter was accused of faking in going down several times without being hit.

Slaughter will not make weight for the second match. He will weigh around 163 pounds, with Steele about 10 pounds less.

Wisconsin Stream Now Tapped by New Road.

BY BOB BECKER.

Illinois muskie fishermen may want to try their luck on Bear creek and Bear river streams flowing into the Flambeau river at the northwest corner of the Lac du Flambeau Indian reservation in northern Wisconsin. A report from a Chicago fisherman who followed a tip printed in this department about the Bear being tapped by a new road tells of strikes in this stream, one part of which has been quite inaccessible until recently.

Bring Your Own Boat.

"Thanks very much for your tip on the Bear river country and where to catch a muskie. We crossed Bear river on the new fire lane road, but there are no boats at this point. As you reported, the best thing to do is to bring your boat with you.

"We didn't fish the river at this point. We tented on the stream at a bridge about 3½ miles west of the town of Powell. Got a boat there and fished upstream 3 miles and downstream several miles into the Flambeau river. I had plenty of strikes all the way down, but I couldn't hook the muskies. However, our guide got one. After four days on the Bear river we went to a small lake in the reservation, rented a boat, and camped there. The first evening out we got a 31 inch fish on a 15 pound test line.

Muskie Startles Fisher.

"We had an amusing experience with one muskie. We were in our boat and I was casting. After a few minutes I stopped to rest. I set the rod down with the artificial lure dangling over the side of the boat, just above the water. Suddenly we were just about startled out of our wits by having a big muskie leap up and grab that lure. He didn't hook himself, so, after a split second, flopped back into the waters.

"It was rather interesting that we found plug lures most successful in getting our fish. One jointed plug was especially attractive to the muskies."

It was about the last week in May that we heard about the new CCC road in the Flambeau Indian reservation that would lead one down to a part of the Bear river that heretofore had been quite inaccessible for easy fishing.

Indian Tells of Road.

Frank Wilcat, an old Indian guide of ours, who fished walleyes with us one day on Fence lake during the latter part of May, told us that the new road ought to produce some dandy fishing in the Bear, because there are many muskie pools in that part of the stream before it joins the big water of the Flambeau. Fishermen who go into the Flambeau Indian reservation to try this fishing water should inquire at the village about how to get on the new road and also arrange for a boat.

YANKEES DEFEAT RED SOX TWICE; RETURN TO LEAD

New York, July 31.—(AP)—The combination of fine pitching and timely hitting swept the New York Yankees back into first place in the American league today as they defeated the Boston Red Sox, 11 to 2 and 2 to 1.

With Lou Gehrig hitting his 31st and 32d home runs of the season, the Yankees jumped on the offerings of Henry Johnson and Rube Walberg for eight runs in the first inning of the opening game and then breezed to victory behind the three-hit pitching of Lefty Gomez.

In turning in his 17th triumph of the season, Gomez pitched perfect ball for six innings. Bill Cissell connected with the first hit, a single, but was forced by Bill Werber. Roy Johnson then came through with a home run to account for the Red Sox runs.

Gehrig hit his first circuit drive in the big first inning and his second in the eighth. Jack Saltzgaver also hit his homer in the first and drove out a single the second time at bat in the frame to send four of the eight runs across the plate.

The margin of victory in the second game was furnished by Babe Ruth, who hit his 17th homer in the seventh inning. Scores:

The Senators were further riddled when a sharp grounder from Pinky Higgins' bat in the seventh took a bad hop and glanced off the side of Manager Joe Cronin's face, skinning his jaw and cheek and forcing his retirement. Score:

Giant Errors Help Braves Triumph, 4-1

Boston, Mass., July 31.—[Special.]—Three New York errors played an important part today as the Braves defeated the league leaders, 4 to 1, reducing the Giants' margin over the second place Cubs to two and a half games. A home run by Pinky Whitney in the fourth inning also helped in the conquest of the world's champions.

All of the Giants' errors figured in the scoring. Misplays by Gus Mancuso and Hughie Critz in the third led to a run and in the sixth slips by Phil Weintraub and George Whitney produced two more.

Brooklyn, N. Y., July 31.—[Special.]—Young Curt Davis turned in his 15th victory of the season today as the Phillies whipped the Dodgers, 4 to 2, to tighten their grasp on sixth place in the National league standings.

After yielding four successive hits and two runs in the first inning, Davis held the Dodgers runless the rest of the way. Dolph Camilli singled with the bases full in the fifth to drive in two runs and his hit in the seventh sent across another. Score:

REDS, PIRATES SPLIT.

Cincinnati, O., July 31.—(AP)—Manager Charley Dressen today watched his Reds defeat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 6 to 4, in the first game of a double header, but drop the second, 7 to 5, in eleven innings.

Lombardi's home run in the sixth of the second game, with the bases loaded, put the Reds in the lead but didn't dishearten the Pirates. Tying the game after Hafey fumbled a long fly in the ninth, Pittsburgh drove on to win with bunched singles and Thevenow's double.

only Cardinal who hit in the protested inning July 2 who broke even in the playover.

On the other hand, Hartnett, Hurst, Warneke and Billy Herman fattened up on their replayed eighth inning, for they singled yesterday and didn't on July 2. Here is the play by play of the replay in the Cards' eighth and ninth innings and of the Cubs' eighth:

ST. LOUIS EIGHTH—Fullis batted for P. Dean and was thrown out by English. Billy Herman made a great try for Orsatti's bouncer in back of first, but it got away for a single. Rothrock was called out on strikes. Billy Herman threw out Frisch. No runs, one hit.

CUBS EIGHTH—Mooney went in to pitch for the St. Louis. Hartnett lined a single to center. Hurst beat out a bunt for a single, Hartnett stopped at second. Hack attempted to sacrifice, but forced Hartnett at third, Mooney to Crawford. Warneke singled to center, Hurst scoring and Hack stopping at second. Billy Herman also singled to center, scoring Hack. English was called out on strikes. Klein popped to Frisch. Two runs, four hits.

ST. LOUIS NINTH—Medwick fouled to Harinett. Collins struck out. Delancey also fanned. No runs, no hits.

NEW BUSINESS

Warneke, who had borne down after the fashion of the real Warneke in the curtain raiser, started the regularly scheduled game with the langorous technique which characterized his unsuccessful work on the recent eastern trip.

After Whitehead had fouled to Hartnett to start the game, Rothrock slammed a homer into the right field bleachers. Frisch singled to center, then Medwick lined a double to the right field corner, on which Frisch stopped at third until he observed the Cubs were having trouble capturing the ball. Frankie then ran home and Babe Herman was charged with a bad throw. It was at this point that Lon became roused. He struck out Collins and Davis lined to Billy Herman.

Only nine Cubs faced Walker in the first three innings, but the lads departed from this skimp routine in the fourth, in which they got the bases full with none out without getting the ball past the pitcher's box. They then went on to tie the score.

Cubs Settle Down.

Billy Herman walked and went to second while English was beating out a slow roller for his and the Cubs' second hit. Klein beat out a bouncer which Davis couldn't reach, filling the bases. Babe Herman hit into a double play, Billy Herman scoring and English stopping at third. Then Cuyler singled to center, scoring English with the tying run. The inning ended when Kl was caught trying to steal second.

With two out in the fifth, Hack knocked the Cubs' first extra base hit, a double to right, and the Cubs went ahead when Warneke singled to left, scoring Hack.

The Cubs added their fourth run in the sixth. Klein led off with a single to right, but was forced by Babe Herman. Cuyler doubled to right, Babe Herman stopping at third, and when Hartnett was given an intentional pass the bases were filled. Grimm grounded out to Frisch, Babe Herman scoring.

With one out in the seventh Billy Herman walked and went to third when English came through with his third hit of the game, a single to right. Klein lined to Rothrock, Billy Herman scoring. Babe Herman flied to Orsatti.

Cuyler opened the eighth with his second straight double and his third consecutive hit. He moved to third on Hartnett's sacrifice and scored when Grimm knocked his home run into the right field stands.

Weaver Seeks Eighth Victory for Cubs Today

Jim Weaver will go after his eighth Cub victory this afternoon against the Cardinals. He probably will be opposed by Paul Dean, who pitched to only two batsmen, one of whom he gave an intentional pass, in yesterday's replay.

The replay attracted President William Harridge of the American league. Mr. Harridge was accompanied by ex-Umpire Tom Connolly, who like William [One Mistake] Klem, never has bragged much about his own wrong guesses.

Umpire Quigley, who worked behind the plate, took quite a razzing from both sides during the early stages of the second game. Then he called a halt and the lads were rather docile the rest of the way.

Billy Jurges, Cub shortstop who has been recuperating from an appendecites operation performed late in June, has been working out at Wrigley field for several days. It is said, however, that it willl be several weeks before he again will be able to take his place in the lineup.

The first three innings were so devoid of activity that more than a few of the customers slumped down in their seats for a snooze. During that time the Browns didn't get one man on base. The Sox were only a trifle more effective against Blaeholder. They actually had men on base at two different stages in the same span. One of these was Dykes, who punched a single over third after two were out in the second. He expired on Bocek's pop to Bejma. The other base runner was Jones, who walked in the third. This happened with one out and nothing came of it.

The Start Was Shaky.

The Brownies began to get beyond Jones' control as soon as the first man had popped out in the fourth. West singled to center. Burns flied to Swanson, but Pepper caromed a single off Hopkins' glove and West moved to third. Campbell lined a single to right, West scoring. Hemsley beat out a single which Bonura should have fielded, and it scored Pepper. Bejma then drew a pass, but Jones stopped the heckling on Strange's fly to Conlan.

The Sox came up with another base runner in the fifth. Dykes also was in on this. He singled to left to open the inning, but a fly ball and double play ruined the prospects. This was followed by a rather strenuous fifth inning for Jones. He escaped damage although the bases were filled with none out. Blaeholder opened this threat with a single and Clift was safe on Hopkins' wide throw of a bunt. West walked. Burns then bounced to Jones and a double play was consummated by way of the plate after which Pepper hoisted to Swanson.

If Bonura had been able to perform a worth while deed in the sixth, the Sox might have made some headway. Two were out in this inning when Conlan singled to right for the third hit off Blaeholder. Hopkins then drew the second pass issued by the Browns' veteran. This was where Bonura dropped into the picture. Blaeholder promptly dropped him out again with as slick a curve ball as the big Italian boy will ever look at.

The first of four hits that put the Sox in front in the seventh was a scratch to Bejma with which Appling opened the inning. Dykes singled to left for his third hit. Bocek made a few futile attempts to bunt and then poked a double play ball to short, but Strange fumbled momentarily and was able to get only Dykes at second. Madjeski got real results by doubling down the left field line, scoring Appling and Bocek. After Jones had flied to left, Swanson singled to right center to send Madjeski home with the run that put the Sox in the lead.

Conlan and Bonura supplied the principal ingredients in the scoring of a run off McAfee in the eighth. Conlan singled to center and advanced on Hopkins' sacrifice. Bonura singled to center, but Conlan went only as far as third. The bases were loaded on a pass to Appling, whereupon Dykes whacked a fly to deep left on which Conlan scored. Another registered in the ninth on a single by Madjeski and double by Swanson.

Earnshaw and Lyons to Face Browns Today

St. Louis, Mo., July 31.—[Special.]—George Earnshaw and Ted Lyons will endeavor to handle the pitching in tomorrow's double header between the White Sox and Browns. They will be opposed by Bump Hadley and Jack Knott.

DYKES ATTACKS WAIVER RULE, MONEY CLUBS

Big Leagues Paradise for Old Men, He Says.

St. Louis, Mo., July 31.—(AP)—Money clubs, minor leagues devoid of high class talent, and a waiver rule without teeth, are making old folks' homes out of the major baseball leagues, Jimmy Dykes, manager of the Chicago White Sox, said today. A losing team has little chance to build up nowadays, he explained.

"There should be a rule prohibiting leading teams from withdrawing waivers after they ask for them on young players, when the players are claimed by second division clubs. Why I've already lost track of the number of players I've tried to claim in the few weeks I've been manager.

They Boost the Price.

"Take that fellow Deshong, who pitched a one hit game for the Yankees Saturday. Joe McCarthy asked waivers on him several times. I knew Deshong could do me some good, but do you think McCarthy would let him get away? No, and he turns out to be a winning starting pitcher.

"The minors are dried up. There are very, very few promising youngsters playing ball who are on the open market. There is another angle: We hear of a young fellow who shows promise. We become interested and the minor league owner puts a $50,000 price tag on him or tells us to wait a couple of days.

Old Boys Are Lucky.

"We are not interested in $50,000 minor league players because none of them is worth that today. But if we wait to do business the minor league owner gets in touch with one of the money clubs, tells them that the White Sox are about to grab so and so, and the money club boosts any figures we have tentatively set."

The old players now in the big time are there because there isn't a normal crop of young players, Dykes asserted.

"I'm 37 years old. Do you think I would still be out there if there was a normal crop of young fellows coming up? Look at the other old fellows who are still in there regularly and looking good."

Dykes said that despite the scarcity of good talent the fans are going to see plenty of new faces on the White Sox club next year.

NORWEGIAN YACHT WINS.

STOCKHOLM, July 31.—(AP)—The Norwegian yacht, White Lady, today won the gold cup final, defeating the Swedish Marianne by 50 seconds.

Fragrance in Cigars as in Wines . . .

comes from Vintage Crops

Only our Grade A Vintage tobaccos are ever used in the filler of White Owls

CHATEAU LAFITE, Château Ponte Cenet, Moselle Spatlese . . . great wines—but at their best in Vintage years . . . years in which nature gave an added fragrance, richer flavor.

As with wines—so with tobaccos. They're at their best in Vintage years.

When one of the American filler tobacco districts produces a Vintage yield—our buyers are there—ready to buy the high-quality leaves that can pass our Grade A standard. No other tobacco is ever used in White Owl fillers.

No harsh, lower standard tobaccos ever find their way into the filler of a White Owl Cigar. That's why we can put our Grade A Vintage mark on every box. Look for it the next time you step up to a cigar counter . . . buy the mild Vintage cigar that it identifies.

How White Owl Smokers are Protected

THE General Cigar Company maintains a comprehensive Crop Inspection System built up over the last ten years. By this means, we learn the condition of nearly every tobacco district in Pennsylvania and Ohio—the two states which produce practically all the cigar filler tobacco grown in the United States.

So accurate is this inspection system that every vintage crop can be forecast, and our buyers are on the spot to purchase the best of it for White Owls.

But vintage tobaccos alone are not enough. Even in Vintage years we classify all filler tobacco into seven grades. And only tobacco of the quality of the top three grades passes White Owl's strict requirements for its Grade A filler tobacco. No other filler tobacco is ever used in White Owls.

That's what we mean when we say Grade A Vintage tobacco.

At the present moment, we have sufficient Grade A Vintage filler tobacco mellowing in our warehouses to make nearly 1 billion White Owls—more than a two-year supply. With this tremendous reserve, we can assure every White Owl smoker of a continued supply of the mild, fragrant cigars which Vintage tobaccos yield.

White Owls are now being made from famous Vintage Crops . . . the 1931 Pennsylvania and the 1930 and 1931 Ohio.

Overtakes Fanfern After Trailing Throughout.

BY FRENCH LANE.

After failing to win a race all year Marmion, the 5 year old from the Coldstream Stud stable, got up in the final strides to take the Hinsdale purse by a head at Hawthorne yesterday afternoon.

Fighting it out with him until the last jump, Fanfern, owned by Mrs. J. Grossman of Chicago, finished second. Technocracy from Stuyvesant Peabody's barn was third.

Running the mile and a sixteenth within less than a second of the track record, Marmion came from far back at the head of the stretch. He had been a distant trailer in the earlier stages. He then started running over horses, wound up by stepping the mile and a sixteenth in 1:44 2-5, and to all appearances would have widened his margin had the race been at a greater distance.

Corbett Rides Confidently.

Marmion had been confidently ridden by the veteran Charley Corbett, who seemed to know he could go to the front at the first asking. That was exactly what Marmion did.

All through the early stages Fanfern made the pace, with Oscillation forcing it and Technocracy running third, threatening to gallop up and take the lead at any second. It was on the turn into the stretch where Corbett asked Marmion for his best and the son of Pot au Feu-Bourse did not hesitate.

He ran past every horse in the field except Fanfern and had to straighten out in long stride to come up on the outside and conquer her just as the line of finish was reached.

In the betting Marmion paid $4.16 to win, $3.20 to place, and $2.30 to show. Fanfern was at $6.60 to place and $2.66 to show. Technocracy paid $3.02 to show.

There were about 8,000 at Hawthorne for the running of the second program of the season and the wagering was reported to have been heavier than it was on opening day. Business must have good in every department for the Hawthorne officials were in a jubilant mood throughout the afternoon.

Curb Bit Beats Hyman.

Quite a crowd of Lake county racegoers journeyed to the old west side track to see Curb Bit, the old Onwentsia saddle horse run in the silks of Sherif Lester Tiffany in the fifth race.

Most of the Lake county delegation had a modest wager on the sherif's horse and home he came the winner by two lengths over Hyman from the barn of William Schmidt's stable of Chicago. Annan rallied in the stretch to finish third.

Curb Bit paid $8.15 to his loyal backers. His victory was scored quite easily and it looked like he should have paid a much shorter price considering the good form he displayed at Arlington Park.

The favorites did fairly well at Hawthorne yesterday, Homer L., Marmion, Kuvera, and Legal Gamble being the horses to win for the chalk players.

Betters Losing Faith in First Race Favorite

Hawthorne's regulars are about to lose faith in the favorite in the first race. Lady Louella, the 1 to 2 choice, failed them yesterday. Western Lad had failed them at odds of 3 to 10 on the opening day. Mr. Mack, paying $9.74, beat Lady Louella by a nose in yesterday's first race.

As a result of his victory in the Berwyn handicap on opening day Bien Fait must carry top weight of 117 pounds in the Maywood handicap, feature on this afternoon's program. Isaiah gets in at 114, Slapped at 113, New Deal at 110, Mr. James at 107 and Blessed Event at 113. The race is at 6½ furlongs. Despite his impost, Bien Fait probably will rule as the post time favorite.

Jack Howard's Albuquerque and most of the other top notch 2 year olds at Hawthorne will go into action in the Ellerslie purse to be run on Friday. This is the first of the 2 year old handicaps to be decided at Hawthorne. Albuquerque, despite his failure in the Arlington, no doubt will be the top weight in this 5½ furlong dash.

OPEN $1,300,000 RHODE ISLAND TRACK TODAY

Pawtucket, R. I., July 31.—(AP)—Horse racing, which has not been seen in Rhode Island for 29 years, will be presented tomorrow when the new $1,300,000 Narragansett Park opens a 29 day meeting, which will introduce legalized wagering in pari-mutuel form.

Almost three decades ago old Narragansett Park in nearby Cranston passed out of existence. Its successor is one of the most elaborate racing plants in the country.

In nine weeks men and money have built a splendid track, a concrete grandstand seating 14,000, and a clubhouse accommodating 6,000 additional followers of the turf. The cement lawns have room for 20,000 more. All this, in addition to the necessary stables, paddock, and mutuel plant, combine into what is considered one of the greatest engineering and construction feats New England has seen in many years.

COALS TO PLAY MERCHANTS.

The Spencer Coals and the Cragin Merchants will meet tomorrow night in a twilight game at Portage Park.

FINDS TAX BILL 25% OF INCOME; EVEN MORE SPENT

Banker Says Confiscation Already Exists.

More than one-fourth of our national income is being absorbed by taxes, but government agencies are spending at the rate of 37 per cent of the nation's income, according to Orval W. Adams, president of the Utah State National bank at Salt Lake City, in the current issue of the American Bankers association Journal.

"It is not for us to determine whether we shall permit confiscation, because it is already here," says Adams. "While we are spending $14,700,000,000 to meet the obligation of government, we are paying out of our current taxes only $7,975,000,000 annually. But what of the balance? That is the legacy which we are transferring to the future generations as an impressive evidence of our solicitude for their well being."

Taxes $70 Per Capita.

It is pointed out that in 1913 the tax bill was $22 per capita and that in 1933 it was $70. In 1913 the public expenditures per capita were stated to be $30 and that they had grown to $120 in 1933. Public debts of all governmental subdivisions were stated as totaling $43,000,000,000 at present, which would be $343 per capita.

The writer indicated that on a per capita basis taxes increased 220 per cent in 1933 over 1913, governmental costs 300 per cent, and public debts 600 per cent, while income declined 7 per cent. Mr. Adams stated that when public spending becomes an obsession and a mania it is a distinct menace not only to business but to civilization as well.

Urges Return to Thrift.

A return to the policies of collective thrift, self-denial, and intelligent citizen participation in the processes of government was advocated. He stated that the welfare of the many should be placed above that of the few and that expenditures everywhere and at all times should be limited to the ability of the people to pay.

The fundamental policy to which all government action must conform was stated to be the principle that good government cannot exist with impaired or threatened credit and a constantly increasing tax burden.

LETHARGY DIMS CROP OUTLOOK; GRAINS DECLINE

Prices Move Lower in Listless Trade.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Grain markets encountered a sinking spell yesterday as speculative activity receded. The known and prospective shortages in the country's principal grain crops for the time being lost their potency in attracting speculation to the market and quotations on all the leading grains declined moderately.

Cooler weather has checked deterioration in the corn crop to some extent, but rains are still badly needed in some sections. Yesterday's forecast of unsettled weather in the northwest and cooler weather over most of the remaining grain states contributed to the bearishness of professional traders. It was the generally listlessness of the market, however, which changed the sentiment of traders in the pits.

Corn Undertone Better.

The corn market showed a better undertone yesterday than wheat. All corn futures, however, closed lower, with losses extending up to ¾ cent a bushel. September corn finished at 69⅝ cents. Wheat prices were marked down 1¼ to 1¾ cents a bushel, with the September contract closing at $1.01.

The Miller-Bennett forecast on the corn crop placing the prospective yield at 1,616,000,000 bushels confirms previous reports on deterioration that has taken place in the crop not only in the southwestern states, but in certain areas of the central corn states.

If this forecast is borne out the corn crop will be the smallest in 31 years, and the shortage is experienced in a year when all the other leading grains are showing big deficits.

Tentative estimates on the toll of damage taken by the drouth in two southwestern states were made yesterday. Frank Reed, federal crop statistician for Kansas, said damage to the corn crop alone in that state has reached $600,000,000 and that it is still too early to forecast total damage. E. A. Logan, Missouri crop statistician, placed the damage in that state at $500,000,000. He roughly classified the loss as follows: Crops, $250,000,000; live stock, $150,000,000, and miscellaneous, $100,000,000.

Country Selling Lags.

Country offerings of corn dried up quickly yesterday as prices receded. Purchases by Chicago dealers for shipment here fell off sharply. It was reported that vessel space for shipping 1,200,000 bushels of corn to eastern points has been chartered in the last two days.

Oats, rye, and barley shared the weakness of corn and wheat yesterday. Rye contracts were quoted 1 cent a bushel lower, while oats were a fraction of a cent off. September barley was down ¼ cent.

Foreign markets were lower. Wheat futures in Winnipeg lost up to 1¾ cents a bushel following a lower closing in Liverpool.

Canadian news emphasized that while cooler weather has brought some relief to the grain provinces, the depreciation that has taken place in the last ten days has been serious. A period of heavy rainfall is badly needed, one agency said.

SOVIET HARVEST SMALLER; HOPE TO COLLECT MORE

MOSCOW, July 31.—The soviet harvest probably will be somewhat worse than last year, but improved methods of grain collection are expected to bring the actual volume gathered in nearly up to that of a year ago.

Nowhere is there anything that might be called crop failure. Winter grain suffered from the spring drouth but replanting did much to compensate for that. Although the volume of wheat and rye is less than last year, the quality is said to be higher, which is important in the export market.

The foregoing is a summary of conditions found by an authoritative foreign expert on agriculture who has just made a trip through the soviet grain belt. His estimate coincides with recent statements of soviet leaders.

DOLLAR STEADY ON FRANC; POUND OFF; MARK ACTIVE

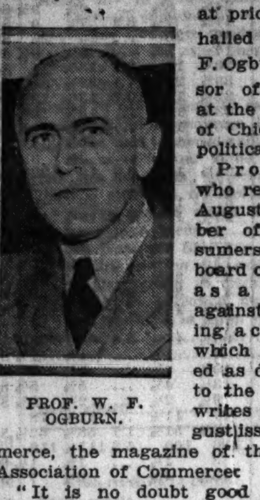
New York, July 31.—(AP)—Foreign exchanges were almost motionless in terms of dollars yesterday. German marks were an exception, fluctuating rather widely and closing with a gain of .07 of a cent at 38⅝ cents.

The pound dipped ¼ of a cent to $5.03½, and French francs remained unchanged at 6.59⅛ cents, indicating a premium for the dollar of .64 of a cent over par. The Canadian dollar and Italian lira were unchanged, while Swiss francs and Dutch guilders were each 1 higher at .3261 and .6761 respectively.

Finds Politics in End of NRA Price Fixing

BY HOWARD WOOD.

Abandonment by the National Recovery administration of its attempts at price fixing is hailed by William F. Ogburn, professor of sociology at the University of Chicago, as a political move.



PROF. W. F. OGBURN.

Prof. Ogburn, who resigned last August as a member of the consumers' advisory board of the NRA as a protest against price fixing activities, which he regarded as detrimental to the consumer, writes in the August issue of Commerce, the magazine of the Chicago Association of Commerce:

"It is no doubt good economics and good politics to withdraw from price fixing just now," he says. "It is good economics because prices should be lowered, particularly on those commodities with elastic demand in order to stimulate purchasing power.

"This is one of the widely recognized and much tried features of recovery—to lower prices where there is a possibility of increasing the demand greatly and win out on volume at the sacrifice of a differential.

"Therefore, the effect of breaking down prices and getting away from price fixing will undoubtedly aid in recovery. It is good politics because it will, no doubt, save a few seats for the Democrats in congress."

Despite the abandonment of price fixing experiments by the NRA, Prof. Ogburn predicts that traces of this sort of thing will stick and that in industries consisting of a few large and powerful units price fixing will eventually be put over, despite public objection.

"I would be inclined to argue that no matter whether the NRA is abandoned, remodeled, or maintained as it is," he says, "the effort for an industry to maintain uniform prices among the different branches will continue. This development runs counter to the cherished American ideals, and it won't succeed without a struggle."

Although a few well integrated industries dominated by a few big companies may be able to establish fixed prices and maintain them, just as the railroads did several decades ago, Prof. Ogburn doesn't believe the vast majority of American businesses can get together and fix prices.

"This," he says, "is obvious in connection with the farmer, and it is also pretty generally true of retail stores despite the chains."

As for the industries that do succeed in fixing prices, Prof. Ogburn thinks they will automatically fall under the regulation of public bodies just as utility companies, railroads, and street car lines have forfeited their freedom of action since uniformity of rates became general.

"If the NRA can get prices down on the elastic commodities and reach for volume," he continues, "it will be a big step forward for recovery. The price fixing problem can hardly be dealt with, though, after the manner in which most of the NRA problems have been handled, that is, in a wholesale fashion."

U. S. GOLD STOCK IS BOOSTED 50 MILLION IN JULY

New York, July 31.—Gold received here in July amounted to $47,438,500, compared with $61,682,700 the month before and none in July, last year, when $143,180,664 was exported. In addition $2,544,000 was received from China at San Francisco and $615,100 released from stocks held earmarked here for foreign account, contrasted with a decrease of $143,023,705 in July, 1933.

The changes in July brought about a gain of $50,597,600 in the monetary gold stock, following one of $65,360,700 in June and a loss of $92,700 in July, 1933. Most of the gold received this month came from Great Britain with a total of $23,658,000. Other large amounts were $8,408,000 from India, $8,194,600 from Canada and $3,328,100 from France.

Comparative figures for last year are adjusted throughout this report to the new basis of $35 per ounce for gold.

Ask Month's Delay on Cutten Grain Bill Charges

Attorneys for the Grain Futures administration have requested a month's extension of the time in which they were to present to Arthur W. Cutten, noted grain and stock market operator, an "abstract, written brief and argument" of their charges, in which the government is seeking to have Mr. Cutten barred from future grain trading, it was learned yesterday. The abstract was to have been given Mr. Cutten by Aug. 1. Orville J. Taylor, attorney for Mr. Cutten, said the government's action automatically extends the time by a month in which the Cutten defense was to return its answer to the government.

COAL FIRMS SUSPEND WHEN NRA WON'T LET THEM REDUCE PRICES

Cleveland, O., July 31.—(AP)—Protesting a court order restraining them from selling or advertising coal at prices lower, or purporting to be lower, than the minimum set by the regional code authority, five associated retail coal dealers here today decided to suspend business indefinitly.

The five coal companies, associated with James E. Campbell of Cleveland, will remain closed, Campbell said, unless the code authorities permit them to sell at prices lower than the code's minimum. Now a focal point of the price fixing policy of the NRA, the case will be referred to the NRA headquarters in Washington, and attorneys involved predicted it will be carried eventually to the United States Supreme court.

Arguing on behalf of the Campbell group, Attorney William F. Marsteller said:

"The retail price set by the code authority is designed to perpetuate a monopoly and to run the Campbell concerns out of business. The minimum prices are entirely too high."

Marsteller also charged the NRA has no authority over intra-state commerce in which the Campbell companies operate; that the state recovery act is unconstitutional, and that if the Ohio act were constitutional, it does not provide for price fixing.

Attorney H. Austin Hauxhurst, counsel for the authority, asserted the records of the Campbell concerns show they have been unable to operate at a profit, and inferred it would be impossible for them to sell at rates below the code's minimum and still "break even" unless they resorted to forcing their employés to accept lower wages than those paid by competitors, or succeeded in cutting expenses by some other method held by the authority to be unfair.

MILLERS DEFY FRENCH WHEAT PRICE FIXING

PARIS, July 31.—(AP)—Millers of France today openly defied government efforts to regulate the price of wheat.

In a letter to Premier Gaston Doumergue, the National Association of Millers said it will refuse to abide by the law which fixes the price of harvested wheat at $2.35 a bushel and the coming crop at $1.95.

"All millers," said the letter, "are discouraged and exasperated and have, one after another, been forced to break the law. Such artificial conditions cannot last, therefore we publicly declare the price of wheat free."

JEWEL TEA SALES RISE 29.06 PCT. IN JULY PERIOD

Jewel Tea company, Inc., reported that sales for the four weeks ended July 14 amounted to $1,311,074, a gain of 29.06 per cent over the $1,015,832 reported for the corresponding period of last year. The average number of units in operation during the period was 1,525 against 1,435 a year ago.

Sales for the first 28 weeks of the year were $8,945,767, compared with $7,405,140 for the corresponding period of 1933, an increase of 20.8 per cent. Average number of units in operation was 1,504, against 1,431 a year ago.

Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. Pays Usual Extra Dividend

New York, July 31.—(AP)—Directors of the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company today declared the usual extra dividend of 25 cents a share and the regular quarterly dividend of $1.50 on the common stock. The regular quarterly dividend of $1.75 on the preferred stock also was ordered, all payable Sept. 1, to stock of record Aug. 7.

Peoples Bank Stockholders to Fight Suit

Formation of a stockholders' defense committee of the Peoples Trust and Savings bank of Chicago to contest the action in which the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company is seeking to recover $5,576,041 under stockholders' liability was announced last night by Robert Olson, president of the Central Paving company, with offices at 179 West Washington street. Mr. Olson is temporary chairman of the committee.

The Continental's action against stockholders of the Peoples Trust grew out of the voluntary closing of the Peoples bank in June 1932. The Peoples Trust borrowed $16,421,642 from the Continental and agreed to pay its depositors in full.

Collateral Insufficient.

The Continental agreed to pay certain liabilities of the Peoples Trust, in return for which the latter was to turn over certain assets as collateral against the loan. Following the payoff of depositors and creditors it was found the collateral was short of covering the amount by $5,576,041, including interest of $677,340.

Mr. Olson said he was asked to accept the temporary chairmanship of the committee because of his experience as a stockholder in other banks. He said he owned a fair amount of stock of the Peoples Trust. He declined to say how many stockholders his committee represents but explained in the notice of organization that unless a sufficient number joined the defense action the matter would be dropped. He added that the committee is negotiating with a prominent firm of attorneys to handle the case. Stockholders are asked to pay $50 to provide funds for undertaking the defense.

Name 187 Stockholders.

The Continental's complaint names 187 persons as record owners of the stock. Of this number many are not now residents of the state, several have died, and a number have become insolvent.

Mr. Olson's announcement of the organization of the committee states that the litigation presents many novel, intricate, and unsettled problems of the stockholders' liability law.

"The construction of the agreement of June 9, 1932, will determine whether the Continental bank is a creditor within the meaning of the constitutional provision," the statement remarks. "If the Continental bank is not properly a creditor then the present proceedings must fail. Determination of the exact amount, if any, which is due from the Peoples bank to the Continental bank involves legal and accounting questions of the utmost intricacy and complexity."

AUTOS BRING IN NEAR 2 MILLION MORE THIS YEAR

Nash attributed the increase to a pick up in business.

"Registrations this year have been far greater than last and indications are that the growth will continue until January," he said. He expects that more than 1,300,000 passenger cars and trucks will be registered in Illinois before the end of the year. During 1933, 1,276,000 autos were registered, while on July 20 the total was 1,209,496 passenger cars and 162,768 trucks.

U. S. BUILDING PLANTS TO PROCESS TWICE AS MANY DROUTH CATTLE

Washington, D. C., July 31.—(AP)—The government will have doubled within 30 days its facilities for processing cattle purchased from the drouth stricken areas.

Lawrence Westbrook, assistant federal relief administrator, said today the Surplus Relief corporation, in addition to using privately owned packing plants, was leasing other available canneries formerly used for processing vegetables, and likewise was building its own small, inexpensive plants. At least 100 of the latter already are in operation.

Westbrook's disclosure that the administration is going to broaden its program of processing drouth cattle was regarded as definit evidence that purchases would be stepped up all along the line and that the situation was viewed officially as becoming more serious.

The processing plants the government is building will be dismantled when the drouth emergency is over and removed to rural rehabilitation communities being organized for the relief administration.

JULY DIVIDENDS OF 639 CONCERNS EXCEED YEAR AGO

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 31.—Dividends in July exceeded a year ago, but improvement did not embrace all groups. Declarations by 639 corporations amounted to $132,909,884, compared with $127,985,998 by 568 companies in July last year. The month's payments, one of the lightest of the year, contrasted with $257,338,501 for 1,155 corporations in June.

Department store, motor, public utility railroad, railroad equipment, and tobacco shareholders were voted less last month than in 1933. All other groups received larger payments, especially in the copper classification, where resumption of payments contrasted with the absence of dividends last year.

Extra dividends were ordered on 27 issues, against 17 last year; 19 rates were increased, compared with 16 a year ago; payments against arrearages were voted on 54 issues, compared with 13; only 13 dividends were reduced, contrasted with 69 a year ago; 38 payments were omitted, against 46 in 1933, and 19 increased rates, compared with 16 last year. Initial dividends numbered 14, against 10 last year, and were the largest for any month since January.

SOLD MORTGAGE TO OWN CONCERN; NOW INDICTED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 31.—George T. Mortimer, president and director of the New York Title and Mortgage company, was indicted today by the New York county grand jury.

He was accused of a misdemeanor—violation of a section of the insurance law which prohibits an officer of an insurance company from selling property to his company. The maximum penalty is three years' imprisonment.

The indictment was the first ordered by the grand jury in its investigation of the mortgage situation. As an officer of the mortgage company, Mortimer is charged with approving the purchase of a $6,000 mortgage from himself. He sailed for Europe on June 27.

HIGHER TAXES CAUSE DROP IN EDISON PROFIT

Rate Cut Reduces Public Service Net.

Despite an improvement in volume of business and in gross income, the Commonwealth Edison company last night reported a falling off in net earnings for the quarter ended June 30, both as compared with the corresponding period last year and with the first three months of 1934.

An increase in the tax burden by more than one-third was solely responsible for the adverse showing, according to the report. A rise of nearly three-quarters of a million dollars instead of a drop of $79,639 would have been shown in the second quarter net income had it not been for a boost of $807,824 in taxes for the period.

Net income was $1,376,326, equal to 85 cents a share on capital stock, against $1,455,966 or 90 cents a share for the same months of 1933 and $2,163,900 for the first quarter of 1934.

Earnings Under Last Year.

Comparative income sheets show a net of $3,540,226 for the first half of the year, equal to $2.18 a share, against $3,987,986 or $2.46 a share for that part of last year. The twelve months ended June 30 marked a decline to $6,404,722 from $7,990,451 for the previous year.

"This relatively sharp reduction in net income," said James Simpson, chairman, and George A. Ranney, vice chairman, in a statement to stockholders, "suffered at a time when the improved rate of business should yield earnings in excess of those made under business conditions of a year ago, is primarily attributable to the increased burden of taxes which have reached staggering proportions, and to increased pay roll expenditures resulting from compliance with the National Industrial Recovery act, under which this company, as a public utility, receives no compensating benefits through increased rates or otherwise."

Federal, State Tax Higher.

The largest single tax item not appearing the second quarter last year is $350,424 for the federal 3 per cent tax on electricity. A second new item is $348,414 for the 2 per cent Illinois retailers occupational tax. The total laid out in taxes was $3,199,110, an increase of $807,824 over the same three months last year.

Revenue from sale of light and power was up 4.8 per cent for an increase of $831,303. Adding other operating revenues of $157,906 to $18,125,832 from sales produced a total gross of $18,283,738.

Kilowatt-hour sales of electricity were up 9.8 per cent. The cost of power purchases increased from $2,959,949 to $3,091,012 for the quarter. Operation costs rose from $5,927,482 to $6,037,867 while maintenance expense dropped from $846,022 to $786,741. Depreciation charges remained at 2 million.

RATE CUT LOWERS PROFIT

The recent order of the Illinois commerce commission that the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois reduce its rates resulted in a drop in net income for the quarter ended June 30 to $522,163, equal to 41 cents a common share, against $718,804, or 72 cents a share, for the corresponding period of last year, the company's report reveals.

Gross earnings for the period totaled $8,623,286, against $8,268,905 for the June quarter of last year, an increase of 4.28 per cent. It was stated that the rate reduction effective June 1 caused a drop of approximately $297,600 in gross earnings which otherwise would have been earned during the quarter.

Half Year Net Lower.

Net income for the first half of the year totaled $1,508,604, equal to $1.56 a share, against $1,826,775, or $2.06 a share, in the first six months of 1933. For the twelve months ended June 30 net income amounted to $2,362,852, against $3,746,599 for the preceding fiscal year, and gross was $35,107,141, against $33,846,259.

On May 2 last the commission entered a temporary order which resulted in an annual rate reduction of approximately $1,055,000 represented a cut for residential customers and $245,000 for commercial users.

Unrest Delays Trade Parleys with 6 Nations

Washington, D. C., July 31.—(AP)—Political and economic questions have eliminated at least six nations—including some of the best customers for American goods—from immediate consideration in negotiations for new reciprocal trade agreements. An authoritative source disclosed today that the state department and the President's tarif bargaining committee have no plans for instituting negotiations in the near future with Great Britain, Germany, Soviet Russia, Canada, Argentina, and Austria.

Several other nations, numbered among America's good customers, are likewise missing from the tentative list now being made up by the tarif committee. Sweden, Portugal, and several European nations still are under consideration for early negotiations.

Brazil and a bloc of Latin American nations, producing 95 per cent of American coffee imports, are scheduled for new reciprocal agreements as quickly as the Cuban agreement, now nearing completion, is finished.

Hope for Better Conditions.

The negotiators, interested in recovering as much of this country's lost foreign trade as possible, are hopeful conditions may change by the time the Latin American agreements are concluded so negotiations can be started with larger European countries. The status of the countries not yet on the bargaining list is:

Great Britain—Walter Runciman, president of the board of trade, has announced that Britain sees no object in any immediate negotiations. Preliminary discussions probably will be delayed until the world's trade picture becomes more clarified.

Germany—Despite the fact Dr. Hans Luther, German ambassador, has made several overtures to the state department, officials here believe the unsettled political and economic situation in Germany is not conducive to successful negotiations with the Hitler government.

Soviet Russia—Negotiations must wait for a successful conclusion to the debt and claims negotiations now in progress.

Canada Internally Upset.

Canada—Reciprocity is a hot political issue in Canada and, although faint overtures have been made by William D. Harridge, the Canadian minister, there is no expectation of active negotiations until the reciprocity question is settled between the Dominion's political parties.

Argentina—The Argentine ambassador has presented numerous openings to the state department in the hope of beginning trade negotiations in the immediate future. A cardinal principle of the administration's tarif policy, however, is to select for first negotiations those nations which do not produce products competitive with American products. Argentina's chief exports are in competition with middle western output.

Austria—American officials believe it is not feasible at the present time, because of the complicated political and economic situation in Austria, to institute any negotiations for a new trade agreement.

MARTIN DELAYS SELLING ILLINOIS RELIEF NOTES

Springfield, Ill., July 31.—(AP)—State Treasurer John C. Martin did not sell $5,000,000 in revenue notes for relief today and adjourned consideration of bids until tomorrow at Chicago.

Insisting that no trouble had been encountered in the financing, Martin said that several bids were received and intimated the postponement was to enable Finance Director K. L. Ames Jr. to attend. He did not give details on the bids. Less than two months ago Martin sold a block of revenue notes at the lowest financing cost in the history of the state.

Sale of the revenue notes, part of the $30,000,000 bond issue program for unemployment relief, will be taken up again tomorrow morning in the First National Bank building, Chicago.

When the notes are disposed of, the state will have raised $25,000,000 against the bond issue. Only $28,500,000 in notes can be sold.

Reopen 13 Republic Steel Tin Plate Mills in Ohio

Warren, O., July 31.—(AP)—Thirteen tin plate mills of the Republic Steel corporation here were reopened today after a shutdown of a month. About 500 men returned to work. The reopening resulted from a tentative agreement between the company and the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel, and Tin Workers here.

U. S. STEEL HAS FIRST PROFIT IN 33 MONTHS

Votes Usual 50 Cent Preferred Dividend.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 31.—Directors of the United States Steel corporation today declared a dividend of 50 cents a share on the preferred. The rate is the same that has been in force since January, 1933. Today's declaration leaves accumulations of $8.75 on the issue, which is entitled to $1.75 quarterly.

At the same time the company reported net profit of $5,350,241 for the quarter ended June 30, which compared with a deficit of $6,989,965 in the first quarter, and a deficit of $8,627,367 in the comparable period last year. Total earnings for the three months were $21,082,389 after ordinary operating expenses, compared with $6,578,731 in the first quarter this year, and $4,881,554 in the June quarter last year.

The quarterly profit is the first reported since the third quarter of 1931 and marks the best showing since the second quarter of that year.

Surplus After Payment.

After allowing for preferred stock dividend requirements there was a surplus of $3,548,836 for the June quarter. In the preceding quarter surplus showed a reduction of $8,791,370 after provision for the preferred dividend had been made, while in the June quarter last year surplus was cut by $10,428,772.

Shipments of finished steel in the quarter amounted to 2,373,409 tons, compared with 1,305,486 tons in the March quarter.

Myron C. Taylor, chairman, issued the following statement:

"Operations for the quarter ended June 30 reached the highest average for any quarter since the three months ended March 31, 1931. The production of finished steel products in the June 1934, quarter, just ended, averaged 48 per cent of capacity, compared with 29 per cent in the previous quarter and 27½ per cent in the second quarter of 1933. Shipments slightly exceeded production.

Earnings More Satisfactory.

"This increase in operations resulted in a more satisfactory showing of earnings. In the June, 1934, quarter the net earned for the preferred stock was $1.48 per share, the first time since the third quarter of 1931 that anything has been earned for dividends on the preferred stock.

"In view of the fact that dividend payments on the preferred stock have for nearly three years been taken from undivided surplus and also because of the present reduced demand for steel products, it was deemed advisable to make no change in the quarterly rate of 50 cents per share."

During the last three years, Taylor said, the corporation had expended relatively small amounts for renovation of plants, but has recently authorized betterments to plants in the Chicago and Youngstown districts calling for the expenditure of substantial amounts. Finishing plants, particularly, he said, needed modernization.

The increase in steel wages, he said, resulted in an increase in pay rolls in the June quarter of $5,200,000. The total pay roll for the quarter, for approximately 200,000 employés, was $65,094,000, compared with $33,468,000 for the like period of last year.

INLAND STEEL PAYS DIVIDEND.

Directors of the Inland Steel company yesterday declared a dividend of 25 cents a share, payable Sept. 1 to stockholders of record Aug. 15. This is the first payment on the issue since March 1, 1932, when a similar payment was made.

Inland and its subsidiaries for the three months ended on June 30 last showed a net income of $2,129,198 after taxes and charges, equal to $1.77 a share, as compared with a net profit of $1,104,537, or 92 cents a share, in the preceding quarter, and net profit of $25,761, or 2 cents a share, in the second quarter of 1933.

Earnings of $3,233,735, or $2.69 a share, compared with a net loss of $986,292 in the same period of 1933.

The Crucible Steel Company of America and subsidiaries reported net earnings for the first six months of 1934 of $712,033. This compares with a deficit in the 1933 period of $1,024,772.

STOCKS PURSUE FAMILIAR GAIT; DIP, THEN RALLY

Traders Take Heart from Resistance of List.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 31.—Duplicating yesterday's performance, the stock market suffered another sinking spell in the early dealings today followed by a slow recovery in the afternoon. Closing prices were irregular with some of the "weak sisters" of the forenoon reaction snapping back to finish above their previous finals. Business tapered off afresh, the sales total declining to 593,600 shares, as compared with yesterday's total of 805,840.

Traders seemed impressed with the resistance offered by most leaders around their old support levels, but were not particularly hopeful of a rebound of any great scope in the immediate future. Many seemed to think that the market might discount further the reduced purchasing power of the country entailed by the enormous crop and live stock losses before it can be expected to show any improvement.

Pension Law Hurts Rails.

Weakness in railroad shares was an outstanding feature of today's dealings. Union Pacific was one of the poorest of the lot, dropping more than 3 points before it struck solid ground. The issue finished 2½ points under yesterday's close. Atchison tumbled nearly 3 points, but recovered about half its lost ground in a late afternoon rebound. New York Central and most of the other carriers were under more or less pressure.

The rail group as a whole finished well to the rear of the procession. Erstwhile devotees of the group could not get the new railroad pension law and what it is going to mean in increased costs to the carrier systems out of their minds.

Silver shares looked droopy on gossip insisting that inflation via the white metal route is even less likely this fall than an European war. Gold stocks, however, showed some spirit, Homestake jumping its price some 15 points. McIntyre, Dome, and Alaska Juneau finished fractionally higher. American Smelting and United States Smelting ended a little lower.

Some Bright Spots.

Some of the bright spots in an otherwise dull picture were provided by General Motors, International Harvester, National Distillers, Sears-Roebuck, and American Can, which registered slight gains. Gains of 1 to about 3 points were made by Air Reduction, American Car and Foundry, McKeesport Tinplate, Reynolds Tobacco B, U. S. Industrial Alcohol, and Wesson Oil.

Colgate-Palmolive-Peet was active and rose over a point on its earnings report. U. S. Steel was dull with the price under the previous closing most of the time. Pressure on American Telephone lifted, but not much energy was uncovered.

Small losses were the rule among the coppers, motors, chemicals, and oils.

COTTON CLOSES LOWER AFTER EARLY UPTURN

Cotton showed fair strength early yesterday due to Wall street and commission house buying, as well as for oriental and European account. The upturn brought in profit taking sales, with the easiness in grains having some effect, and the close was around the bottom with net losses of 7 to 10 points in Chicago and 6 to 11 points in other markets.

Spot cotton declined 5 to 10 points, with New Orleans 13.05 cents; Galveston, 12.90 cents; Houston, 12.95 cents, and New York, 13.15 cents per pound. Prices follow:

WOOL MARKET

BOSTON, Mass., July 31.—Extreme quietness prevails in the Boston wool market. Buyers for mills continued to look at wool, but their inquiry apparently does not arise from any urgent immediate demand for sizable quantities of wool. Quotations on greasy combing domestic wools are not showing any definite change. There is however, too little trade to establish a market.

CLOSED BANK REPORTS REVEAL SLOW PROGRESS

Kenwood State Pays Only Dividend in Quarter.

A slightly better picture of liquidation was shown during the quarter ended June 30 in the twenty banks for which reports were issued yesterday by State Auditor Edward J. Barrett. At best, however, progress was extremely slow. Expenses also were comparatively small in most instances.

The Kenwood State bank, through Receiver John M. Thomson, paid its second dividend of 10 per cent during the period. Depositors now have received $47,371, while the balance due creditors is $223,741. Receipts realized from liquidation of assets amounted to but $16,000, with a conversion loss of less than $2,000. The book value of remaining assets is $406,538. The Kenwood bank is one of three in this group of twenty not under the general receivership of William L. O'Connell.

Ask Aid of RFC.

No other bank in the twenty paid a dividend during the quarter, although loans have been asked of the Reconstruction Finance corporation to help pay depositors in seven of the defunct institutions.

In one of these, the Halsted Street State bank, $166,559 has been set up for dividends and another $36,670 for other purposes. The Hubbard Woods Trust and Savings bank, another for which a loan has been asked, has $12,836 toward another dividend.

Other banks for which loans have been asked and the dividends they have paid: Homewood State, none; Industrial State, 25 per cent; Italian Trust and Savings, 10 per cent; Lansing State, 20 per cent, and Logan Square State and Savings bank, none.

Detail Other Dividends.

Dividends not already mentioned in the 20 banks are: Glencoe State, 35 per cent; Hegewisch State, 25 per cent; Humboldt State, 25 per cent; Immel State, 10 per cent; Kaspar American State, 25 per cent; Kaufman State, 32½ per cent; Lake View State, 30 per cent; Lincoln Trust and Savings, 30 per cent. Seven of the 20 banks have paid no dividends.

Heaviest legal costs among the 20 defunct houses have been sustained by the Lake View State bank—$110,000—although only $1,667 has been paid since Jan. 1, 1933. Attorneys have taken $73,000 at the Lincoln Trust and Savings bank. The Kimbell bank is the only one closed prior to 1933 which has not paid attorneys' fees to the date, while five of the 20 have paid nothing to lawyers for services since Jan. 1, 1933.

PLAN TEN MILLION U. S. LOAN TO EASE HIDE SITUATION

Tanning company interests are meeting in Washington to work out a solution for the disturbed hide market situation which has resulted from the wholesale slaughter of cattle in connection with the federal government's drouth relief program.

It was reported from the capital yesterday that Chairman Jesse Jones of the Reconstruction Finance corporation has announced his organization will earmark $10,000,000 for loans to tanners and the RFC will start making loans to tanners as soon as they set up a mortgage corporation and thus become eligible.

Under the plan the tanners would use the $10,000,000 to take the hides of cattle slaughtered under the drouth relief program off the hands of the packers. The RFC will accept warehouse receipts on the hides as collateral.

The surplus of hides piling up as a result of the wholesale slaughter of cattle under the government's relief program has raised problems for the tanning, packing, and shoe manufacturing industries. This surplus has disturbed the price structure in the hide market with the result that there has been practically no activity in the field in recent weeks.

CHICAGO MARKET EVENTS ATTRACT MORE MERCHANTS

Attendance of merchant buyers during the first two days of the four market events at the Merchandise Mart was 41 per cent greater than last summer's events, according to T. J. Reed, general manager.

The shows and markets, continuing to Aug. 11, include the women's children's, and infants' wear show, the glassware, china, and pottery market, the Chicago gift show, and the house furnishings and electrical appliance market.

Buyers attending the apparel event were stated to be 93 per cent ahead of the market in February, with ninety-two more exhibitors. The exhibitors showing glassware, china, and pottery were said to represent 95 per cent of the industry. The gift show includes 200 exhibitors with merchandise from all parts of the world.

Involuntary Bankruptcy Plea Against J. L. Marks

Involuntary bankruptcy proceedings have been started in the United States District court against Julius L. Marks, former head of the J. L. Marks & Co., who was examined Monday before Federal Judge John P. Barnes in the bankruptcy action against the firm. The petition filed yesterday on behalf of M. M. Martin, trustee in bankruptcy for the company, and two other creditors, alleged that Marks had fraudulently transferred assets of the company to his own use.

High Taxes Cause Razing of Deming Place Mansion

The Goldman Wrecking company this morning will start demolishing the thirty room brick and stone mansion at 628 Deming place erected thirty-five years ago by the late A J Kasper founder of the A. J. Kasper company, coffee importers, 353 East Illinois street. High taxes are given as the reason for the wrecking. The contract calls for its demolition within three months. Mr. Kasper's widow moved out of the house recently.

EXTEND COTTON PROCESSING TAX ANOTHER YEAR

Washington, D. C., July 31.—(AP)—Rexford G. Tugwell, acting secretary of agriculture, said today the cotton processing tax of 4.2 cents per pound would be continued into the 1934-'35 marketing year. His action was taken shortly after a conference with George A. Sloan, president of the Cotton Textile institute, who urged a compensatory tax be placed on rayon to prevent a shift of consumption away from cotton products.

The cotton textile industry has maintained, since the processing tax went into effect, that it gave rayon an improved position on the competitive market. Hearings have been held in an effort to determine what shift in consumption has resulted but findings have not been made public. Today's announcement declared no adjustment had been found necessary to carry out terms of the agricultural adjustment act relative to improvement of the income to cotton farmers.

The farmer and the trade were assured today by the farm administration that cotton consigned to the producers pool, and eligible for sale beginning today upon approval of Secretary Wallace, would not be "dumped" or permitted "unduly" to disturb the market. Some 1,950,000 bales were consigned with the understanding it could not be sold prior to today at less than 15 cents. None ever has been sold, since the price never reached that figure. The deadline was passed today, however, and it now may be marketed without the 15 cent limitation, at the discretion of Oscar Johnston, pool manager, with Secretary Wallace's permission.

Franco-German Treaty Handicaps Trade of U. S.

PARIS, July 31.—(AP)—The new Franco-German commercial treaty was published today, revealing that Germany has been granted special quota privileges similar to those granted Great Britain in the treaty signed by that country a month ago. The privileges give the importer greater security and make the quotas more elastic, thereby placing American products at a disadvantage compared to the two strongest competitors of the United States for French trade.

RAIL ADJUSTMENT BOARD NAMES 3 REGIONAL HEADS

The national railroad adjustment board of thirty-six members, meeting for the first time in the Union League club yesterday, appointed three divisional secretaries and named a subcommittee of eight members to formulate rules of procedure for the board.

Further details of organization will be completed at a meeting to be held in the Palmer house at 10 o'clock this morning. It was unofficially reported last night that headquarters for the board may be established in the Consumers building. Four entire floors will be required with fifty or sixty offices. Each of the thirty-six members will require a private office and private secretary.

GERMAN CURB ON EXCHANGE HITS BRITISH TRADE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 31.—The restrictions recently imposed by the German government on the conversion of German currency into sterling are causing considerable anxiety among British exporters, who are experiencing difficulty in securing payment for goods.

A party of officials of the board of trade left for Berlin to discuss the situation with representatives of the German government. They hope to reach satisfactory arrangements to enable British exporters to continue shipments to Germany. The Lancashire textile industry is the worst hit, the export trade with Germany in fine cotton yarns having suddenly collapsed.

CANADA PREDICTS SHARPLY LOWER YIELD OF GRAIN

OTTAWA, July 31.—(AP)—Yields of all grains in western Canada have been "severely reduced," a government crop report issued today said, adding that the decline will continue until there is heavy rain fall, for which there is little prospect within the next 48 hours. Conditions for a large crop are not favorable in any part of Canada, the report stated.

"With the arrival of the harvest season," it continued, "it is apparent that the yields of hay and grain are generally below the average because of the drouth early and late in the season. The dry weather of the past two months reduced the promise of all crops in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, but the recent heavy rains prevented a serious situation. Prince Edward Island has been favored with more rain.

"Crop prospects in Quebec are quite variable, but over a large part of the province the main haycrop and the spring grains have suffered. Drouth has also taken a heavy toll in Ontario, particularly in the fertile southern and eastern counties. On the prairies, the rainfall last week was extremely meager and temperatures were very high in Alberta and western Saskatchewan. The southern and some central districts of each province have suffered most; the northern districts have good prospects. In British Columbia crops in some southern districts and on the island also suffered severely from the July drouth and the midmonth rains were not sufficient to help very much."

COLONNADE BLDG. IN EVANSTON BRINGS $105,000

Chicago Attorney Buyer; Under Long Term Lease.

BY AL CHASE.

One of Evanston's best known business properties, the northwest corner of Main street and Hinman avenue, Evanston, was purchased yesterday by Albert W. Potts of the law firm of Winston, Strawn & Shaw for a reported $105,000, subject to a $75,000 mortgage. The sellers were David and Bessie Oliver. Ralph Martin represented the buyer and Smart & Golee of Evanston, the sellers.

The corner, fronting 116 feet on Main street and 109 feet on Hinman avenue, is improved with the four story Colonnade building, erected in 1927. It contains two double and three single stores. Among the tenants are the National Tea company and Cooley's Cubbard. The three upper floors contain twenty-one unfurnished three and four room apartments.

Under Long Term Lease.

The property is under a long term lease to Ralph McKinney of Evanston, dated June 1, 1928, for ninety-nine years. It calls for an annual ground rental of $7,000 the first three years, $8,000 annually from 1931 to 1934, $8,500 from 1934 to 1942, $9,000 from 1942 to 1952, $10,000 from 1952 to 1962, and $11,000 yearly for the balance of the term.

The $75,000 mortgage on the property is held by Brown university and has been extended for five years from Jan. 10, 1935, through the office of Quinlan & Tyson of Evanston. The property is directly across from the Second Presbyterian church of Evanston.

Buys South Side Residence.

Capt. Will Judy, president of the Judy Publishing company, 3323 South Michigan avenue, yesterday purchased the white stone front residence, designed in the French renaissance style, across the street, at 3344 South Michigan avenue. He is remodeling and redecorating it for his own use as a residence. It will house his library of rare dog books, dog portraits, etc. The buyer is editor of "The Dog World."

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 31.—As in the preceding month, rates for both call and time loan money remained stationary in July. Demand for accommodation, already at a low ebb, was even less last month because of the dullness in stock market activity and the seasonal lull in trade.

It was the seventh consecutive month without change in call rates and the fourth for time loan rates. In fact, the 1 per cent call rate on the New York Stock exchange and 1½ per cent on the New York Curb exchange have been in force since Dec. 7, 1933, the longest period of continuity of rates on record. Charges a year ago on both exchanges were similar to those of last month.

Time money ranged between three-quarters of 1 per cent and 1 per cent for all maturities, compared with three-quarters of 1 per cent to 1¼ per cent for sixty day loans, three-quarters of 1 per cent to 1½ per cent for ninety day loans, and 1¼ to 2 per cent for half year loans in July, 1933.

ROADS CONTINUE LOW RATES ON DROUTH CATTLE

Washington, D. C., July 31.—(AP)—Reduced freight rates on live stock and feed for animals in the drouth area will be continued until Sept. 4.

Clyde B. Aitchison, member of the interstate commerce commission and chairman of the interdepartmental committee on transportation for drouth relief, announced that by arrangement between the railroads the present reduced interstate rates will be continued. The commission will issue the necessary orders permitting the extension.

Railroads in the drouth area have been hauling cattle to pastures in other sections at 80 per cent of the regular freight rates. When the cattle are shipped back, if ever, the owners will be required to pay only 20 per cent of the regular rates, making a reduction of 50 per cent in rates. Should the cattle be fattened after leaving the drouth area and shipped to packing houses the full regular rates will apply.

FEDERAL TAX STATUS OF STATE'S LIQUOR COMMISSION STUDIED

Washington, D. C., July 31.—(AP)—The question whether the internal revenue bureau may legally assess earnings of state liquor control commissions was being considered by bureau officials today. Commissioner Guy T. Helvering said a ruling of the general counsel of the bureau holding that the Oregon liquor control commission might be assessed for its earnings under the federal corporation income tax had not yet met with final approval.

He pointed out that it was undecided whether the federal government had authority to assess the taxes, but that liquor sold through such state commissions would be subject to the direct federal tax upon its release from warehouses.

The ruling of the general counsel in the Oregon case held that a state liquor commission was not engaged in handling an essential governmental function and therefore could be taxed under the corporation income tax provisions.

Helvering expressed doubt, however, whether a state commission, such as that handling the liquor business in Iowa, Oregon, and Ohio at the present time, could legally be considered as a corporation subject to the income tax. Internal revenue officials expressed the belief that "we will not tax them directly against their earnings but only against the liquor as it is released from the warehouse."

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 31.—With the railroads as a group vigorously planning action to invalidate it, the railway pension law passed at the last session of congress takes effect tomorrow. Pending results from the planned litigation individual companies have followed diverse policies in conforming with the law.

It was reported the law committee of the Association of Railway Executives, which has been meeting here, would soon disclose the means to be followed in combating the law, which it is estimated will double the present pension outlay of about $35,000,000. It was suggested the committee might seek an injunction to stay the operation of the law.

The law provides that the managements shall make pay roll deductions and contribute $2 for every $1 thus collected to provide the fund for the pensions contemplated by the law. Whether these deductions should necessarily begin this month was said to be a moot point in legal opinion.

The New York Central railroad has taken no steps toward making the pay roll deductions required. The Pennsylvania railroad announced it will begin deductions this month. The Lehigh Valley is to begin the deductions, while the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western will make an announcement later in the week. Chicago advices said the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad had suspended its pension system pending "a better understanding" of the new law. The company will continue the payment of pensions in force and to employés qualified for pensions up to today.

TRADE IN STOCKS SECOND DULLEST SINCE MARCH, '33

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 31.—Trading on the New York Stock exchange during July made the second smallest monthly volume since March, 1933, when the bank moratorium was in effect. This month's volume approximated 21,000,000 shares. June was the dullest month since May, 1924, with a total volume of approximately 16,800,000 shares.

The July turnover, swelled somewhat by the selling flurry last week, was only a fraction of the volume for July last year, which exceeded 120,000,000 shares.

The total for March, 1933, was reduced by the stock exchange holiday of one week, but it was a trifle larger than the total for February of that year.

First of Oklahoma Cotton Brings 17½ Cts. Pound

Chickasha, Okla., July 31.—(AP)—A price of 17½ cents a pound was paid here today for Jefferson county's, and perhaps Oklahoma's first bale of 1934 cotton. The bale, which weighed 505 pounds, was sold to the Oklahoma Cotton Growers' association.

SELL HOLDOVER HOGS AND CATTLE AT HIGHER PRICES

Halt Trade After Close for Duration of Strike.

Union officials of striking live stock handlers at the Chicago Stock Yards agreed yesterday to permit commission firms and speculators to sell holdover live stock which they failed to dispose of in the temporary truce made last Wednesday.

Trading was resumed in the cattle and hog departments, and a good clearance was effected at higher rates, the attitude of packer buyers indicating a strong undercurrent to demand for meat animals. No sheep were offered as a thorough clearance was made last week.

After the close of yesterday's session there was to be no more trading until further notice, which, members of the trade believe, will be for the duration of the strike.

Accept No New Supplies.

No fresh supplies are being accepted by commission men. They have made arrangements to sell stock at feeding yards outside of Chicago which were in transit last Saturday when selling of live stock by exchange members here was halted. All stock coming into Chicago is sent direct to packers as is drouth stock owned by the Federal Surplus Relief corporation.

The movement into the yards yesterday was heavier than on the previous Tuesday, the first day of the strike. Chicago packers and the relief corporation received a combined run of 20,500 cattle, calves, hogs, and sheep, against only 9,093 a week earlier.

While total receipts of live stock at the twenty leading markets yesterday were larger than a week and a year ago, the increase was all in government owned catle. The supply of commercial stock marketed by farmers has been dropping off for a week.

Poor Quality Predominates.

Practically all the cattle offered at Chicago yesterday consisted of the classes which met a demoralized trade just prior to the strike here. Cows and heifers lacking good quality predominated, yet demand for these was brisk at 25 to 50 cent higher prices than those paid last Wednesday. One load of handy weight steers sold at $8.25, the best on the market. Nothing eligible to bring the $9.60 nominal quotation carried by the trade was here.

Most leading cattle buyers were on hand and bought for numbers rather than quality.

Less than 1,000 pigs were offered for sale yesterday and the bulk of these were of inferior quality selling from $3.75 to $6.00, tax included, which under ordinary conditions would be practically unsalable. Two loads of farmer owned hogs of fair quality sold at $6.80 and a small lot brought $6.90, but the trade is carrying a nominal quotation of $7.25 for selected medium weight butchers on the strength of yesterday's trade.

While there was no trading in lambs prices in the Chicago area were reported about steady. Some lambs at nearby feed lots were quoted at $6.50 to $6.75.

SECURITY ISSUES IN JULY LARGEST SINCE EARLY '31

New York, July 31.—(AP)—The flotation of new security issues other than direct obligations of the United States government in July reached the largest monthly total since the first part of 1931, the current issue of the monthly review of the New York Federal Reserve bank points out. The volume of new security issues totaled $1,007,000,000, exclusive of direct obligations of the government.

"This amount is more than twice the flotations in the corresponding period of 1933, but is considerably less than half the total for the first six months of 1931," the review continues. "Refunding issues of all kinds aggregated over $400,000,000, which is a larger volume than in any of the last four years except 1931. Issues for the raising of new capital totaled nearly $600,000,000, of which state, municipal, and farm loan issues accounted for about $500,000,000.

"A considerable resumption of private capital issues has characterized previous recoveries of business from depressions. In the 1920-'22 period, for example, new security issues increased considerably in advance of a rise in commercial loans of the banks."

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 31.—To the accompaniment of very light trading, bond prices drifted irregularly lower on the stock exchange today. United States government issues were generally easier, with fifteen of twenty issues in the group losing 1-32 to 7-32 point on the day. Four moving up 1-32 to 5-32, and one holding unchanged.

Total dealings amounted to $8,241,000, par value, of which the government group accounted for $2,187,500. Total volume yesterday was $9,246,000.

Rails, Industrials Heavy.

Principal pressure in the domestic corporation group was exerted against railroad and industrial issues, particularly the lower rated bonds of these groups, with losses ranging to more than 5 points.

Public utility bonds, as a group, rose slightly, although there were a few utility issues which lost a point or two. Better grade corporation issues fluctuated within very narrow limits.

Foreign Loans Easier.

Foreign loans finished slightly easier. German issues were irregularly lower, with the Dawes plan 7s moving up a point and the Young plan [7s] down the same fraction. Austrian, French, and British government loans were firm. Argentine government issues showed the best strength in the Latin-American section of the list.

Hershey Chocolate.

Investors' Guide: Please send me information on Hershey Chocolate.—P. J.

Answer: Hershey Chocolate corporation is the leading company in its line. It manufactures chocolate candies (about 60 per cent of sales consist of its Hershey candy bars) and other cocoa and chocolate products. It accounts for about 45 per cent of chocolate and cocoa consumed in the United States.

Its products sell at a fixed price. Raw material costs, therefore, form the most important element of production expense. Some control over them can be exercised by varying the size of the chocolate bars.

Freer public spending for semi-luxuries enabled the company to report profit of $1,660,000, or $1.84 per common share, for the first quarter of 1934, against profit of $1,074,000 for the first 1933 quarter.

Net income of $4,246,000, or $4.00 per common share, for 1933 was close to 1932 earnings of $4,738,000, or $4.72 per common share. Net for 1931 was $7,636,000, against $7,520,000 for 1930.

Current assets of $7,838,000 on March 31, 1934, compared well with current liabilities of $2,277,000. Capitalization consisted of 271,351 shares of no par preference and 728,649 no par common shares. The preference is convertible share for share into common at any time and is entitled to participate with the common up to $1 a share, additional to the regular $4 a share, after the common receives $4 in any one year.

Illinois Northern Utilities.

Investors' Guide: Will you please inform me on Illinois Northern Utilities 5s?—M. S. E.

Answer: This company is an operating subsidiary of Commonwealth Edison company. It operates in northwestern Illinois, a region predominantly devoted to agriculture and dairying. The company has had to contend with increased state and federal taxes and rate reductions. The margin by which fixed charges are covered, however, indicates that even if further reductions should be forced the position of the bonds should not be greatly threatened.

Fixed charges were earned 2.12 times in 1933, against 2.54 times in 1932, 3.32 times in 1931, and 3.17 times in 1930. Current position at the close of 1933 was comfortable.

Bonds outstanding are moderate in amount in relation to properties, earnings, and capitalization. The $9,704,000 first and refunding 5s, due 1957, are secured by a first mortgage on practically all properties of the company subject only to an $86,000 prior lien. They are considered sound.

SILVER FUTURES.

NEW YORK, July 31.—(AP)—Silver futures advanced around ¼c an ounce on the commodity exchange today. Trading was more active, the turnover aggregating 450,000 ounces. August closed at 46.40c, compared with 46.15c the day before, and October at 46.53c against 46.23c. Bar metal advanced ⅝c an ounce to 46⅛c.

FRUIT PRICES.

BENTON HARBOR, Mich., July 31.—Today's Benton Harbor market prices: Tomatoes, 12 quarts, No. 1, 70 to 80 cents; No. 2, 35 to 45 cents; apples, bushels, Duchess transparents, 85 cents to $1.10; cantaloupes, crates, mostly $1.00 to $1.10.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, July 31.—(AP)—Cotton goods were in moderate demand. Print colors sold in small lots at 9 cents for spots of 80 squares. Cutters bought silk goods in limited quantities. Interest increased in fancy coatings for women and in tweed types of men's wear for fall. Burlaps were steady and quiet. New rayon weaves were bought moderately.

MUNICIPAL BOND NOTES

Pittsburgh was awarded $1,500,000 general improvement and $500,000 public welfare relief 3½ per cent 20 year bonds to a syndicate comprised of Rutter & Co., Lawrence Marks & Co., and the Roy T. A. Barnes company on a bid of $103.161. It was reported the entire issue was sold to an insurance company.

The maturity date on the unsold balance of an issue of $12,000,000 of special corporate stock of New York City has been changed from May 20, 1935, to Nov. 20, 1934, while the yield basis has been established at ¾ of 1 per cent instead of 1 per cent. It was explained that the action was taken to expedite the sale of the notes still in the possession of the purchasing syndicate, which was headed by Hallgarten & Co.

Malone, N. Y., yesterday sold $100,000 of sewer bonds, due 1939 to 1963, to Seligman & Co. for 100.006 for 3.90 per cent bonds. Halsey, Stuart & Co. bid 100.385 for 4s.

The price paid for $500,000 of Milwaukee county metropolitan sewage bonds by the Northern Trust company and F. S. Mosley & Co. was 102.079 per cent. The bonds are being offered on a 3.70 per cent basis.

The city and county of San Francisco, Cal., will offer on Aug. 13 a new issue of $2,020,000 tax anticipation notes, due Dec. 30, 1934. The block is the first of a total of $6,000,000 to be sold within the next three months in anticipation of taxes due Dec. 5, 1934. No date has been set for the reoffering of $7,919,000 of bonds originally scheduled for July 1.

Newton, Mass., has awarded a new issue of $135,000 incinerator construction bonds, dated July 1, 1934, and due from 1935 to 1944, to Whiting, Weeks & Knowles, Inc., of Boston. The price paid was 100.15 for the bonds as 2¼s.

St. Joseph, Mo., will seek bids on Aug. 14, at 5 p. m., on a new issue of $120,000 refunding bonds. The issue will be dated Sept. 1, 1934, and will mature from 1939 to 1954.

A new issue of $80,500 of refunding and water bonds was announced by Barre, Vt., for award on Aug. 7. The bonds will be dated Aug. 1, 1934, and will mature from 1937 to 1947.

ADVANCE IN LARD FUTURES CHECKED BY HEDGING SALES

Buying of lard futures here against sales in Liverpool gave the local market a firm undertone early yesterday, but the upturn was checked by hedging sales and also profit taking induced by the easiness in corn. Closing trades were 2½ cents lower to 5 cents higher. Liverpool lard futures closed 6 to 9 pence higher. Bellies were dull and finished unchanged to 12½ cents higher. Cash trade was reported as rather quiet. Cash lard closed at $7.27; loose, $6.70, and leaf, $6.75, while bellies were unchanged at $10.12. Prices follow:
